The sign-up period for the Reinvest in Minnesota Reserve program or the Permanent Wetland Reserves program is September 8 to 18.

The RIM Reserve program is a land set-aside program designed to protect and enhance fish and wildlife habitat. Under the program, landowners enroll marginal agricultural lands under a conservation easement, retire lands from production and return them to their natural habitat.

A variety of lands are eligible for the program, including previously drained wetlands for restoration; cropland adjacent to sinkholes; and cropland and pastured hillsides adjacent to most surface waters.

Since the program began in 1986, about 39,000 acres have been enrolled statewide; about 160 acres of those in the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD.

The Permanent Wetland Reserves Program is a new initiative that enrolls existing (not drained) type one, two and three wetlands that are the most easily drained or filled.

Both programs pay landowners a percentage of the average market value of land in the township for the land covered by the easement. The easements are permanently recorded on the title of the enrolled land and are transferred when the property is sold; however, the land remains the property of the landowner, who retains the right to control the public's access to the land.

For more information, contact the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD at 294-6144.

Hi, I am Don Balmer and I have lived in Thief River for 27 years. I have three children in School District 564 and one child has graduated. I urge you to support the School Bond Issue September 15th. This project will significantly strengthen our elementary, middle and high school educational programs. And because of recent legislation, local taxpayers will pay only $1 out of every $4 of the project's cost. The typical homeowner or apartment dweller will pay only pennies a day for a project that will save us $250,000/year in operating costs. Vote "yes" for education on September 15th.

INSURANCE Update

by Dee Schmidtgall

FARM WORKERS' COMPENSATION

The requirement that farmers carry workers' compensation changes 1-1-93.

-Farmers who pay less than $8,000.00 in cash wages annually are still exempt.

-Farmers who pay between $8,000.00 and the statewide average annual wage (presently between $23,000.00 and $24,000.00) may choose NOT TO PURCHASE workers' compensation IF they carry $300,000.00 liability and $5,000.00 Medical Payments which would apply to farm laborer's injuries.

While this requirement looks good on the surface there are severe limitations that the farmer should be aware of:

1-Before the injured employee can collect benefits under farm liability, he or she must PROVE the farmer negligent.

2-In the case of a severe injury, the $300,000.00 limit may prove to be grossly inadequate. It is doubtful that you could reattach limbs and then pay permanent partial disability for life with $300,000.00. [illegible] the part of the farmer, only the $5,000.00 medical payment coverage would apply.

Workers' Compensation pays for medical and loss of wages to the injured worker, regardless of fault.

"Listening To District 4"

Pol. Adv. Paid For By C. Harstad In His Own Behalf.

We are so fortunate, in our school district, to have the kind of interest and concern that has inspired a building project a comprehensive and detailed as the one we will decide September 15. A positive vote will reflect all that has gone into the project; concern, consideration, and faith. Faith in community process, faith in government, confidence in the future of our district and concern for education. As an educator, I stand firmly behind this project. As a community member, I am thrilled with the research and care that has gone into this plan. It's a solid proposal, for our children today, and generations of students to come. I encourage you to vote "yes" for education September 15.

nesota's 7th Congressional District.

I was raised on a family farm and attended Concordia College, Moorhead. From 1974 to 1977 I served as an elected member of the Moorhead City Council. From 1977 to 1990, I served as the 7th District Congressional manager. In that position I became very familiar with the issues, the communities and the people of the 7th District, as well as with many of the Federal agencies.

Community service has always been important to me. My activities have included membership in Trinity Lutheran Church, the American Cancer Society, the American Red Cross, Quota Club and the Becker County Coalition of Lake Associations. I am also a wife, a mother and grandmother.

I believe that the key issues facing our Nation today include the need for less government and more individual choice, a balanced budget, deficit reduction, health care reform, balanced and sensible environmental policies, rural economic development, education reform, and workfare restructure. Other key issues which need to be addressed include agriculture and concerns of women.

I believe that the major problem facing our Country is the Federal deficit. I support a "Balanced Budget Amendment," and I signed the "Lead or Leave" pledge.

My options for reducing the Federal deficit include a one per cent national sales tax with an 18-month limit with the tax being earmarked exclusively for deficit reduction, a one-year hiring freeze for all Federal agencies, a flat dollar amount increase for pensions, social security and other COLA increases, and giving the President "Line Item Veto" power.

Quality jobs are an absolute necessity if our rural areas are going to survive and compete with urban job markets. My options for improving the rural economy include giving entrepreneurs an incentive to invest in job revitalization and supporting reductions in capital gains taxes.

Everyone must become good stewards of our water, land and air. I support sensible and balanced environmental policies and coalitions of agencies and individuals that work together to protect the environment. I also support fair rewards given to those who have their income affected by environmental policies.

Every decision that is made in education reform must focus on what is best for our Nation's school children. I support encouraging excellence in our schools, competitiveness within school systems and choice in public schools.

The current bureaucratic tangle of plans, proposals and points for health care reform has led us into health care cost nightmares. It's time to return to the basics with a health care plan that is simple, understandable and workable. I propose "5 Building Blocks to Better Health Care" that would improve the health care for Americans and that would reduce medical costs so that every American could be insured. Those "Building Blocks" are: 1) preventive care, 2) a competitive free-market system, 3) malpractice reform, 4) reduction of bureaucratic red tape and 5) cost containment.

I recognize the severity of the concerns of women and, if elected, I would investigate and address those concerns judiciously. I support increased support given to breast cancer research and to other research on women's health care issues, making child care a national priority, stronger child support laws and passage of the "Violence Against Women Act" and the "Equal Pay Act."

I also believe that the abortion issue should be decided in the private sector between the woman, her family and her physician. Like Barbara Bush, I too believe that the abortion issue has no place in political platforms or conventions.

Major changes regarding women's concerns are possible if women become involved in the process. Today, 54 per cent of all registered voters are women. We can, and we should, take an active role in making a difference if we are concerned about our families, our Country and ourselves.

I am excited about the future. I believe that my professional, educational and personal background is what is needed to represent the 7th Congressional District with integrity, interest and vision. I look forward to serving you in Congress.

Bernie Omann for Congress Seventh District

My name is Bernie Omann, and I am the endorsed Independent-Republican candidate for the September 5th Congressional Primary. I am seeking your support for my candidacy because I believe I can make a difference in Washington.

Born and raised on a dairy farm in rural Stearns County, I continue to operate the family farm with my brother. My wife Dana, and I have a nine-month old son, Ben. I am involved in my local church and many community organizations.

Growing up, I attended Sartell and St. Stephen public schools. After high school, I attended Brainerd Community College and graduated with a B.A. degree from St. Cloud State University.

For the past six years, I have served the people of Stearns county in the Minnesota House of Representatives, serving on the agriculture, appropriations, health and human services, economic development, education, government operations and local and urban affairs committees.

I decided to enter this Congressional race at the urging of a great many people in the 7th district. I am concerned about the future my new son and future generations will face if things do not change in Congress.

In my view, the number one problem facing this nation is the $3.8 trillion national debt. If something is not done soon, within a decade each man, woman and child in this country will owe $120,000 just to pay the interest on the debt. That is not the kind of future I want my son to face.

In order to reduce the federal deficit, I propose a flexible freeze on all federal spending until the deficit is erased.

In the area of education, I propose allowing parents greater choice in where they are able to send their children to school and I support reforms to empower parents and teacher to improve our school system.

In the area of health care, we need tort reform and other cost containment initiatives, as well as incentives for health care delivery in rural areas.

All of these things are important, but none of them will be accomplished unless fundamental changes are made in the way Congress does business. To that end, I have proposed a 17-point plan for the reform of Congress including, among other things: strict limits on campaign contributions from special interest PACs, 12-year term limitations for all members of Congress, the elimination of all of Congress's special privileges and significant restrictions on the use of Congress's free mailing privileges. I have also pledged to voluntarily abide by these reforms, even if they are not adopted by Congress.

It is time to return to the concept of the citizen-congressman. We must move away from individuals making careers out of Congress and focusing all of their efforts on getting re-elected rather than solving the problems of the nation.

I believe I can make a difference. I am asking for your support.

Heavy voter turnout expected for primary election Tuesday

Primary elections generally do not have large voter turnouts. A number of hotly contested elections, however, may result in a large turnout this year.

The last primary, which was held in 1990 generated 1,977 votes. The only local race during that primary was for the office of sheriff. There were several races on the primary ballot for state offices.

A high voter turnout is expected this year because voters are being asked to decide on a school bonding issue. Although the local school district's obligation will be about $3.8 million, the issue on the ballot has to state the entire amount of the bonding issue which is $17,950,000. Numerous articles and letters to the editor on the school restructuring proposal have appeared in The Times.

The issue on the ballot will ask voters: "Shall the School Board of Independent School District 564 (Thief River Falls), Minnesota, be authorized to issue its general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $17,950,000 to provide funds for the acquisition and betterment of school facilities, including constructing and equipping a new elementary school and remodeling the middle, high school and Washington buildings?"

The race for positions on the county commission is likely to boost voter turnout as well.

In Pennington county, voters are being asked to decide which two candidates in the first, third and fifth districts will run in November. Voters will have three choices for each position with the top two vote getters advancing to the general election.

As a result of a census and redistricting in the county, all five of the county commissioner seats will be on the general election ballot in November this year. Only three of the five district commissioner seats, the first, third and fifth, will be on the primary ballot. The term of office for each of these positions is four years.

District 1 has a population of 2,724 and includes the townships of Cloverleaf, Deer Park, Goodridge City, Goodridge township, Hickory, Highlanding, Mayfield, North, Reiner, Silverton and Star. The candidates include Donald Jensen, Jeff Olson and Kyle Joppru. Personal letters describing their background and positions on various issues appear in this issue of The Times.

District 3 has a population of 2,829 and includes the townships and precincts of 3A, Black River, Bray, Norden, Numedal, Polk Centre, River Falls, Rocksbury West, Sanders and St. Hilaire. The candidates include Harry Sjulson, Charles Naplin and Harley Drees. Personal letters describing their background and positions on various issues appear in this issue of The Times.

District 5 has a population of 2,905 and includes the precincts and townships of 5A, 5B, Kratka, Rocksbury East, Smiley and Wyandotte. The candidates are Oliver "Skip" Swanson, Dwight Tangquist and Gary Roisland. Personal letters to voters describing their background and positions on various issues appear in this issue of The Times.

Another hotly contested race on the primary ballot involves the race for Congress. [illegible] women and two men are vying for a position on the general ballot in November. In this race, the men are the endorsed candidates.

On republican side of the ticket Bernie Omann, the endorsed candidate, faces a challenge from Phyllis Onsgard, the former office manager for Rep. Arlan Stangland. Both were invited by The Times to write a personal letter to readers of The Times sharing their background, experience, qualifications and beliefs on any issue.

On the DFL side of the primary ticket, the 7th district incumbant and endorsed candidate, faces a challenge from Lorelei Kraft, owner and founder of Lorelei Studios in Osage. Both candidates were invited to address readers of The Times in a personal letter and express their views on the issues and describe their background, experience and qualifications.

By far the most confusing race in this primary and general election involves the race for Ninth district judge. There are two seats in the Ninth district on the primary ballot, the Spooner seat in Grand Rapids and the Weddel seat in Bagley. Nine candidates are running for those two positions.

Although the primary will eliminate many of the candidates for the general election more confusion for voters is created because in the general election they will have to choose between 10 candidates for six slots on the bench. Four of the six seats are challenged.

The Ninth district is probably the largest district in the state geographically. Even though a particular candidae is not located in an area of a voter, such as is the case in Pennington county, all voters in the district will be asked to vote on each of the seats. It is likely that voters in Pennington county will have some difficulty in making an informed decision because they have little connection with the candidates.

The Times has, however, collected the following information to assist voters in making an informed decision:

Hugh Cameron is a candidate for the Ninth District judge seat in Grand Rapids known as the Spooner seat. The 51-year-old candidate resides in Grand Rapids with his wife and two children. He graduated from the University of Minnesota law school in 1966. He served as a Navy legal officer and attained the rank of Lieutenant Commander. Darrel Carter is a candidate for a Ninth district judge seat in Bagley, known as the Weddel seat. Carter was born in Bemidji and grew up in rural Bemidji in the Turtle River area. He served four years in the U.S. Navy as an aviation electronics technician and served about two years in the Minnesota National Guard. He earned an undergraduate degree from Bemidji State University with a major in accounting and practiced as a Certified Public Accountant for two years in Arizona. He served as an intern to the U.S. Senate Steering committee in Washington D.C., and graduated from the University of Tulsa College of Law in Tulsa Oklahoma. He practiced with the County Attorney of Creek County in Oklahoma briefly, and then served as a public defender for Maricopa County in Phoenix, AZ, and then a private firm in Rochester, MN, before moving to Bemidji. He opened his own practice in January of this year in Bemidji. His civic involvement involves presenting seminars to real estate agents, teaching adult Sunday school. He and his wife have counseled inner-city children for two summers.

Timothy Faver is a candidate for the Ninth district judge seat in Bagley known as the Weddel seat. Faver received his law degree from William Mitchell College of Law in St. Paul in 1979. Prior to moving back to Bemidji in 1982, he served as assistant county attorney in Thief River Falls. He is currently the Beltrami county attorney. He is legal counsel to the Paul Bunyan anti-[illegible] force. His community activities include the B.S.U. Foundation, Bemidji Community Arts Council, Evergreen House, Lions club and other community organizations. He believes in a system that should protect victims not just criminals. Faver resides in Bemidji with his wife Betty and their two children, Sara, age 4, and Pat, age 3.

Arlen Larson is a candidate for the Ninth district judge seat in Bagley, known as the Weddel seat. Larson is a former Assistant Clearwater County Attorney. He is presently acting primarily as a public defender in Clearwater county and conducting a private practice. He is a graduate of William Mitchell College of law. He belongs to the Shevlin volunteer fire department, Sons of the American Legion, Landstad Free Lutheran church, and is a volunteer emergency medical technician for Clearwater county. Arlen and his wife Robin live with their three children in rural Clearwater county.

As Assistant Cass County Attorney, she handles criminal cases, juvenile matters, paternity and child support cases and other civil issues. She lives in rural Bemidji with her husband John who owns Log Homes Minnesota.

Paul Rasmussen is a candidate for the Ninth district judge seat in Bagley known as the Weddel seat. He resides in Bagley with his wife Cynthia and three children. Impressions . . .

by Beth Johnson

Summer vacation has ended. School has begun for the 1992-1993 school year. It seems like only last week we were preparing for graduation and the end of last school year. Where has the time gone?

This school year has begun not like other school years for our family. This year we have bid farewell to our eldest as he has left home for his first year at college. It seems like just a few short years he was heading off to kindergarten.

On that first day of school, I cried. I remember that my son had so bravely and assuredly announced that he was going to walk to school himself that first day of kindergarten. As school was a half a block from our house, and I could watch like a mother hen from my kitchen window, and as we had walked over to the kindergarten entrance a few times during the summer, I agreed that he could walk to school by himself that first day of kindergarten. So, with a smile, and a hug, and after a first day of school picture, we let this firstborn son of ours go off to school. So far, so good, I thought. So far, I didn't shed any tears. After seeing him arrive safely at school, I calmly took my cup of coffee out to the front porch to enjoy the cool Kansas morning.

That quiet moment was soon interrupted by my eldest returning from school, breathless, announcing that there were a "whole bunch of kids at school!." This mother wanted to cry. For all of the bravery of that first day of kindergarten, for all of the preparation during the summer, we had forgotten one important fact of school—we had forgotten to tell our little one that there would be a whole bunch of kids there. Can you imagine the surprise and fear that morning as this new little kindergartner encountered a whole bunch of [illegible] saved my tears for later as I calmly took my child's hand and walked back to school with him, telling him as we walked that, yes, there would be a whole bunch of kids at school. As I walked with him I also prayed that the other unforeseen questions of life would also be this easy to answer. I prayed that he would always be able to come home in spite of the unexpected turns of life.

Now, though a few years later, I have sent this same child off to college. He is no longer that little kindergartner. He is now an adult. As we made lists of things to take and as we packed those things to bring along to college I hoped that we did not forget any of the essentials of life. As we prepared him with the essential tools of daily living—shampoo, towels, books, and the like, I was humbled by the fact that most likely I have passed the time-limit for providing him with the truly essential tools of life. Hopefully I have been able to pass on the values and faith that I cherish. Hopefully I have passed on to him the ability to formulate wise decisions. Hopefully I have passed on to him the ability to laugh and care and love. Hopefully I have passed on to him the basics he will need to be an adult that he can be proud of.

Time passes for all of us. Those of you with children just entering kindergarten are probably not yet aware of how quickly the years fly by. These children we are blessed with are ours to cherish. They are ours to tend and teach. They are ours to love. Too soon they become adults.

As this new school year begins, be positive influences in the lives of your children. Care about them. Consider their school life important. Don't ignore the seemingly silly questions they might have. Answer the unforeseen surprises they may encounter. Overwhelm them with the assurance of your love for them. [illegible] time does indeed pass quickly. Train your children in the way they should go. You won't be disappointed.

Last Sunday Morning at 9:40 Nathan Left Home!

It wasn't the first time. It happens almost every week.

You see, Nathan spends Sunday morning with about 20 other kids his age at Our Saviour's Lutheran Church. His parents don't let Nathan go off by himself. They take him.

Nathan loves every minute of it. And his mom and dad love it too. Not just because of the way the church helps the whole family stay closer together, but because they're all learning about Christ and eternal life.

Maybe you should think about leaving home this Sunday morning. It's Visitor Sunday at Our Saviour's. If you do, bring the whole family.

My name is Richard Sphalaski, I am the CEO of Northwest Medical Center and a 10 year resident of Thief River Falls. It is difficult to develop a Project where everyone is totally satisfied with all aspects of the Project; however, this Bond Issue addresses nearly all known areas of need for the Elementary, Middle and High School. The Bond Issue is for $18 Million and with State Debt Equalization local taxpayers will pay for only $3.8 Million of the total cost. By passing the Bond Issue, $250,000.00 of Operating Expenses will be saved Annually and be available for Academic Programming. If this Bond Issue fails, the School District will be forced to implement Mandated Fire and Safety Renovations by 1994 and make current buildings Handicapped Accessible with costs estimated at $1.8 Million. Taxpayers can not vote on Mandated Renovations and Debt Equalization will not apply. Lets spend our tax dollars on New Facilities and Academic Programs vs. Mandated Renovations of Out Dated Facilities. My wife, Linda, and I will vote "Yes" on September 15. Please join us.

Local officials confiscated 44 pounds of marijuana, with a street value of $130,000. Vila Grana of El Paso, TX, was arrested in connection with the incident. The drug bust is the largest Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold remembers. The 22 blocks of marijuana were hidden in the panels of the passenger compartment.

Team penning draws 47 teams on Sunday

Forty-seven teams entered the Thief River Falls Saddle Club and Pizza Hut sponsored team penning competition held Sunday morning and afternoon in the rodeo arena at the Pennington county fairgrounds in Thief River Falls.

Organizer Tom Scheef of Goodridge thanked the teams for participating in the event and gave a special thanks to Roger Harmoning of Red Lake Falls for the use of his cattle and Floyd Hesse of Plummer who arranged for the cattle and hauling them to and from the fairgrounds.

The event involves teams of three riders cutting out three numbered cattle from a herd of 15, driving them to the opposite end of the arena and into a pen. Number worn by the cattle to be penned by the team is announced as the group of riders advances toward the herd. The team is disqualified if five or more cattle cross a line into the penning area. Winners are determined by the least amount of time required to pen the three cattle.

First place Sunday went to the team of Robbie Carlson and Dean Anderson of the Strandquist area and Lyle Kenner of Thief River Falls. They penned their three cattle in 29.12 seconds and earned a first place check of $505.58.

A very close second was the team of Don Schafer, Donna Schafer and Dean Anderson which turned in a time of 29.51 seconds and received a check for $386.02.

Third place team consisted of Stuart Loftsgard, Arlend Simon and Lynn Meberg. Their time of 33.73 seconds earned a pay-off of $297.40.

Roger Shaver, Rosie Shaver and Cas Dahlen earned $193.31 for a fourth place finish in 44.47 seconds.

Fifth place in 47.22 seconds went to Renae Beaton, Dave Schwalbe and Tim Feland who received $104.09.

The cattle were good-sized animals which had never been worked with horses before and frequently showed indifference to the riders and their mounts. One heifer in particular took offense at being herded and turned aggressor, charging into horses and riders who came near.

At one point it collided with a horse and toppled the horse and rider on itself. For a time it appeared to be seriously injured and unable to get up and a hushed silence covered the crowd. But once someone pushed it into a position where it could regain its footing, the heifer scrambled to its feet and took on its belligerent attitude again.

At least one other horse and rider took a spill attempting a tight turn but there appeared to be no injuries.

Biggest cache of marijuana ever seized

Twenty two kilos, almost 44 pounds of marijuana was seized from a motor vehicle in Thief River Falls Sunday.

According to Pennington County Sheriff Bob Wold, the sheriff's department received a tip about marijuana being transported through Thief River Falls by the Roseau County sheriff's department. The sheriff's department acted quickly and received an okay for a search warrant from the county attorney's office and served the warrant at 9:30 p.m. Sunday at the Super 8 motel in Thief River Falls. Officers from several departments were on hand at the bust, but the occupant of the room, Vila Grana of El Paso, TX, offered no resistance.

Sheriff Wold said it is the biggest bust he remembers. The 22 blocks of marijuana seized from inside a passenger compartment of Grana's vehicle represents an estimated street value of $130,000.

Wold said Grana will be charged in Federal court, but according to Pennington County Attorney Dave Olin, Grana will probably be charged with possession of marijuana and conspiracy to transport illegal narcotics across state lines. The minimum penalty for possession is three years in prison.

Wold said he wished to express his appreciation for their participation in the arrest to the United States Border Patrol, United States Immigration, Roseau County Sheriff's department, Thief River Falls Police department, and Pennington county Attorney's office.

Bridge collapses in Red Lake Co.

No injuries were reported in an accident in which a bridge collapsed in Red Lake county early Saturday morning.

According to a dispatcher for the Red Lake county sheriff's department, the sheriff's department received a report of an accident on county road 127 early Saturday morning. According to the report compiled by the sheriff's department, Steven Heden, Plummer, was driving a 1976 Ford pickup on County road 127, which is east of Plummer. Heden lost control of the vehicle as it was crossing a one-lane bridge over the Clearwater river. The vehicle hit the east side of the bridge and the impact caused a bridge brace to give way and the east side of the bridge collapsed. The vehicle then slid off the bridge and landed on the bank. The vehicle was considered a total loss. No damage estimate was available for the cost to repair or replace the bridge. Heden was not injured in the accident. The accident is still under investigation.

TRF officers to hand out Viking trading cards

Officers in Thief River Falls will be handing out 1992 Viking Crime Prevention cards this fall.

The Minnesota Vikings Crime Prevention card program celebrates its 10th anniversary in 1992. More than 300 participating law enforcement agencies are distributing over 2.1 million "trading cards" over a 10-week period.

The cards will feature various players on the team such as John Randle, Todd Scott, Anthony Carter, Steve Jordan, Terry Allen, Brian Habib, Faud Revelz, Roger Craig and Cris Carter. The first card in 1992 will feature new head coach Dennis Green.

The main focus of the cards is to provide youth with crime prevention tips. Anthony Carter's card, for example, states: "Traffic laws apply to bicycles, too. Bicyclists should always obey all traffic regulations, signs and markings.

The program, sponsored by Gatorade, the officials sports drink of the Vikings, in cooperation with KFAN-AM and K102 FM Radio and the Minnesota Crime Prevention Officers Association, is designed to develop relationships between young people and law enforcement officers.

Local officers will be carrying the cards, but ask that youth not run out into traffic to try to stop them. Cards can also be obtained by going to the law enforcement center.

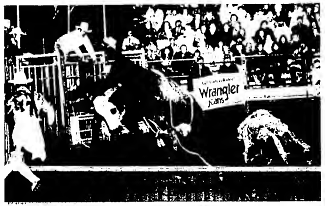
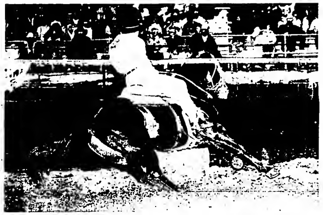
They qualified in the preliminaries, then battled through rain and mud Sunday night to win the finals by saddling a cow, riding it across a line in the arena and carrying the saddle back to the opposite end.



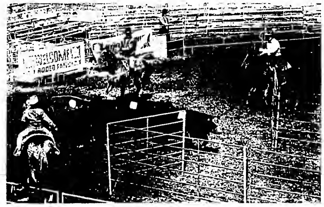
Those who say you don't get down off a bull, you get down off a duck, haven't had a lesson from the cowboy in the above photo. He was in good company during the TRF Stampede bullriding Friday, Saturday and Sunday as the bulls won all but one of the matches.



Women's professional barrel racing was one of six professional events at the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Only .62 second separated the top 10 riders but prize money ranged from $872.52 for first to $72.68 for tenth. Winning time was 14.81 seconds.

Steer wrestling is a simple sport. Just fall off your horse at full speed, grab the running steer by the horns, bring it to a stop and flop it over on its side so the feet are in the air. At the TRF Stampede this weekend, Troy Brown did it all in 4.7 seconds and won $886.10.

Bullfighter James Pierce of Louisiana draws this bull's attention to create a safety margin for the rider when he gets off. It is the job of the bullfighter to protect the riders.



Perfect positioning resulted in these cattle being penned in classic fashion during team penning at the TRF Stampede Sunday afternoon. The group finished out of the money but was among a number to accomplish the task in the two-minute time limit.

Banners of major sponsors of the TRF Stampede were carried by riders on matched paint horses to open each evening's performance of the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

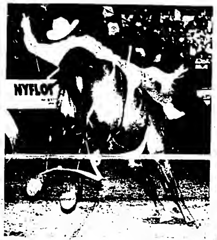
Saddle bronc riders performed well during the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Thief River Falls. The Professional Rodeo Cowboys association event drew some of the world's best riders to Thief River Falls. First place winner in this event claimed $1,164 for a ride that scored 77 points.

Crossbred bulls make tough bucking stock, and this animal from the TRF Stampede appears to have been crossed with a jackrabbit. All but one bull in the three nights of rodeo won their contests with the top quality bullriders entered in the competition.

Various techniques were employed by sheep riders during the TRF Stampede "Mutton Bustin' competition Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings in Thief River Falls. This youngster favored the hug and hang on technique.

Not all the spills took place during the professional rodeo competition of the TRF Stampede in Thief River Falls this weekend. This horse and rider took a fall during the team penning competition Sunday morning.

Although this steer wrestler is giving his all, the judge in the background is signelling that he broke the barrier too early and is being disqualified. The action is from the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday in Thief River Falls.



Riding on grit and tailbone, bareback riders took a thumping during the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday. All six of the winners in the event are in the top 20 in world competition this year, one is a five-time world champion, another a former world champion and a third the 1991 National Finals Rodeo champion.

Free hand swinging and spurring action continuing, this saddle bronc rider gave the competition his all during the TRF Stampede this weekend. The event was sanctioned by the Professional Rodeo Cowboys association.

Digging in the heels to stop a running steer before attempting to turn it over on its side is part of the steer wrestling technique. Winning time in this event in the TRF Stampede this weekend was 4.7 seconds. Sixth place was 7.0 seconds.

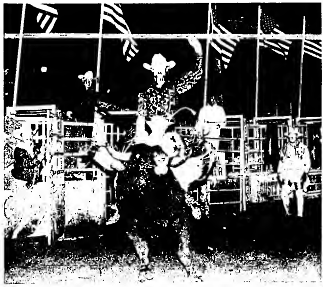
This sheep rider did fine on the straightaway but didn't see the ewe turn during the TRF Stampede sheep riding for youngsters five through seven years of age this weekend.

Riding for a fall is this bareback rider who finds himself over the shoulders of his horse. The six qualifiers in bareback riding at the TRF Stampede are all in the top 20 in the world rankings.

Bulls of all descriptions—especially tough and mean—gave would-be riders their fill during the TRF Stampede this weekend. Only David Bailey Jr. of Oklahoma finished an eight-second qualifying ride and earned $3,344.50.

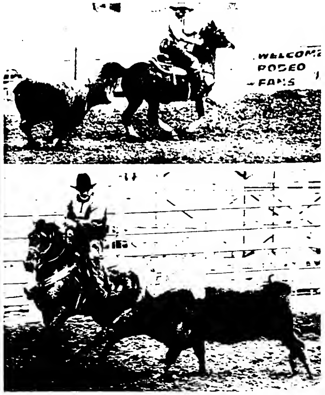
Top calf ropers came to Thief River Falls Friday, Saturday and Sunday to compete for prize money and PRCA points. Winning time in roping and tying a calf was 10.5 seconds and earned Brian Fulton of Miller, SD, $886.10. Troy Pruitt of Minatare, NE, 1991 world champion, placed third and earned $580.55.

Soupy mud splashes into the air as this cowboy makes an impromptu exit during bullriding Sunday evening at the TRF Stampede. Heavy rain fell during the final performance of the three-day professional rodeo but the show went on and the riders came off.

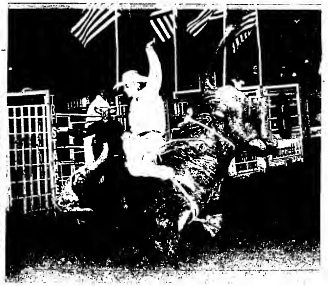


Tim Hesty of Pleasant Hill looked good coming out of the chute during bullriding at the TRF Stampede Saturday evening. But "Copenhagen Crunch" proved too tough to stay on for eight seconds and Hesty was tossed against the fence near the let-out gate. The impact numbed his right arm for a short time, but he climbed the fence to safety while bullfighter James Pierce led the bull away from the corner where Hesty landed.

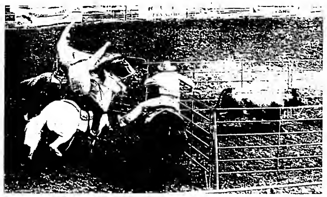
"Mutton Bustin'" for youngsters five through seven years of age was one of the amateur events at the TRF Stampede in Thief River Falls Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. The event was a favorite with the crowd as well as the kids with each rider receiving a 6-pack of Coke.



This heifer doesn't understand the team penning rules. It is supposed to be the horse and rider who do the herding, but this heifer took offense at being chased around and decided to do a little bossing of her own. She was ready to take on all comers. The action was from the team penning competition Sunday during the TRF Stampede.



Bucking bulls were big and bad during the TRF Stampede Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights. So rank was the stock that only one official eight-second ride was recorded by the top quality cowboys entered. David Bailey Jr. of Tahlequah, OK, ranked seventh in the world, made the ride and collected $3,344.50 for his efforts. (Rider in the photo is not Bailey.)



First place team in the team penning competition at the TRF Stampede Sunday was composed of (left to right) Lyle Kenner of Thief River Falls, Dean Anderson and Robbie Carlson of the Strandquist area. They turned in a time of 29.12 seconds and earned $505.58.

1992 high school football season opener...

Prowlers lose to Lakers

Thief River Falls handed over a pair of touchdowns after mis[illegible] two first quarter punts Friday, and then twice failed to convert first and goal opportunities into points as the Prowlers lost a season-opening 21-2 high school football game at Detroit Lakes.

It was billed as an early season showdown between the Lakers, who have won back to back Section 8A titles, and the Prowlers, who were expected to be a serious title challenger this fall. Detroit Lakes reached the Class A state playoff semifinals last year, but lost heavily to graduation. Thief River Falls put together its first winning season in 12 years in 1991, and returned most of those players.

But the Prowlers never got untracked. They picked up just three first downs all night – all in the first half, and netted only 36 yards worth of offense.

"They stuffed everything on the line of scrimmage," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "We tried everything, but it didn't matter what we ran – they had it covered. They stacked us up in the middle, and they didn't let us get outside. We got no blocking up front. They have a very strong defensive line; they dominated us up front."

Thief River Falls' defense held its own, surrendering only nine first downs and 172 total yards. But two mistakes in the punting situations – a high snap and a fumbled return – created a two-touchdown deficit that was not challenged.

"Defensively I thought we did very well," said Mumm. "Our kids were in the right spots, and they made the plays. But you can't give a team like Detroit Lakes two touchdowns like that. You know those kind of things can happen in a first game; you just hope they don't cost you. Unfortunately they did cost us."

Mistake No. 1 occurred when the Prowlers lined up to punt on the game-opening possession. The snap sailed over the head of punter Jason Svir, and he was downed at the Thief River Falls eight-yard line.

It took Detroit Lakes just one play to get into the end zone as Erik Gunderson took a pitch to the right and went in standing up. Barry [illegible] took advantage of a bobbled extra point snap and blocked the conversion kick, but the Lakers still had their 6-0 lead with just 3:45 elapsed.

Next punting situation proved just as disastrous for the Prowlers as the Lakers' Matt Schiller got off a 62-yard boot that Svir tried to run down. But he never found the handle on the ball. Detroit Lakes' Eric Gilbertson picked up the fumble at the Thief River Falls eight-yard line and walked into the end zone for the touchdown with 2:37 remaining in the first quarter.

Despite a five-yard penalty on the conversion attempt, the Lakers tacked on a two-pointer when quarterback Toby Steinmetz rolled left and hit tight end Jason Ziegler in the end zone with the pass for the 14-0 spread.

Detroit Lakes also had trouble on two punt situations, but unlike the Prowlers, the Lakers dodged the bullet.

A 15-yard fourth down holding penalty negated a second quarter Thief River Falls punt, giving the ball back to the Prowlers near midfield. Carter Rogalla promptly broke off a 32-yard burst through the middle that had a late-hit penalty tacked on to the end of the play, giving the Prowlers a first down at the Lakers' six-yard line. They reached the one on carries by Rogalla and fullback Nathan Knutson, but two more tries by Knutson still left the ball inches short of the goal line with 3:44 left in the first half.

In the third quarter, Steinmetz couldn't hold on to a low punt snap and was tackled at the Detroit Lakes eight-yard line. But the Prowlers picked up just one yard on three plays, and a fourth down pass from Svir to Marc Haugen was stopped at the two.

Thief River Falls did score moments later, however, when defensive tackle Darin Weleski hauled down Gunderson in the end zone for a safety with 2:25 left in the third quarter.

Only sustained Detroit Lakes drive of the night started in the final minute of the third quarter when Steinmetz intercepted a tipped Svir pass at the Detroit Lakes 35. The Lakers, thanks to a 32-yard Steinmetz to Nate Greenlaw pass down the right sideline, scored in seven plays. The touchdown was a six-yard run through the middle by Chad Rosell with 10:04 to play. Matt Homer added the kick.

Eleven different Detroit Lakes players carried the ball. The spread-out assignments included 35 yards on seven carries for Rosell and 31 yards on 11 attempts for Gunderson.

Six Prowlers tried gaining yards on the ground, with Rogalla netting 40 yards on 13 carries.

Svir was 3-for-10 passing for just 10 yards. The Lakers were 3-for-7 for 49 yards.

Crookston will be in town Friday for Thief River Falls' 1992 home opener at Prowler Field. The Prowlers will then go back on the road for successive trips to Wadena-Deer Creek, Staples Area and Park Rapids Area before Thief River Falls hosts Belcourt, ND in an Oct. 9 homecoming game. Crookston beat Park Rapids 27-0 in a Thursday opener.

Detroit Lakes will be at home against Park Rapids Friday.

MCC to start year shorthanded

■ Nordics will be without volleyball setter

What appeared to be a promising high school volleyball season at Marshall County Central might be slowed a bit at the start following recent leg surgery for standout setter Jill Fosholm. She will probably be sidelined three to four weeks.

"She's definitely the leader out there," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "She's the [illegible] things happen."

"Shanon Magner and Sarah Lokstad join Fosholm as returning starters off last year's 15-11 squad. All three are juniors. Seniors Mary Rokke and Mandi Halvorson, along with junior Jenny Taggart, are other likely starters.

"Sarah (Lokstad) is our No. 1 hitter," pointed out Jorgenson. "We need to find one more attacker yet. We don't have much height, so we're going to have to do a good job covering the floor. We're relatively quick."

Marshall County Central will wait until Sept. 14, to open the season – at Stephen.

Blue Devils win opener 36-6

An effective ground game produced a 1992 season-opening Top of the State Conference high school football win for defending Section 8 Nine-Man champion Goodridge/Grygla Friday afternoon as the Blue Devils beat Valley North 36-6 at Grygla.

The winners netted 378 yards on 61 running plays while going 0-for-1 in the passing department.

Jason Grandstrand rushed for 130 yards on 14 carries and Scott Rindahl scored three touchdowns while rushing for 94 yards on 15 carries to lead the Blue Devils' attack.

"We did a pretty nice job running the football," acknowledged Goodridge/Grygla coach Darwin Hagen. "The offensive line had a pretty good game," he added, giving special recognition going to Eldon Quam up front.

Defensively, linebacker Jim Verbout led the Blue Devils with six tackles, while Quam turned in a strong effort in the defensively line, noted Hagen.

A key early-season showdown Friday will find Goodridge/Grygla, a Nine-Man state playoff finalist last year, heading to Karlstad for a 7:30 p.m. match-up with a Tri-County team that was made the preseason Top of the State Conference favorite this fall.

Bulldogs will try to rebound

First-year Badger/Greenbush-Middle River football team will try to break into the win column Friday when the Bulldogs meet Norman County East in a 7:30 p.m. game at Twin Valley.

A strong Warren team turned a 6-0 halftime lead into a 26-7 Thursday night win over Badger/Greenbush-Middle River when Tony Paul broke a 70-yard punt return for a touchdown.

"I thought we played a pretty good football game," reported Bulldogs coach Vern Schnathorst. "It was a close game until that punt return. "We were just a step away all night. Warren is tough. I think we'll be okay. We've got a decent nucleus of talent."

The combination of the old Badger/Greenbush cooperative and the Greenbush-Middle River pairing has produced 33 football players in grades 9-12. "The kids have responded to the arrangement real well," said Schnathorst. "They seem to get along well."

The combination features six captains who are expected to be Bulldogs' leaders this fall – 5-8, 225-pound tackle-center Kurt Praska, 5-10, 170-pound runningback-linebacker Shannon Berger, 5-8, 135-pound flanker-defensive back Trent Wahl, 5-8, 140-pound runningback-linebacker David Blazek, 6-3, 165-pound quarterback-defensive back Ryan Rislov, and 5-10, 200-pound lineman Dan Koehmstedt.

Red Lake County Central, another area team that opened play Thursday, will be back in action Friday with a 7 p.m. Nine-Man game at Win-E-Mac. The Mustangs handled Laporte 40-14 last week at Oklee.

Wolverines look to pick up some wins

Goodridge/Grygla head high school volleyball coach coach Tim Mostrom figures the 1992 Wolverines should be improved over last year. But, admittedly that wouldn't require more than a couple of wins since they struggled through a 1-16 campaign last fall.

"We're young, but I think we'll be more competitive than we were last year," mentioned Mostrom. "The kids are working hard; they have a real good work ethic. Hopefully we will be quicker than we were last year."

Senior Jenny Ryan and sophomore Amber Wilkens saw some playing time a year ago, but the rest of the probable varsity line-up is new, including promising-looking freshmen Jamie Berndt and Shaunna Thomas; sophomores Jodi Manderud, Carlye Schuler, and Jessica Zavoral; plus seniors Michelle Coan, Val Horachek, and Katja Nobbe, a foreign exchange student from Germany who his staying with the Mostrom family.

Junior SueAnn Verbout, projected as a likely starter, will be sidelined for a month or more because of injuries suffered in a recent car accident.

Brian Howe tried to squeeze through the line, but the Thief River Falls sophomore was limited to a one-yard gain by the Detroit Lakes defense on this first quarter carry in Friday's season-opening high school football game on the Lakers' field. The Prowlers lost a 21-2 decision.

Nordics lose opener at Argyle; host Sacred Heart Friday night

Michael Dufault scored all four Argyle touchdowns Friday night – three of them in the fourth quarter – as the host Eagles beat Marshall County Central 26-6 in season-opening Nine-Man Top of the State Conference high school football.

A 2-yard Jake Rantanen-to-Shane Borg second quarter touchdown pass was the only first half scoring. A 3-yard third quarter run by Dufault tied it, with Argyle pulling away down the stretch on runs of 13, 6 and 27 yards by Dufault.

Marshall County Central home opener Friday will be a 7:30 p.m. match-up with East Grand Forks Sacred Heart at Newfolden.

RLCC to count on Bachand

A typically-tough schedule awaits the Red Lake County Central High School volleyball team this fall, starting with the Thursday opener at Fosston and ending with the Oct. 29 regular season finale against Win-E-Mac.

"We've got a tough schedule, again," pointed out Red Lake County Central coach Brad Borene, whose Mustangs went 15-9 a year ago.

Senior Dawn Bachand is the top player back from that team. The four-year starter was a Polar All-Conference pick last year. "She's an outstanding all-around volleyball player," pointed out Borene.

Other returning letter winners include seniors Jill Radniecki, Kim Magers, Lisa Larson, and Bobbi Berberich, along with juniors Farrah Brantl and Angel Michelson.

The Mustangs did not lose heavily to graduation number-wise, but they did in terms of quality in setter Cheryl Greenwald and hitter Jenny Walter.

"We'll miss those two, for sure," acknowledged Borene. "We've got a tough road to hoe. We've got a ways to go. We have to work on our setting, and we have to develop more punch at the net. Right now we're just looking for the right combinations."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River...

New combination to start season tonight

It won't take long to see where the new Badger/Greenbush-Middle River team fits into the area high school volleyball picture. Roseau figures to be No. 1, and the first-year Bulldogs combination takes on the Rams tonight in a 1992 season opening match at Roseau.

"I think we'll be all right," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Gwen Borgen. She's been coaching 14 years, but this is the first year that Middle River is linked with the former Badger/Greenbush cooperative. "We've got quite a bit of height – something I haven't had for a while."

Lisa Erickson and Raquel Kilen are serving as the Bulldogs' co-captains. Other seniors on the squad include Shauna Dahl, Holly Dostal, Andrea Eeg, Sheri Melby, and Andi Nelson. The 11 varsity players also include juniors Sarah Melby and Angie Berger, sophomore Jessica Borgen, and freshman Krissi Super.

The first-year combination of the three schools has been going well so far, according to Borgen. "They're getting along really well. They have a great attitude, and they're very enthusiastic," she said. "I put in some new things this year, so it's not like just the new kids have to pick things up. They're all starting from scratch."

The Bulldogs will rotate home matches between the three communities, starting with a Thursday contest against Goodridge/Grygla in Middle River.

Lorelei Kraft (IR)
for Congress
Seventh District

I'm a small business owner, a former public school teacher, a taxpayer, and a parent. I have family in farming, and children in college. My mother is 77 and going strong. She continues to be involved in a business she started with my father, is busy with grandchildren, and is a skilled avid sportswoman who still goes deer hunting. My father was an immigrant who passed on to his children his passion for the Bill of Rights and individual freedoms, and was actively involved in union organizing and workers rights.

This rich dimension of family life has given me the empathy necessary to be an effective leader, by making me very aware that our problems cut across all segments of society. There is no "them" and "us"—we are all "us."

I was Minnesota's Woman Business Owner of the Year in 1985, elected a delegate to the White House Conference on Small Business in Washington DC in 1986, and named by Corporate Report Minnesota as one of Minnesota's leading women in business in 1989. I served on the Board of Bemidji State University Foundation, as well as the State Tourism Advisory Council.

Affordable Health Care: It is frightening to not be able to take a sick child to the doctor, or to be an older American and have to choose between food and medicine. We should be assured of a basic level of affordable health care, under a national plan that includes cost-containment measures and a strong preventative medicine focus.

Economic Development in the 7th District: It is sad when our children leave the 7th district because they can't find work. Priorities must be given to growth of small business, with loan programs to aid rural banks and their customers in areas that lack access to financial pools of capital.

Economy: It hurts us all when 19 cents of every tax dollar goes for interest payments on the deficit instead of something we need. The most important issue is bringing down the deficit while meeting the domestic needs of the country in health care, education, environment. This means (1) shifting spending priorities to absolute essentials, and (2) cutting programs that are neither cost-effective nor priorities.

Agriculture—the 7th District's Largest Industry: Farm policies must guarantee our farmers a fair return on their investment and their labor. My sister and her husband are farmers, and I think that the government should not make it harder for farmers to earn a living.

Dignity for Older Americans: Just because you're retired doesn't mean you should be forgotten. And it doesn't mean you should be denied potential treatment for Parkinson's disease because some in Congress want to impose religious beliefs on medical research, or to forbid your right to a "living will."

Family Issues: When women are paid less than men to do the same job, don't get the same medical treatment as men, and aren't included in government studies of diseases, those are family issues—not women's issues. Quality child care is a family issue. So is the right to plan your family without your government imposing another church's religious beliefs on you.

Our Government: Congress should show leadership in cutting government spending by starting with reducing its own Congressional staff. Congress should immediately implement the line item veto to stop pork barrel waste.

Quality Education: Early education is a key to preventing later problems of high absenteeism and high dropout rates. Headstart, early reading readiness programs, etc., must be strongly supported. Smaller class sizes in the early grades are a must. Student loan programs for higher education should be available but must have loan repayments from payroll deductions and/or community service. I do not favor tax credits for parents to choose private or religious schools.

Right To Keep and Bear Arms: We must protect the right of all law-abiding citizens to own, use and collect guns.

Environment: We all live on one planet, and time is running out for clearing up the water, air, and the ozone layer. Difficult choices must be made now to insure a future healthy environment for our children and grandchildren.

Collin Peterson (DFL)
for Congress

To My Seventh District Constituents:

I want to thank the voters of the Seventh District, and Thief River Falls in particular, for electing me to represent you in Washington for the last 21 months. I have worked hard to learn the ropes and have done my best to represent your interests.

I know well the people of the Seventh District and the challenges we face. I was born in 1944 and grew up on a farm just outside of Glyndon. I graduated from Moorhead State University with a degree in accounting and later was licensed as a Certified Public Accountant. During and after college I served in the U.S. Army National Guard. I am the father of three sons.

I started my own accounting firm in Detroit Lakes in 1968, working for small businesses, farmers, and a host of other clients. This gave me insight into the problems you face and a clear understanding of what government can do to improve things. It also taught me how government can make things worse and gave me a good idea of areas the government should stay out of.

I drew on this experience during my 10 years as a State Senator. I chaired the commission which reformed the state's pension laws and helped pass the Farm Property Tax Reduction act, which reduced tax rates 16 percent. I also led the effort to simplify Minnesota's tax system. Finally, I played a key role in establishing the state's ethanol industry. I was also a leader on environmental and conservation issues, and am once again endorsed by the League of Conservation Voters.

I have continued to work on these issues in Washington. Serving on the Agriculture and Government Operations Committees and allowed me to work on agriculture issues, develop a comprehensive national health care reform proposal, push for greater use of ethanol fuel, and develop tax reform legislation to aid small businesses and farmers.

If there is one thing I am proudest of, it is my health care reform proposal. Rising health care costs are a terrific burden on families and businesses, and are also a major contributor to the rising federal deficit. Controlling costs and ensuring access are absolutely necessary. My proposal, developed with the assistance of a 55 member Task Force of Seventh District residents, reforms the health care market to cut health insurance costs by one-third. The plan should squeeze $180 billion in paperwork and waste out of the current system.

I have also introduced two tax bills to stimulate small businesses and farms. The bills would reinstate the investment tax credit, make health insurance costs 100 percent deductible, and grant capital gains treatment to real property investments.

I have also concentrated on agriculture, pushing a support price increase for milk through the Agriculture Committee, passing legislation requiring end use certificates for foreign grain and worked to ensure fair treatment for American farmers in world markets.

I've also done my homework holding over eighty town meetings, hosting hearings on health care, wheat and feed grain prices, and dairy issues, and spending almost every weekend in the district.

In the next two years Congress must work to reduce the deficit, enact health care reform and get our economy back on track. I believe I have the knowledge and the sense to do what must be done. I think I'm off to a good start and would appreciate your vote in the upcoming election so I can finish the work we have started.

Hi, I am Deone Cerny. As a teacher I've watched children come into my classroom and reach into a new world of learning and achievement. As a community, we're now asking each other to reach out to a new vision of education and a new future for our district. It's an exciting proposal, as exciting as learning how to make magic letters into words with meaning. This plan is important to all of us. It's grown from a few lines on a drawing board to a reality only one week away. This proposal has my support, as a teacher, and as a community member. I look forward to the future, to new technology in learning, and new opportunities for achievement, and I encourage you to join me in voting "yes" for education next Tuesday.

township. I attended Goodridge school from which I graduated. I served in the army during the Viet Nam conflict from 1970-1972. In 1973 I went to work for a construction company out of Chicago, Il., where I was general foreman for five years. From 1979 to present I have operated a diversified beef cattle and grain farm in Highlanding township.

My wife Terry and I have three children, Erik, Neil and Mary Ann.

I am a member of Ekelund Lutheran church where I presently serve on the church council. I am also a member of Farmers Union, National Farmers Organization, the American Legion and the Eagles.

I was elected to the Pennington County Board of Commissioners in 1988 which I chaired in 1991.

I currently am chairman of the Welfare board and Oakland Park Nursing Home board. I also serve on the Juvenile Training Center board, Transportation Advisory committee at the Northwest Regional Development Commission, Inter-County Nursing Service board in addition to other various committees.

I believe one of the main issues facing the county currently is the new wetlands regulations. We must continue to work to retain our right to keep our drainage systems functioning so that agriculture can prosper and therefore cities and towns and the whole community can prosper.

I have enjoyed working for you, the people of the first district, and for all of the people of the county for the past four years. I look forward to talking with you in the near future.

I would like to encourage everyone to get out and vote on September 15th, and in the general election.

Thank You,
-s- Donald J. Jensen

Joppru . . .

Fire Association, a committee member for the North Township zoning ordinance, and member of the Legislative Research Environment Subcommittee. I was also involved with the Department of Energy on a tree project through the University of Minnesota, Crookston. Election judge for eight years.

I have been married to Donald Joppru for 30 years. We have three children and two grandchildren, and are members of Zion Lutheran Church.

I feel my experience and commitment qualify me to serve as your District I County Commissioner. As your commissioner, I will work with you to improve our city and rural community. I will be available to the people of this county to listen to what they want and help them get answers to their questions and problems. I am dependable, prompt, and open minded.

I would like to thank the Thief River Falls Times for giving me this exposure to tell the residents of Pennington County about myself.

Olson . . .

based on my strong belief of the need for "change" concerning the well being of Pennington Counties future.

I was born and raised in Thief River Falls where I graduated from Lincoln High School in 1975. I then went on to the TRF Technical College where I completed a two year Carpentry program. Upon graduation, I was employed by Woodland Construction of TRF.

In 1980 I married Julie Hanson also from TRF. I then decided to further my education by enrolling at Northland College where I graduated in 1983 with an Associates Degree in Business Administration. Upon graduation I joined my Father in our family owned and operated business - Erl's Market, Inc. of TRF.

For the past four years I have made my home in Silverton Township with my wife and two sons Chad, age 8, and Anthony, age 7. My wife Julie is employed by the TRF Chamber of Commerce as the Director for the Convention and Visitors Bureau.

My family and I are members of the United Methodist Church in TRF. I have served as Vice President of the TRF Jaycees, and as a director on the TRF Curling Club Board. I currently hold the following positions: Treasurer for the Goodridge Jaycees and TRF Chamber of Commerce Convention and Visitors Bureau Board. I am a member of the Sons of the American Legion, and I also enjoy serving as a volunteer for the local chapter of the Boy Scouts of America.

Many of our economic and environmental problems have been created by man, and now its time for man to solve them. Clean air, clean water and clean land...we need to develop rules and regulations regarding the safety of handling and disposing of hazardous waste. If elected, I will look into this important issue.

Together, we as county taxpayers, will make wise decisions regarding the problems that face our county. Many rural areas such as ours face problems in the area of economic development. The State continuously looks to create jobs in areas that are already established with a large population and a manufacturing base. Certainly we will not land any large Detroit type jobs, but we have to encourage the private sector to expand into the area of small manufacturing and component parts, and soon we can have a wide range of jobs in our rural community so that Pennington County will have the job base to handle all of our young people. Currently a majority of our young people are moving out of our community to seek employment elsewhere. We certainly need to address this problem because this generation is our future.

Another area that needs constant attention is ditch and road repair. Living in a county that is agricultural based, it is essential to do what we can to help the rural families and farmers who make their homes in our county. I will work with our local townships to improve the standards of our system.

I also believe that we need to establish more regulations and tighten the standards provided in the human services area of our county. If elected I will work hard to see that the people of our county get the best mileage out of their tax dollars.

I believe new and fresh ideas are a good mix on any organization, and now is the time for change. If elected, I will always be available to discuss your issues, and vow to do my best to serve the people of district 1 in Pennington County. Thank you.

Remember, "the sun is shining" I will listen - I am your voice.

Drees . . .

in office for — to be available and responsive to the people they represent.

I don't have any political favoritisms or belong to any special interest groups. Considering the economic times we live in, it is vitally important that all projects and problems be approached in a level-headed, business-like manner. Any spending must be done carefully and with proper regard for the future impact it will have on the area.

We are faced with tremendous problems these days; road repair is a continuing nuisance, garbage disposal is becoming more costly and complex, and our schools have new issue each year. While trying to continue to progress and improve, every level of government is faced with cuts in services for financial reasons. This is why we need efficient officials more than ever before.

I am willing to serve this district because it's my home. It's a good place to live in and I want to do my part to see that it always remains that way.

Naplin . . .

gy. Employed as a ground-water geologist for the North Dakota State Water Commission from 1967 to 1975, I returned to the St. Hilaire area to farm. A Pennington county resident since 1975, I am currently employed as a director-agent for Bray-Gentilly Mutual Insurance Co. and work part time in farming and have a rental business. My wife Mae, and two sons Brian and Scott reside in Polk Center township.

I have been Polk Centre township clerk for 16 years and have served on the Pennington County Township officers association board for 10 years. Currently, I am serving on the St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator board, and am chairman of the St. Hilaire Rural Fire Association.

As a commissioner, I would like to see additional progress made toward efficient waste disposal at Future Fuels with special emphasis on compost, fuel pellets, and community recycling. We also need to maintain and improve our system of county road allowing our residents safe and proper access in all areas of the county. Emphasis should be placed on regular maintenance, mowing, and controlling noxious weeds with periodic road inspections by the board to verify road conditions. County health care and welfare services concern us all, and the county board's supervision of these services should make sure that people in need are taken care of and that revenues are being used cost-effectively.

County government is important to us all for the services it provides and allows residents to see how their tax dollars are spent locally. County Commissioners are elected by their constituents to supervise local government and community services and to represent the people who selected them. Representing the Third district is a challenge and a priority for me and I would appreciate your support.

tree foreman, Lions club member and eight years as a scoutmaster, as well as presently serving as vice president of the Valley Home board. I have also served in my church at various times as board member, Sunday school teacher, youth leader and chair member.

My public involvement has included being a township supervisor and school board member for several years. I have also been a member and chairman of the Regional Development commission (NWRDC). This organization serves seven counties and the governing board consists of one county commissioner, one city official and one township supervisor from each of the counties, as well as members from various other groups.

The NWRDC emphasizes job creation and economic development. It has provided low interest loans to several businesses in Pennington county. Some of these loans were to start new businesses, while others went to expand and create additional jobs. The NWRDC also supervises and provides funding for the senior meals program and other services for senior citizens. It provided a grant of $31,000 to supplement the building of the Heritage center in Thief River Falls.

At the regional level, I have served as board member and state president of the School Boards association, which provides many services to all of the public schools in Minnesota. While I was on that board we initiated a workers' comp. insurance program and other insurance programs that have drastically cut insurance costs for local school districts. One project which I personally initiated was encouraging the elimination of all tobacco use on school property. Within the first two years of this effort, we succeeded in getting over half of the schools in Minnesota to take this action. Fortunately this has now become a state law and starting next year all schools will be required to be tobacco free.

It was also my privilege to serve [illegible] the Governor's Council on Rural Development which provided assistance in economic development in rural areas all over the state.

If elected county commissioner of District 3, I pledge to work together with other elected officials to provide a healthy business climate and the necessary services for all our citizens. I hope you will agree that my record of service for working families, businesses, the elderly and children, speaks for itself.

A sincere thanks to The Times for allowing me this chance to direct my thoughts to you. I urge all of you to take the opportunity that citizenship in this country gives you: Vote in both the primary on September 15 and the general election on November 3.

the past 32 years have lived in Rocksbury township where I own a small farm.

I was class president and graduated with honors from Lincoln high school in 1953. My wife Pat and I have two sons. Kevin has an MBS degree from Moorhead State university and is employed by Yamaha. He lives in Eagan. Brad has an MS degree from Texas Tech university and is a speech pathologist (specializing in brain injury) at the University of Maryland Shock Trauma hospital in Baltimore.

Pat and I own Champeau Travel Service which Pat manages. She previously worked as a secretary/bookkeeper at the courthouse, school district and bank.

We are members of Calvary Lutheran church in St. Hilaire where I have served as council president, treasurer, Luther League advisor, Sunday school teacher and superintendent. I have been an adult 4-H leader and presently am a member of the St. Hilaire Lion's club.

I am a director of the Pennington county Fair Association and have served as president and secretary. I retired as First Sergeant after 21 years in the Minnesota National Guard. My previous work experience was at Home Lumber company, Ranum Construction company and the Minnesota Highway department. For the past 24 years I have been a self-employed building contractor.

The past eight years as county commissioner have been demanding. This year I served as board chairman. Considerable time is required to effectively serve as county commissioner. Being self-employed, I have made this time available.

I represent the board on the county agricultural extension and solid waste committees and on the Inter County Community council at [illegible].

Continuing mandates and new mandates from the State of Minnesota and decreasing property values put a real strain on the county's budget. All departments of county government and recipients of county funds must participate in budget tightening measures. Local units of government need to be always alert to ways of working together to hold down costs and efficiently serve their citizens.

The method of handling solid waste is a complex problem due to environmental concerns legislated by the state and federal government. By mandate from the State of Minnesota, the counties were made the responsible authority for handling of solid waste. I believe that separating and selling the recyclables in solid waste is, in the long term, the most economical solution. My feeling is that we can work with adjoining and similarly affected counties so that we can minimize overall costs. By handling our solid waste in this manner we can comply with state and federal regulations for air and water quality and at the same time keep the cost manageable.

Collection fees to the customer have increased with the increased cost of handling solid waste. A fair and equitable system of passing these costs to the customer needs to be worked out based on usage.

In my opinion, issues are best solved by searching out all possible alternatives, weighting them and then arriving at the best possible solution for all the people affected. I am well aware that in order for county government to operate successfully, correct decisions need to be made on the amount of dollars to be raised and how they are to be spent.

Thank-you to The Times for the opportunity to express these thoughts.

Tangquist . . .

I have served as president of the Thief River Golf Club, Lions Club, and Northland College Foundation. I have also served on several other boards such as the Chamber of Commerce, Minnesota Food Retailers, Hartz Foods and the I. B. Hartz Foundation. I am an active member of the Evangelical Covenant church serving in various offices, currently as chairman of the trustee board.

I do not consider this a political position but rather as a chance to serve rural America of which we are all a part. I realize that no one person can change the system but I plan to work within the system and make some necessary changes that would be beneficial to our state Minnesota. I would like to serve as County Commissioner at this time as I have the time to listen and research the needs of the people in my district. I would appreciate your vote for me to become your Fifth District County Commissioner.

My name is Ashok Patel, M.D. and I am an Internist who has been practicing at the Falls Clinic and Northwest Medical Center for the last five years. We are a family of four with a nine year old son and a seven year old daughter. Five years ago when I decided to go into private practice I looked at a number of opportunities and finally narrowed it down to two. One in South Dakota and the other in Thief River Falls. Having to pay no state taxes in South Dakota was very appealing, however we chose to come to Thief River Falls because one of my children had special educational needs which the school system here was better able to provide. Currently I am the Medical Director at the Falls Clinic, in charge of recruiting physicians to our Community. Recruiting physicians has become extremely difficult in the last few years. Almost invariably every physician whom I have talked to, ask about the school system and it appears to be one of the most important priorities in their decision making. There is no question in my mind that a good school system attracts much needed professionals and businesses to a community. I strongly urge you all to support the school bond issues of September 15th. All children in our district deserve the best education we can give them. This bond issue will strengthen our education system from elementary to middle school and through high school. With taxpayer assistance the cost of the local taxpayer will be just pennies a day. Please vote "YES" for better education on September 15th.

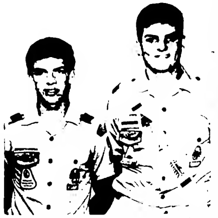
Scouts earn highest award



Chris Tveitbakk (left) and Kent Larson were recently awarded the Vigil Honor, the highest award in the Boy Scouts' Order of the Arrow. Kent was also elected Chief of the four-state Pa-Hin Lodge No. 27 and Chris was elected Vice-Chief in charge of chapters. They are both Eagle scouts and will be juniors at Lincoln high school this fall.

Two Thief River Falls Eagle Scouts, Chris Tveitbakk and Kent Larson, recently were recognized with the Vigil Honor, the highest award available in the scout organization's Order of the Arrow. Both were also elected lodge officers.

Chris is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Darryl Tveitbakk and Kent is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Larson.

Order of the Arrow is an organization affiliated with the Boy Scouts of America which recognizes those scouts who stand out in their local scout troops. If they are recognized as such, they go through a weekend ordeal at scout camp and become a member of the organization.

There are three levels of recognition in the Order of the Arrow with the Vigil Honor being the highest available. Chris and Kent were recognized as outstanding scouts and advanced to that level by other Vigil Honor members over the August 21-23 weekend at scout camp where both have been working during the summer.

Kent was elected Lodge Chief of Pa-Hin Lodge No. 27 of the Order of the Arrow, an area which includes northwest Minnesota, all of North Dakota, northeast Montana and a small portion of South Dakota.

Chris was elected Lodge Vice Chief in charge of chapters, the smaller units of the Lodge in the four state area. The youth run organization promotes camping, maintains camping traditions and is charged with providing cheerful service to others.

Larson and Tveitbakk are members of the same scout troop at St. Bernard's Catholic church and received their Eagle Scout badges at the same ceremony last October. They will be juniors this year at Lincoln high school.

Northwest Senior Federation is sponsoring a senior citizen bus trip to the Senior Options Expo to be held September 25 and 26 at the Minneapolis Convention Center.

Highlights of the trip include a talk by keynote speaker Sally Jesse Raphael, an off-broadway production, 350 exhibits, continuous seminars and a trip to the Mall of America. Cost is $120 per person double occupancy and the bus will leave September 24.

Further information is available from the federation office at 681-4507 or Bergan Travel at 681-4100 prior to September 12.

New charge on water utility bill irks residents

Many residents of Thief River Falls were surprised Tuesday when they received their utility bill. A $5.21 charge was added to that bill.

As reported by the media last month, the $5.21 charge amounts to an annual fee for water quality tests. Al Lamm, water department director, said his office had received numerous calls Tuesday after the notices were sent out. Lamm said the statement on the bill was not entirely correct.

The $5.21 annual fee covers the entire operation of the public water section of the department of health in Minnesota, which monitors the regulations promulgated by Congress.

The Safe Drinking Water Act was originally passed by Congress in 1974 and amended in 1986. The list of possible contaminant that must be monitored has grown during that time from 23 in 1974 to the current list of 83. At the same time, existing contaminant allowable levels were reduced. As an example, the allowable level for lead in drinking water has been reduced from 50 parts per billion to 10 parts per billion. This regulation alone requires 40 samples every six months for this city's water system. Additional contaminant will be added to the list every three years as the promulgation process proceeds.

During 1992, the state legislature approved a $5.21 per year fee per water connection to cover total state costs of the program. In essence, Lamm said, this is the federal government asking the state to pay for a federally mandated law.

In order to provide the laboratory personnel, testing equipment and supplies, the field monitoring and support services to public water system, the Health department had to substantially increase its budget. The legislature decided that funding was not available in the general fund and that this program should be supported by the actual users.

Lamm said he does not know what the fee will be next year or how much. This year, he added, smaller communities like Thief River Falls, are paying a smaller proportion of the total cost than the really large cities.

FAITH GIVES CREDIT TO WORK FOR OUR ENVIABLE LIFESTYLE

The work we've done has been the way
We've earned the life we live today.
The farmer with his fields of wheat
Provides the food for us to eat.
The worker in the factory
Assembles with efficiency
Each necessary home appliance
That's conceived by modern science.
Bible passages we've read
Declare that man must earn his bread;
And we've become, by this decree,
A model for the world to see.
Thus, from the way that we've progressed,
Our nation has indeed been blessed.
So on the Sabbath, go and pray,
Then celebrate on Labor Day.

ELECT....PAUL E. RASMUSSEN
District Court Judge (Weddel Seat)
Chambers in Clearwater County Courthouse, Bagley

Supported by the people of Clearwater County:

As Clearwater County Attorney, Paul Rasmussen has proven to be an aggressive and effective prosecutor. Rasmussen has joined me in promoting community crime watch and crime prevention programs. The law enforcement community here in Clearwater County is solidly behind Rasmussen in his candidacy for the Clearwater County chambered District Court Judgeship.
Denny Trandem, Clearwater County Sheriff

Paul Rasmussen was instrumental in initiating the effort to bring the D.A.R.E. program (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) to the Bagley School System. Rasmussen's anti-drug stand, his concern for our youth, and his pro-law enforcement history, make him the candidate of choice of the people of Clearwater County.
Greg Spaulding, Bagley, D.A.R.E. Officer

Paul Rasmussen has done an outstanding job for us as Clearwater County Attorney. He is active in our community and well-respected. We here in Clearwater County know Rasmussen, we trust him, and we want him to be "our" judge.
Warren C. Larson, Commissioner, District 1, Clearwater County Board

The judge currently chambered in Clearwater County spends most of his time handling the judicial business of Clearwater County. Voters in all 17 of the counties in the 9th judicial district will vote on the "Weddel seat" chambered here in Bagley. My staff and I have been working with Paul Rasmusson for several years. We find him to be courteous, professional and competent. We strongly support Rasmussen for this judgeship.

If the cable TV legislation is supposed to protect you, how come you'll end up getting soaked?

In the next few days, Congress will vote on a bill that was intended to protect you from higher cable rates.

Unfortunately, it doesn't do that.

While it started out with good intentions, it has become so overloaded with special interests, it could actually increase your cable rates.

In fact, if this law passes, your monthly bill for basic cable will go up, not down.

You have the power to stop it. But only if you act now.

Call this toll-free number to send a message to your Senators and Congressman to vote no on the cable bill.

Thanks to legislation passed in 1989, and regulatory approval in 1990, US WEST will be investing approximately $265 million annually for the next three years to improve communications systems in the state. By expanding and adding fiber optics and microwave transmission, we're providing helpful products and services like US WEST Conference Calling, Call Waiting, Market Expansion Lines and FAX capabilities.

We're also committed to expanding US WEST cellular phone operations and making access to area businesses quick and convenient through our Yellow Pages.

Free school meal process is simplified

In an effort to reduce paperwork and provide more needy children with free school meals, the Minnesota Department of Education has initiated a simplified system for certifying children eligible for free meals in the national school lunch and school breakfast programs.

Language in Public Law 101-147 allows local school districts or school food authorities to certify a child eligible for free meals without further application by directly obtaining documentation from the appropriate state or local agency from which a child currently receives food stamps or Aid to Families with Dependent Children benefits.

The Minnesota Department of Human Services has mailed one "Free School Meals Notice" per eligible child to participating families on August 11. To receive free meals or milk at school each family must bring or mail this original notice to the child's school.

If a family does not wish to receive free meals or milk for a child, nothing needs to be done with the notice. If the notice is brought to school, the child for whom the notice is received will automatically be eligible for free meals or milk and it will not be necessary to complete a free and reduced price meal or free milk application for that child. This information must be kept confidential and used only for providing free meal or milk benefits to eligible children.

If a family loses or misplaces the notice for a child it must complete an application. If a family did not receive a notice and would like to receive free or reduced price meals or free milk for their child(ren), call the local school food authority for information on how to apply for free and reduced price school meals and free milk.

Average gas prices drop since July 4

People traveling in Minnesota during the summer's last three-day holiday will find the average price of self-serve unleaded gasoline is $1.156, according to AAA Minnesota. That is almost six-cents less than it was the Fourth of July.

The average price of unleaded gas in northern Minnesota is 1.197 for self-service and 1.318 for full-service.

Ron Seigmund, AAA spokesperson, said prices are continuing to show some weakness in the retail market as there are some areas that have lower gas prices. Retail prices should hold most of their summer strength until after the Labor Day holiday.

Nationally, the average price of self-serve unleaded gasoline is $1.159 per gallon.

Of the 142 stations surveyed, 88 per cent will be open on Labor Day. Only 36 per cent will stay open 24 hours.

Plummer Cub Scouts Have Fun Summer!

"Down on the Farm" was this years day camp theme, which was held on the grounds of UMC at Crookston. Boys had first hand experience with rope-making, barn chores, cow milking, archery, b-b guns, toured through UMC barn, learned a little about horticulture, played miniature golf, arts and crafts and participated in the egg drop from the water tower at UMC. Out of 117 eggs dropped 76 survived the fall. They also learned how to brand with hot irons. There were noon time activities with remote control car demonstration with cars valued up to $1,000.00 a piece, learned water safety, and proper horsemanship. Plummer Cub Scouts who participated were Todd Willett, Joel Demarias, Jason Johnerud, Philip Zimpel, Brian Fallon, Nicholas and Benjamin Boucher, and the following parents, Becky Willett, Karen Demarias, Cathy Zimpel and Carol Boucher. These boys fulfilled various achievements toward their badges, plus received a "Down on the Farm" patch.

Joel Demarias and his father attended the Annual Mom and Me/Dad and Me campout, held at Maple Lake, along with other members from various packs throughout the northwest region. Joel and his father, Keith, set up their tent before participating in b-b guns, archery, swimming in the lake, tug-a-war, sliding down a makeshift waterslide, held a bonfire, and prepared gourmet meals daily. Joel earned his ourdoorsman badge for attending.

Summertime pack meeting was held in the park in Plummer, with a tribute to fathers, demonstrations on using a compass by Keith and Joel Demarias, where the boys searched for a hidden treasure of Hershey bars, which were later used to make s'mores over an open campfire. Boys also made first aid kits, did screening painting and learned how to build a campfire using squaw wood. The pack also opened the meeting with our new pack flag. Thanks to the hard work of Karen Demarias for sewing the flag, and helping make flags for each of the dens.

Those boys attending a four-day, three-night Webeloe camp held at Camp Wilderness in Park Rapids were Joel Demarias and Nicholas Boucher. Thanks to Wayne Stienbrink and Wayne Plencer, Pack 44, Crookston, for taking the boys with their group. They participated in campfires, games, flag ceremonies, fishing, took nature hikes, archery, and b-b guns. LETTERS

To The Editor:

Congressman Collin Peterson has worked hard for the Seventh District.

Yes, Collin Peterson has developed a reputation as a diligent, hardworking, independent thinking legislator who believes in a common sense approach to government, where hard work and leadership can solve the problems facing us.

As a member of the agriculture committee he has ensured that legislation works for farmers and not against them. He has worked hard to get price increases for dairy farmers and has already started working to shape dairy provisions of the 1995 farm bill. The bill would provide Minnesota dairymen with an increase of around 50 cents per hundredweight for their milk.

He supports raising loan rates for grain to assure a fair price for the grain farmers. Congressman Peterson voted against the GATT treaty. He feels it is more important to fix the farm bill than to create more pointless regulation which could risk lower prices to our producers and a surplus of commodities on the U.S. market.

He is the only congressman in the nation who has economic development staff people offering direct assistance to small business and communities. His staff was instrumental in getting the economic development task force started in Red Lake county.

To spur economic development, Collin introduced the Tax Equity and Anti-Recession Act and the Real Estate Recovery Act. The tax equity bill would restore the investment tax credit, reduce capital gains on real property and restore income averaging.

He supports equal access to educational opportunities and increased student loans and grants for middle class families.

Congressman Peterson has assumed a leadership role in resolving our health care crisis. He assembled a health care advisory committee made up of 55 people—doctors, nurses, administrators, therapists, nursing home operators, etc.—who helped develop comprehensive health care reform legislation. The result was legislation that controls costs and makes health [illegible] affordable rate. He opposes cutbacks in social security.

Congressman Peterson has worked hard on legislation that benefits women. He's signed on to bills that guarantee women equity in the workplace, help women start their own businesses and bills that would stiffen child support laws.

Congressman Peterson is the DFL endorsed candidate of the Seventh Congressional District.

Sincerely,
Velma Oakland
Red Lake Falls

To the Editor:

Congressman Collin Peterson recently sent a letter to northwestern Minnesotans explaining why he voted, yet again, to uphold the "gag rule" which censors health care professionals in Title X clinics. His letter contains inaccurate and misleading statements. Because there are nine Title X clinics in his district that are at risk if the "gag rule" is enforced it is important that his constituents have an accurate understanding of the facts.

The intent of the gag requires physicians, nurses, social workers and counselors in federally funded family planning clinics to withhold all abortion information from pregnant women — even information about who outside these clinics could answer their questions.

In the spring, the Department of Health and Human Services made one minor change in the enforcement plans. The implementation guidelines allow doctors, but not nurse practitioners, to discuss abortion in certain limited circumstances. But even doctors can't discuss it on the phone or give a patient information about who provides abortions.

You should know that Planned Parenthood of Minnesota's Title X clinics do not provide comprehensive counseling on abortion. We do tell women who ask where they can go to get further counseling and information. We also provide information on adoption and social services available in the area and around the state. Congressman Peterson knows this. He also knows that as health care providers we must be able to answer our patients' questions completely and honestly. If we are not allowed to do this, our ability to provide subsidized health care to 10,000 women in northwestern Minnesota is at risk.

Congressman Peterson also heard from the attorney at the Congressional Research Library that, if implemented, the doctors and nurse practitioners and other medical personnel will be gagged. Apparently he disregarded that information.

Last spring, Congressman Peterson heard from representatives of the Minnesota Medical Association, the Minnesota Nurses Association, the American Nurses Association, the American Medical Association, and the American college of Obstetricians and Gynecologists, among others, all opposed to the "gag rule."

By ignoring "gag rule" advice from doctors, nurses, lawyers and over 9,100 northwestern Minnesota women who depend on Title X clinics, Congressman Peterson has demonstrated that President Bush's voice is the only one he cares to listen to.

Sincerely,
Maureen Parkinson, President

Holen to be recognized as outstanding teacher

Dixie Holen of McIntosh will be recognized for outstanding teaching and commitment to students with learning disabilities.

Holen is one of eight teachers nationwide who will receive the award at an awards brunch, October 17 in Kansas City, MO.

Holen lives in McIntosh with her husband Dick, who owns and operates Holen's Hartz. Her daughter Tracee is a first-year student at Northland Community College this fall, pursuing a degree in special education and her son John is a student at the Win-E-Mac Junior High in Erskine.

Holen graduated from Bemidji State University with a degree in Elementary Education and an emphasis in early childhood education and psychology. Her graduate work at Moorhead State University and Bemidji State University is in learning disabilities, mild and moderate impaired and EBD.

Holen taught special education for 22 years in the McIntosh-Winger and Win-E-Mac Public Schools working with programs preschool to grade 12.

During the summers, Dixie works with the JTPA program out of Inter-County Community Council in Oklee. She teaches employability to people ages 14 to 21 who are considered at-risk by their school districts. She has two centers, one in Fosston for Fosston and Win-E-Mac students and one in Red Lake Falls for students from Oklee, Plummer and Red Lake Falls.

Swansons top DHIA

With an average daily production of 66.1 pounds of milk and 2.25 pounds of butterfat, the herd of Lyle Swanson led the Pennington County Dairy Herd Association in June, according to supervisors Mel and Randy Rasmussen.

Eighty-six per cent of the Swansons' 43-cow herd was in milk during the month.

Mark Hanson's herd was in second place with 78 per cent of the 60-cow herd in milk and averaging 64.7 pounds of milk and 1.93 pounds of butterfat.

Kelly and Gary Lundeen's herd was third in the association with 100 per cent of the 41 cows in milk and averaging 63.5 pounds of milk and 2.22 pounds of butterfat.

Other herds in the top 10 included the following with number of cows in the herd, percentage in milk, average pounds of milk and average pounds of butterfat listed respectively:

Mylo Carlson, 72, 86%, 63.5 and 2.18; Walter Bros., 116, 87%, 63.3 and 2.20; Bob Schindler, 42, 98%, 61.7 and 2.02; Tony and Sheila Salentine, 44, 100%, 56.0 and 1.96; Dale and Sherri Rupprecht (Brown Swiss), 17, 100%, 52.8 and 1.87; Leonard and Marge Geske, 45, 93%, 52.6 and 1.79; and Pearson Bros., 38, 87%, 50.5 and 1.80.

Because total production is averaged over all cows in the herd, the number of dry cows adversely affects the per-cow average, but the method gives the dairyman a record of his herd's earning power. There were 22 DHIA and three Owner-Sampler herds on test in June.

TRF school enrollment declines by 27 to 2,414

Primarily due to a decrease in the number of students attending the Area Learning Center (ALC), public school enrollment in Thief River Falls declined by 27 students this year to 2,414, compared with 2,441 a year ago.

The ALC has classes in Thief River Falls, Roseau and Warroad and all students are included in the local enrollment figures because School District 564 receives state aid for the students attending on a full-time equivalency basis.

Elementary enrollment—kindergarten through fifth grade—was down by 11 students from 1,053 last year to 1,042 this year. Franklin middle school enrollment—sixth through eighth grades—was down by 24 students from 549 to 525 while Lincoln high school increased by 31 from 693 to 724.

Opening day enrollments provide year-to-year comparisons but will vary from full-year enrollment figures. With the delay of school opening until after Labor Day, the opening day numbers are a more accurate indicator than they were when a number of students missed school due to summer's end activi-[illegible]

Kindergarten enrollment this year was 152, the smallest class in the district. Last year kindergarten enrollment was 174 and two years ago it was 185. The 185 enrolled in kindergarten in 1990 had increased to 196 in first grade last year, the largest in the district, but this year's second grade has dwindled by 18 to 178.

Next smallest class is the third grade with 164, followed by the sophomore class with 169.

Largest class in the district this year is grade 11 with 189 students, exactly the same number that enrolled as sophomores on opening day last year. Next largest is the ninth grade with 188, up by 10 from the 178 eighth graders of a year ago. There are 186 in seventh grade and 181 in first and eighth grades.

Northrop and Washington elementary schools have students in kindergarten through fifth grade this year with 289 students at Northrop and 327 at Washington. Mark Twain has 208 students in grades K-2 plus three children in special education. Knox school has 218 students in third through fifth grades plus nine in pre-school.

Decrease in enrollment this year continues a trend begun with the record high enrollment of 3,295 set 19 years ago and interrupted by slight increases the past two years. Largest decline was in 1982 when there were 176 fewer students than the previous year. Enrollment dropped another 99 students in 1983. Smallest decline during the period was a drop of seven students in 1984.

Funds short to cover losses to area's farmers

If they weren't in the field or trying to get into the field Monday, farmers were visiting with state representatives about disaster assistance. In a year when a bumper crop was predicted, the disaster looming on the horizon is not what area farmers need. To some, this would mean three out of the last five years have ended in a loss.

Congressman Collin Peterson led a group of state legislators and other interested parties on agricultural tours in the northern part of the Seventh district Friday and Monday. The fields are in a sad state, concluded Peterson.

"A lot of farmers are up against the wall with this situation," said Sen. LeRoy Stumpf.

Pennington county extension agent Howard Person said it would sure help if the sun would shine for several days, but the forecast is for more rain. Twenty to thirty per cent of the barley has sustained sprout damage, he added. Most of the wheat crop is standing or lodged in the field. There is a high moisture content to what is coming out of the fields and it needs to be dried. In addition, protein is low in the samples that have been brought in.

Bob Miller of the St. Hilaire elevator estimated that 50 per cent of the barley and oats are still in the field. By way of explaining the extent of the disaster, Miller said that wheat is now selling for $3 per bushel. With discounts due to the cost of drying, sprout damage, staining and other costs, the price is brought down to about $1.61 per bushel. That amounts to a significant loss for farmers.

The Roseau area is probably in the worst shape, Peterson said. They got a late start and some of the grain is still green. Even if they had 10 days of good weather, it would take that long to get into the field, he said.

Peterson explained that with President Bush's announcement a couple of weeks ago in South Dakota, an additional $755 million will be available for disaster assistance. Peterson said that despite the release of those funds, it will not be enough to cover expenses. With the hurricane disaster in Florida and Hawaii recently, the funds available could be diminished. Peterson said Congress could try to attach some extra aid onto the hurricane disaster bills, but it would be difficult.

Senator LeRoy Stumpf asked the 20 to 30 farmers in attendance to give them ideas or suggestions on

Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls, presented a plaque officially dedicating the hangar to Marge and Lowell Swenson. The dedication ceremony took place Sunday in the completed hangar at the regional airport.

Tech dedicates hangar to Lowell and Marge Swenson

Northwest Technical College Aviation program has experienced phenomenal growth since its inception in the 60's. On Sunday, administrators, teachers, students, former students and members of a thankful community helped celebrate that phenomenal growth by dedicating the newly constructed hangar to two of the people who helped make that growth possible — Lowell and Marge Swenson.

Northwest Technical College in Thief River Falls currently has approximately 1,000 full-time students, with more than 450 enrolled in the aviation program. While it is a highly recognized and successful program now, it took vision to see it through some tough years, according to Dr. Orley Gunderson, president.

While an education at a Minnesota technical school was a tuition-free at the start, students started to have to pay tuition in the 1970's and that threatened the continued development and growth. Marge and Lowell Swenson believed in the technical school and created a scholarship fund. Since the scholarship fund began, it has provided scholarships to over 1,000 students.

Gunderson said the scholarship was for all students, not just students in the aviation program. Even though the hangar was dedicated to the Swensons, it does not diminish their contribution to education in general, Gunderson said. "Their scholarship fund was their way of supporting northwest Minnesota and encouraging us to be more accessible to students from northwest Minnesota," Gunderson said. What is significant, he added, is that the scholarship fund was unsolicited and came from their heart.

Lowell does have an interest in aviation, he added. He's on the board of directors for Mesaba/Northwest Airlink. He also was a pilot of a bomber in World War II.

Lowell was in the pilot's seat again on Sunday as he was permitted to fly with the Confederate Air Force, which brought a B-25 bomber called "Miss Mitchell" to the dedication.

Maryel Anderson, chairman of the board for School District 564, said it was entirely appropriate that Customs station meet Fri.

Ed Goggin, assistant regional commissioner of the U.S. Customs Service, will be in Thief River Falls Friday for a meeting on extension of hours at the Lancaster customs station at 10 a.m. at the Best Western Inn.

The meeting is being hosted by the Northwest Regional Development commission and the office of Congressman Collin Peterson. Anyone interested in the expanded service at the customs station is invited to attend the meeting.

"I am pleased Assistant Commissioner Goggin will be coming from Chicago to hear first hand how important this border crossing is to the Highway 59 corridor," Rep. Peterson said. "The push for expanded hours has come from the local citizens and the regional development commission. This meeting is a direct result of those efforts."

According to local promoters of the expanded hours, a request for change of status, extended hours, additional staff and better service will be forwarded to the Department of Customs, Congress and the Department of Treasury. Copies are available from the regional development commission by calling Sandy Warner-Coltom at 681-2637.

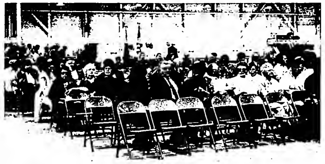
On the event of the dedication of the new hangar at the Northwest Technical College aviation school in Thief River Falls, several dignitaries expressed their congratulations to the school and Lowell and Marge Swenson. The new hangar was dedicated to the Swensons.

"Miss Mitchell" a confederate airforce B-24 bomber took off from the Thief River Falls regional airport Sunday with Lowell Swenson at the helm. Behind the airplane is the new hangar at the airport which was dedicated to Lowell and Marge Swenson.



About 200 to 300 people attended the dedication ceremony Sunday at the Northwest Technical College aviation school. Dr. Orley Gunderson, president of the school estimated that about 1,000 people visited the airport in Thief River Falls that day.

the hangar he dedicated to the Swensons. Anderson referred to not just their contributions to the aviation program, but to education in Thief River Falls.

A parade of local and area dignitaries also thanked the Swensons for their contribution, and congratulated the school on their achievement. Among those attending the celebration Sunday were Thief River Falls Mayor Robert Reeve, Chamber of Commerce Executive Vice President Bob Bergan, Senator LeRoy Stumpf, Representative Wally Sparby, Stan Melling, manager for the air bus base development for Northwest Airlines, John Hitchcock, aviation student and PAMA president, and Dr. Ray Cross, chief executive officer for Northwest Technical College.

Sen. Stumpf thanked the Swenson's for their generosity. There are so many things to be thankful for, he said — the Kiwanis for breakfast, pilots and mechanics, Civil Air Patrols from Thief River Falls and Bemidji, the State of Minnesota, the Boy Scouts, Brian Barth, Sheriff Bob Wold, the American Legion Post 117 and the city of Thief River Falls, the administration and instructors and many others. They all worked together to make this hangar project a reality and this event a success.

"We have a lot to be proud of and thankful for," he said, "including taxpayers. It is really your building," he said to the audience of about 200 people at the airport.

Mayor Reeve said it was special and fitting to recognize the Swensons. He said it is also fitting to recognize the number of people who had to work together to accomplish this project.

Rep. Wally Sparby, who was chairman of the board of education in Thief River Falls at the time, Lowell came forward to provide assistance to the students, said he had no idea how big that commitment would be.

Lowell Swenson was in the pilot's seat of a B-24 called "Miss Mitchell" Sunday. The new hanger at the Northwest Technical College aviation school was dedicated Sunday to Lowell and Marge Swenson. After the dedication, Lowell climbed aboard the B-24. Swenson was a bomber pilot in World War II.

Sparby also congratulated the administration but charged the them to think about the future. "We must try to do better as we move into the next phase," he said. Aviation has a great future, he said. Sparby said he believes the industry and school will prosper but it will take vision.

The college has submitted a request to the Minnesota Legislature for the construction of another hangar and a second story classroom addition.

Funds short to cover farm crop losses

how the government and the farmers can get through this together. It will be important to help each other, he said.

But Rep. Wally Sparby said the federal government needs to take a broader look at the problem. Sparby criticized the administration's farm program and handling of the disaster. This is not the answer, he said.

One of the suggestions he had was a broad-based insurance program. Congressman Peterson agreed, stating that he had offered the same ideas in Congress, but his ideas had met with opposition from representatives of Southern states and big corporations.

Rep. Sparby had another suggestion for government agents during this difficult period. Sparby asked that they be compassionate and tolerant.

One comment at the meeting held in the city auditorium came from an individual who asked that they get rid of some of the red tape. Peterson and others agreed with the request, but said the only way of changing the farm bill will be to get a new administration in office.

Disaster assistance has limitations and farmers are asked to contact their ASCS office for details. A summary fact sheet handed out Monday touched on a few of the questions being asked.

The sign up period is October 13, 1992 through February 1, 1993, but there may be some changes. The minimum loss requirement is 35 per cent of normal yield for producers with crop insurance, or 40 per cent for all others. For producers participating in the farm program, if advance deficiency payments were issued, the producer may keep the portion on lost production up to the 35 per cent or 40 per cent threshold.

For losses in excess to the minimum, a producer would receive 65 per cent of the target price for program crops or the five year average for non-program crops. However, because the appropriated amount did not meet the need in the last round of disaster assistance, the amounts were pro-rated.

On October 13 the county ASCS offices should have materials available. They will be able to respond to any questions.

Wayne Herman quietly rises to professional rodeo's elite

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

Wayne Herman exudes a quiet confidence as he goes about his business—which is being one of the best bareback bronc riders in professional rodeo. He makes his living trying to keep his tailbone centered for eight seconds on contrary horses that have a distinct preference for his absence.

The 28-year-old Dickinson, ND, cowboy—who started riding when he was 14 and turned professional at 20—has bested most of them. He has qualified for the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas for the past seven years, including this one, and won the championship there last year. In all but one of the seven years—when he broke his leg and was out of action from February to July—he has finished in the top five in the world.

He placed fourth in 1986, 15th in 1987 when he broke his leg, third in 1988, fourth in 1989, fifth in 1990, second in 1991 and "...in '92 I'm gonna win it."

He laughed at his prediction as though he had surprised himself by bringing his competitive nature out in the open. He answers questions straight forward and honestly but he is careful not to seem too proud or boastful. His success speaks for him.

Herman had registered for the TRF Stampede but hadn't expected to ride here when we talked to him by phone earlier in the week. He said it didn't appear too likely because he and his partner Ken Lensegrav of Rapid City, SD, were planning to rodeo together elsewhere. But he drew too good a horse to pass up the opportunity to ride in Thief River Falls, and ride he did.

At the time of his ride here on which he scored 77 points and tied for second place, earning $698.65 in prize money, he was in second place in the world standings. His partner was in first place, about [illegible]

Herman had won the Minnesota state fair rodeo bareback riding Friday night in St. Paul, scoring 79 points on a 25-year-old horse. He had placed at Huron, SD, Saturday and rode here Sunday night before moving on to Hastings, NE.

Herman makes a habit of staying aboard the horses he draws. His consistency is what keeps him in the top five year after year and makes him a force to be reckoned with wherever he rides. And his abilities pay dividends.

Last year his official winnings totaled $106,000—only $1,000 short of the world championship. He earned $56,000 of that amount at the National Finals where each cowboy performs once a day for 10 consecutive days. He placed in six of the 10 go-rounds and won the overall average. First place pays $10,800 per round.

"It was really close last year," he said. "What it came down to was if any one of four guys had scored one point different on 10 horses, he would have won the world championship."

Herman is helped in his rodeo competition through a sponsorship by McDonald's which provides him with much of what he needs for travel and entry fees. His riding shirt is a bright red with the familiar golden arches logo on front and sleeve. Sponsors made rodeo possible for many of the competitors who must travel to well over 100 rodeos a year.

Organizers of the TRF Stampede considered it a feather in their hat to attract cowboys of Herman's quality. There were former world champions in several events who competed here as well. And Herman was generous in his praise of the first year event.

"For a local rodeo the people here did a good job of adding money to attract good competition," he said. "Adding $2,000 per event or $12,000 in total is a sizeable amount."

Herman said that the prize money is the first thing that PRCA cowboys look at when they consider entering a rodeo. Second would be the quality of the stock and third would be the timing and dates. In his case this year, the money available and the chance to score well on a tough horse prompted him to opt for this rodeo instead of another.

"There is a difference between professional and amateur rodeos," the bareback rider said, "and that is nothing against amateur rodeo. But to see the difference people should go to a good rodeo, like this one."

Popularity of rodeo seems to be increasing, he said, although it is being attacked by animal rights activists. And he noted that there seem to be more good athletes in rodeo now than in prior years with more specializing in specific events. He said rodeo is the number one professional spectator sport in the United States.

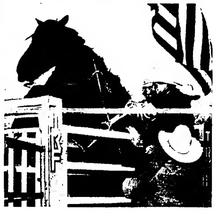
It isn't just a story that professional cowboys are a closely-knit fraternity, he said. They willingly share their knowledge about the habits of the animals they know and they will help one another out when the need arises—whether it's the loan of a rigging or a ride to the next rodeo.

Asked to what extent he gets bucked off, he said it would range from none to a couple of times a year. After a bit of afterthought, he suggested that the number be changed to up to five a year. So far this year he had failed to complete a ride only twice, he said.

With all his travel to rodeos, he doesn't have much time at home with his wife Connie and their 10-year-old son Justin. On occasion they will travel to a rodeo together and this year they expect to spend the 10 days of the National Finals in Las Vegas.

Point totals for the year (a point is earned for each dollar won at PRCA sanctioned rodeos such as the TRF Stampede) are tallied as of the November 1 cut-off date and the National Finals are held in December. Part of that rodeo is televised on ESPN. Herman expects to be in the running (or make that bucking) for a world title there this year. We hope he wins, and comes back to the TRP Stampede next year as a world champion.

On his way to a 77-point ride and tie for second place in the TRF Stampede bareback bronc riding is Wayne Herman of Dickinson, ND. He earned $698.65 in prize money for his eight-second ride.



"Joe Kool," Wayne Herman's horse for bareback competition at the TRF Stampede, loses his cool and tries to climb out of the bucking chute. Herman and the horse both escaped injury in the incident.

Standing at the bucking chutes prior to his competition, Wayne Herman concentrates on the rough eight-second-plus ride ahead.

Easing down onto the back of the horse he has drawn, Wayne Herman prepares for his bareback ride at the TRF Stampede Sunday night, September 6.

Speaking Of . . .

. . . Trying to be an Informed Voter is Not an Easy Task, But . . . I Did It!

Saturday it dawned on me that I would be voting in a primary election Tuesday (today). What with all that had been happening in my life over the past couple of months, I realized I was very ignorant of the candidates and issues involved in the election.

I knew that the upcoming primary was a very important one, what with the school bond issue and all of the candidates running for county commissioner positions, notwithstanding all of the other important positions, and I decided that I needed information right away so that I go to the polls as an "informed voter."

I began digging through my old issues of The Times, and imagine my surprise when I found just what I needed in the most recent September 8 issue! I settled right down and got to work on getting informed.

I was glad to see that many of the county commissioner candidates had opinions and information published in the newspaper. In this neck of the woods, the county commissioners have a lot of clout and it is very important for us to choose capable people for the positions. I feel we must choose our county commissioner candidates just as carefully as we do our city council members.

I needed to know how those candidates felt about issues specifically relevant to me, and what issues were going to be important to them, so I could vote for the people I feel will best represent me. I read what each and every candidate had to say, then made my choices.

On I went to choose some judges. I knew some of the names, but I knew nothing about several of those ladies and gentlemen who were running for the judgeships, so I really needed to get informed about them.

You and I know that judges have a very responsible role in our society, and how important it is to choose a man or woman who will be fair and impartial. After all, who ever heard of a judge getting fired if he or she wasn't doing his job properly? Who would do the firing, anyway?

So, to get back to the subject, I read up on all of the judge candidates and decided on some that I think will be super duper at the judging job. I just hope I can remember the names of the ones I chose to vote for and don't get their names mixed up with the ones I absolutely do not want to vote for.

On to choose my representative in Congress. Oh, what a chore this was going to be! No matter whether Democrat or Republican, there must be a decision.

I read each and every word written by the two candidates for my party, then backtracked and read the opinions of all four candidates on issues pertaining particularly to me, because, after all, I have been known to vote for the best man (or woman) for the job instead of just for the political party.

After much deliberation and debate, I finally picked one of the four. I'm sure I picked the best one.

Then I came to the most difficult decision of all – how to vote on the school bond issue. Yes, I have one child and one grandchild in the public school system in our fair city. But, yes, I also pay property taxes.

How to vote, how to vote. I did manage to read much of the literature on the new school that has been published previously, heard some of the radio announcements and interviews concerning it, and read several of the letters to the editor and editorial on the proposed new school.

Armed with my little tidbits of knowledge picked up previously, as well as opinions from everyone I could manage to get one out of, and what I learned from the September 8 Times, I decided how I would vote.

I don't plan on telling you how I voted on the school bond issue or who I voted for in the other races. I'll keep that to myself. I'll just tell you that I feel I made the best decision I could make on the school, and voted for the very best men and/or women for the jobs.

The important thing about today was, I got myself informed, albeit rather quickly, got myself to the polls, and made my choices known. That is the important thing! I really hope you did the same.

And for those of you who didn't vote today, please don't let me hear you griping about the election results. You have no one to blame but yourself.

As I write this column, we are once again faced with upcoming elections. When you read this column, the elections will be taking place or will have taken place.

As I become older elections give me a sense of fear. When I was a young voter I voted simply because I was allowed to vote and it was the right thing to do. Now that I am older and I have voted in a few elections, I realize the importance each vote has.

We live in a land where we, the citizens of the land, are guaranteed the right to vote. Many of us exercise that right. I hope to do so in this election as I have in past elections. Yet, even though we vote, we tend to assume that our vote doesn't really count. We use the excuse that the elections are really already decided in the meetings surrounding the nominations of persons to office.

I have seen how significant one vote can be. I have seen how the result of an election affects the people who are governed. I have seen lives changed because of election results. So also have you.

I am not an expert in politics, but the experts can tell us how the outcome of Presidential elections have shaped not only our country, but also the world. The outcome of state congressional elections also have far reaching effects. We help shape our planet when we exercise our right to vote.

Affecting the world and our country may not seem too real to us, though, as we vote in our local polling places. Voting with our neighbors doesn't cause us to necessarily think about the far reaching affects of our lone vote.

The local issues at stake in an election are what cause us to realize the affect of our vote. At election time when local issues are on the ballot we tend to stop and think before we vote. How we vote can affect us personally. How we vote can affect our children and grandchildren. How we vote can affect our neighborhoods and our businesses. Local issues make our vote personal. We are no longer voting for some person who can impact the world; we are instead voting for persons and issues who will personally impact our small part of this world.

In local elections, fates of towns and families are decided. In local elections, fates of schools are decided. Local elections are preceded usually with a variety of pros and cons. Our small part of the world can seem in disarray as neighbors try to persuade neighbors to vote a certain way. Tempers can flare between friends before local elections. But, then comes the moment of voting when each individual, no matter what persuasion he is, exercises his or her right to vote – privately. Elections are the only way to truly discover the feeling of the majority. In the privacy of the voting booth, we each are given the opportunity to make decisions. We need not share our decision with anyone. Our vote counts and it is private.

Our family moved to Thief River Falls in 1984 because of the negative result of a school election in the town in which we were living. The lives of our children, if we had continued to live there, would have been vastly disrupted by an archaic school schedule because of the lack of funding to finance a new school to replace the condemned school. Our lives have been forever changed by the result of that election. The vote margin was minimal – yet that minimal lose, repeated 4 times – had personal impact on not only our family, but many families of that school district. The votes counted. Lives were impacted.

Because I see the immense changes my family has personally faced because of a needed reaction to an election, I go to vote with fear and trembling. I know that my vote does count. I know that my vote can affect my family as well as other families. I know that I need to be informed on the issues so that I can vote intelligently. I pray that as we each vote, we do vote with the knowledge that our votes are important enough to impact lives around the world as well as here in our small part of the world.

Don't forget to vote. Your vote does count. Vote intelligently and informed.

WORKERS COMP. vs. EMPLOYER'S LIABILITY

Work Comp. coverages apply under Section A of the Workers Comp policy. Insurance applies to bodily injury by accident or disease, including death. Bodily injury by disease must be caused or aggravated by the conditions of the employment. Benefits to the employee are set at the Statutory limits as required under the state's workers comp. law.

Employer's liability coverages apply under Section B of the Worker's Comp policy. The basic limits are set at $100,000, but this figure can be increased for an additional premium. Section B also provides liability coverage for the employer for injuries that the employee has sustained which are not subject to the work. comp. law, but fall under common law. (Common law is an unwritten law developed from case decisions based on custom and procedent.) Two defenses that can be used to defeat an injured worker's suit against his employer in the absence of the work. comp. law are: 1- contributory negligence, and 2- assumption of risk. Employer's liability also includes damages for which the employer is liable to a third party as a result of injury to the employee. Such damages could include Care and Loss of Services to a spouse or child of the injured employee.

Bullfighter Pierce's creed: "Why Be Normal?"

By Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

[illegible] first full year of professional bullfighting, 26-year-old James Pierce of Thibodaux, LA, is living up to his personal creed: "Why be normal?"

But while he admits to having been a bit of a crazy kid in his younger days and pursuing a profession to which not everyone aspires, he is totally serious about his role in the rodeo arena.

"I learned to fight bulls for the bullriders," he says simply. "I'd like to stay ranked in the top 10 (he was fifth in the Wrangler bullfighting competition when hired to work the TRF Stampede September 4, 5 and 6) because it helps me to get work, but I'd rather have a bullrider come over and say thanks than have a championship ranking."

You don't have to talk to Pierce long to know what he's saying is no bull.

"My goal is to be in rodeo for the long run," he said, "so I don't do too many foolhardy things. If I have to take a hookin' to keep a cowboy from gettin' a hookin', that's my job. That's what I get paid for. But if I can keep both of us healthy that's all the better because we can both work tomorrow."

Pierce explained that there is a difference between protecting cowboys during bullriding events and earning points in the Wrangler bullfighting competition for ranking. He said there are about 60 sanctioned Wrangler events during the year at which professional bullfighters compete. There are no bullriders involved—just the bull and the bullfighter for 40 to 70 seconds of one-on-one.

"You need to compete in at least 21 of the competitions to qualify," Pierce said. "You can't enter more than 42 because that gives more bullfighters a chance. I'll probably go to about 30 this year.

"The top six bullfighters in the rankings compete at the National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, NV. But the two bullfighters who work the bullriding events at the National Finals and one alternate are voted into those spots by the 20 top bullriders in the world rankings."

Pierce said he is on the offense in bullfight competition but on the defense when cowboys are riding for points. He described it as the difference between being a quarterback and a middle linebacker. You try to control the bull in the bullfighting; you try to keep it from controlling you when a cowboy needs help or protection.

Last year was Pierce's initiation year and he worked five rodeos. This is considered his rookie year and he said he has been fortunate to have a lot of bookings. in the three months before coming to Thief River Falls he had only been home seven days in three months while working at rodeos from Michigan to California.

Pierce is married and he and his wife Marjorie have two daughters, Kaycee Cheyenne, age four and Trinity Christian, age 19 months. Marjorie is the assistant manager of a drug store in Thibodaux.

James said his father was a bullrider on an amateur basis and was farm manager for Nicholl State University in Louisiana. The elder Pierce quit bullriding because of a bullfighter who didn't do his job.

James said he was raised around livestock at the university farm and tried riding one kind or another from the time he was a youngster. in high school rodeo he was a bullrider with fair success.

Surprisingly, it was a horse rather than a bull that changed the direction of his career. He was thrown from a saddle bronc in 1984, broke his collarbone and it took a year and a half to mend. Not wanting to leave the world of rodeo, he decided to try bullfighting and did his first practicing with one arm in a sling.

In 1985 he was voted by the bullriders of the Tri-State Rodeo association as rookie bullfighter of the year. But riding bulls still appealed to him and he tried that on a professional basis, quitting in June last year after splitting his liver. It was back to utilizing his skills in front of bulls instead of on top of them.

"They used to tell me down home that I could run pretty fast for a white boy," he quipped. He played a little football in high school, did some pole-vaulting in track and worked on the rings in gymnastics. Local rodeo fans saw his quickness, even in the quagmire during Sunday night's downpour.

Pierce said one of his challenges has been to overcome a lot of first year jitters. He said part of the answer has been to take time to try to analyze the situation, to calm down and pace himself to keep from getting too psyched up and losing control.

"It's a lot of mental preparation," he said. "I do a lot of thinking when I'm driving to rodeos, and I do a lot of driving. Because I'm at a rodeo for every performance and the cowboys are there for just one, I have to do a lot of traveling by myself. There isn't much chance to pair up for travel."

Pierce said there are a couple of rodeo contractors in his area and he goes out and works in the "practice pen." This is where the young bulls and the young riders and bullfighters meet for a few hours and the crowd is mostly family of other participants. Pierce works there with aspiring bullfighters.

"I'll help anyone who is serious about it," he said. "But if someone is out there just to impress the girlfriend, I tell 'em to get out."

Pierce has tried other things than rodeo. He went to college "for two semesters, two weeks and two days too many" and he was a welder on off-shore oil rigs. He isn't boastful about quitting college; he just found out that it wasn't for him. But he remained hooked on rodeo.

"I tell kids to get hooked on rodeo, not drugs," Pierce said. "I may have been a little crazy as a kid but I never tried drugs. I was scared of what I might do. Kids need to pick out a good role model and be their own leaders."

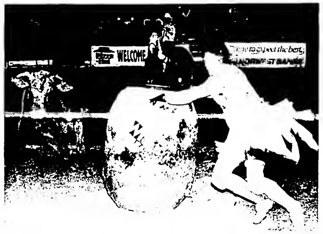
At 145 pounds, Pierce doesn't carry any extra weight into the arena. He wears pads to protect himself from some of the scrapes and bruises. His clown face is part of the role, but he views his role as too serious to be funny. The [illegible] do double duty as a costume and to attract the bulls' attention away from fallen cowboys.

He takes pride in a recommendation given by champion bullrider David Fournier: "A good man that has the talent, guts and experience," Fournier wrote. "He is the bullrider's type of bullfighter (a lifesaver) with all the credentials of a great bullfighter. All he needs now is the place—a chance."

James Pierce is making the most of his chance this year. After all, "Why be normal?"

Clown make-up is part of the performance, but rodeo bullfighting is serious business. James Pierce says he isn't a funny person and doesn't try to be. "I'm there to protect the bullriders," he said. "Maybe I'll try to learn more about clowning later."

Bullfighter James Pierce of Thibodaux, LA, relaxes at his motel in Thief River Falls prior to the final night of the three-day TRF Stampede Sunday, September 6. The 26-year-old turned professional bullfighter after first trying professional bullriding.



Quick feet and a knowledge of bulls keeps James Pierce healthy while he protects PRCA bullriders from being trampled or gored by bulls. Here he uses the barrel to provoke and then fend off the charge of one of the bulls at the TRF Stampede.

Warning letters sent to liquor license holders

Warning letters will be sent to all liquor license holders in Thief River Falls; bids on the golf course came back much higher than anticipated; and, an assessment hearing on sidewalks is being planned.

Thief River Falls city council met Tuesday evening. One of the items on the agenda was a recommendation to send a warning letter to all liquor license holders in Thief River Falls.

The warning is a result of an incident at the VFW club in Thief River Falls. During an investigation of an assault that allegedly took place at the VFW, officers learned that a 19-year-old youth had been served alcohol by bartenders.

Police Chief Ken Froschheiser requested a meeting with VFW club representatives in front of the city's public safety committee. A result of that meeting was a recommendation to the council to send a letter of warning to all liquor license holders in the community. A warning letter to all license holders is the typical response following an offense such as this, which is not preceded by other violations.

The council approved the recommendation to send a warning letter to all license holders.

Tom Kays, a representative of the Thief River Falls Golf Club, explained to the council Tuesday night that bids on the irrigation system for the new nine-holes and current nine-hole golf course, were opened a week ago. The lowest bids were within $500 of each other, but bids came in much higher than anticipated. The original estimate on the irrigation system was about $230,000.

Kays said club representatives are still studying the bids and will come back in two weeks with a recommendation.

An assessment hearing on the 1992 street and sidewalk improvement project is being scheduled for 7 p.m. October 13. The hearing alerts citizens to the cost of the project and allows them an opportunity to express any concerns about the cost or how the project was conducted. Property owners along project areas will receive a notice of the hearing. This hearing is not for the Highway 32 project.

The on-again-off-again airport runway improvement project is on-again, but it looks like it will begin during the next construction season. The city council will issue a notice of award to the general contractor, but because of the lateness of the season, the project probably won't begin until next year. Part of the project includes a parking lot for the Northwest Technical College aviation program. That part of the project is still expected to be completed this fall. The contractor will also take steps to ensure that the runway surface is safe.

The city council has approved a resolution of support for a constitutional amendment that would dedicate two cents of the sales tax to property tax relief. The city of Thief River Falls now joins at least 16 other communities who have passed similar resolutions of support for a constitutional amendment.

In other business, the council: approved a request to re-zone properties in Noper's third addition from R-2 general residential to R-4 multi-family residential district; approved request to re-zone property next to Gene's Mobil from C-4 to C-3 so that a garage could be constructed for the purpose of storing vans for Metz Baking; approved a variance request on rear-yard setback for the same property; approved a right-of-way easement near the airport; approved a request to re-allocate fees for the Water Treatment plant project; approved the appointment of Clayton Restad to replace Arnt Aune on the Greenwood Cemetery commission.

Prowlers hold off Pirates to win home opener 14-7

[illegible] quarter [illegible] Friday at [illegible] Pirates 14-7 [illegible]

[illegible] game at [illegible] opener [illegible] game [illegible]. They opened [illegible] 21-7 loss at Detroit [illegible] face consecutive [illegible] Wadena-Deer Creek, [illegible] Park Rapids Area.

[illegible] a big game for us," [illegible] River Falls coach Jeff [illegible] needed to come out of [illegible] games 1-1. I thought [illegible]. We didn't have [illegible] as far as intensity [illegible] they came out [illegible] football."

[illegible] defense. The [illegible] up just 50 yards on [illegible] 140 total for the [illegible] offense generated [illegible] came from quarterback [illegible] Sims, who was [illegible] for 21 [illegible] yards. But he was often [illegible] and sacked [illegible] times.

And the defense [illegible] offensively when [illegible] recovered a Crookston fumble at the Pirates 24-yard line late in the first quarter, setting up a 2-yard touchdown dive by sophomore fullback Brian Howe on a fourth-down try two plays into the [illegible] quarter. Barry Rhineberger tied it 7-7 with the conversion kick.

Thief River Falls went ahead in the final seconds of the first half when the Prowlers finished off a 7-play, 66-yard drive with a 14-yard Jason Svir to Rick Ostby touchdown pass.

After forcing a Crookston punt, Thief River Falls took over at the Prowlers 34-yard line with just 1:54 remaining in the half. Going with seven straight passes in a battle against the clock, Svir started the drive with an 18-yarder to Marc Haugen. Three plays later a short Svir-to-Haugen toss turned into a 31-yard gain when the receiver broke away from a would-be Crookston tackler at the 45 and [illegible] was finally hauled [illegible]

[illegible] Mumm. "I [illegible] but if we keep having [illegible] like that, I might have to change the playbook."

Rhineberger [illegible] the scoring with his second extra point kick of the night.

Lone Crookston touchdown came on the game's first possession when the Pirates went 59 yards in 16 plays, thanks in part to three first down producing penalties assessed the Prowlers. The touchdown came on a fourth-and-goal call when Sims hit Mike Shimpa across the middle from seven yards out. Cory Strem's conversion made it 7-0 with 6:12 gone.

That was the only Crookston touchdown of the night, but far from the Pirates' only scoring threat. They reached the Thief River Falls 26 and 8 yard lines in the game's final 8:12 minutes, only to come up empty handed in the scoring column against the Prowlers defense.

"We had our backs against the wall a lot at the end, but the defense came through," mentioned Mumm.

Most controversial situation of the night occurred when the Prowlers were flagged for a pass interference call on a third and 18 play from the Thief River Falls 37 with 8:54 to play. The officials marched off the 15-yard penalty from the spot of the foul, putting the ball at the 12 – producing a 25-yard penalty. Mumm and his coaching staff argued long and hard that high school pass interference should be marked from the line of scrimmage, not the spot of the foul.

Their persistence won out as the officials called time, went to the car and produced a rule book that did in fact back up the Prowlers' protest. Net result: a first down at the 22 instead of the 12.

A Sims pass to Jeremy Peterson produced a first down at the 10, but moments later a Carter Regalla interception ended the threat at the 7.

Crookston held, forced a Thief River Falls punt and had another threat at the Prowlers 31 with 6:01 showing. The Pirates got to the 26 on first down, but two sacks and a penalty left them punting from the 42 with 3:11 to play.

However, the Prowlers were unable to run out the clock, losing the ball on a second down fumble at the 29 with 2:45 still remaining.

Sims and Peterson turned a fourth-and-10 into a first down at the Thief River Falls 8 with a 21-yard completion over the middle with 2:10 left.

But that threat ended on four straight incompletions, and the Pirates didn't get the ball back until a Thief River Falls punt to near midfield with just 26 seconds to go.

Thief River Falls wound up with 96 yards rushing, spread out among six backs as Kevin Johnson netted 31 yards on [illegible] carries [illegible] and Haugen [illegible] in 14 attempts.

"Offensively we still have some wrinkles to work out, but I thought our offensive line did a much better job than last week," said Mumm.

While Crookston netted only 50 yards on the ground as a team, the Pirates' Paul Johnson carried 21 times for 61 yards.

Volleyball Boosters

Organizational meeting of the Thief River Falls Spike Down Volleyball Boosters Club will be held Thursday, Sept. 17, in the Lincoln High School cafeteria – following the Prowlers vs. Bemidji high school volleyball varsity match that night.

All parents of elementary, middle school and high school volleyball players, along with other volleyball fans in the community, are urged to attend the meeting.

For additional information, contact Judy Dimich at 681-1088.

Thief River Falls Amateur Hockey Association will have a general membership meeting Monday, Sept. 21, at 7 p.m. in the basement meeting room of the city auditorium.

Weight room open

Lincoln High School weight room is open to the public from 6 to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. Saturdays, reported weight room supervisor Jeff Mumm.

There is a $1 fee per visit, which will be collected by the supervisor on duty at the time.

Thief River Falls head coach Jeff Mumm (right) and assistant Gary Laidlay listened as the officials tried to explain their side of a penalty situation during Friday's high school football game against Crookston at Prowler Field. The Thief River Falls coaches won out on this occasion, successfully arguing that a pass interference call against the Prowlers should be marked 15 yards from the line of scrimmage, not from the spot of the foul, which was what the officials had marked off. The difference meant the Pirates got the ball at the Thief River Falls 22 instead of the 12. Four plays later an interception at the 7-yard line preserved the Prowlers' 14-7 fourth quarter lead – the final score in Thief River Falls' 1992 home opener.

Pioneers win 3-1 volleyball opener

A first-game rally did not produce a win, but did get Northland Community College going Monday night and the Pioneers went on to beat UND-Lake Region 15-17, 15-9, 15-9, 15-7 in a season-opening volleyball match at Devils Lake, ND.

The Royals started with a 14-3 lead in Game 1 before the Pioneers' Jill Brand served 12 straight points to produce a brief 15-14 lead.

Northland could not finish that first-game comeback, but the Pioneers did continue their inspired play to take the next three games.

"We started to do the things we knew we could do," pointed out Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "It was a very good team effort. We had very good communication, we passed the ball very well, and we did a good job serving."

Jacobson said the Northland roster has been altered because of an injury suffered by Missy Taggart and a class credit shortage for Ranada Erickson. The two sophomore transfers will not be with the Pioneers this fall, but Jacobson has added freshman setter Cindy Carlson of Karlstad to the roster.

A busy first-week schedule for Northland will find the Pioneers at Grand Rapids Wednesday for the 4 p.m. Itasca Quadrangular, at International Falls Friday for a 6 p.m. dual against Rainy River, and at Crookston Saturday for the 9 a.m. UMC Invitational.

Wadena-Deer Creek will be a new TRF opponent

A first-time opponent awaits Thief River Falls Friday when the Prowlers take on Wadena-Deer Creek in a 7:30 p.m. Section 8A high school football game at Wadena.

The Wolverines are 0-2, falling to Pine River-Backus 20-8 in their 1992 opener, then losing to Bertha-Hewitt 14-6 last week.

Thief River Falls is 1-1 – bouncing back from a disappointing 21-2 season-opening loss at Detroit Lakes with a 14-7 home field victory over Crookston Friday.

In other results for Section 8A teams over the weekend, Fergus Falls got by Orono 14-8, Detroit Lakes shut out Park Rapids 24-0, East Grand Forks blanked Staples 27-0, Perham lost to Dilworth-Glyndon-Felton 19-6 and Little Falls defeated Alexandria 29-6.

Blue Devils stop Wildcats 6-0

Both teams moved the football, but the only scoring came on an 11-yard first quarter run by Jason Grandstrand Friday night as Goodridge/Grygla edged Tri-County 6-0 in a key early-season Top of the State Conference Nine-Man high school football showdown at Karlstad.

Tri-County was tabbed as one of the top contenders to challenge the Goodridge/Grygla Top of the State Conference title reign this fall, but the defending Section 8 champion Blue Devils, who beat Valley North 36-6 to start the year, are off to a 2-0 start.

The winners finished with 210 yards on 61 rushing attempts, including a 94-yard game on 24 carries by Grandstrand, and an 84-yard night on 19 carries for Scott Rindahl. But they never mounted another serious scoring threat after picking up that early touchdown.

"We moved the ball, but we couldn't finish," said Goodridge/Grygla coach Darwin Hagen, whose team was 0-for-5 in the passing department – including several dropped balls.

Tri-County, after going without a first down and netting just 12 yards worth of offense in the first half, had success moving the ball in the second half, but watched two first-and-goal opportunities slip away on a pair of Rindahl pass interceptions in the end zone.

"We're really happy with the win," Hagen. "We really didn't know what to expect going into the game, but the kids did a real nice job, especially on defense in the first half. Later, it seemed like we were able to come up with the big play on defense when we needed it."

Grandstrand led the Blue Devils with seven tackles from his cornerback position, while linebacker Aaron Miller and lineman Eldon Quam also earned post-game recognition from Hagen.

Goodridge/Grygla will have an open date this week. The Blue Devils return to action Saturday, Sept. 26, with a 7 p.m. game at Argyle.

Scoring

	1	2	3	4	T
Goodridge/Grygla	0	0	0	0	6

G/G - Jason Grandstrand, 11-yard run; run failed.

Crookston receiver Aaron Schanck held on to the ball for a 7-yard gain on a pass from quarterbackback Steve Sims in front of Thief River Falls defender Wade Evenson in the first half of Friday's high school football game at Prowler Field.

Prowlers finish 2-2 at Roseau Invitational

Championship trophy at the Roseau Invitational high school volleyball trophy never left the gym Saturday as the host Rams put together a title-winning 4-0 day.

Roseau beat Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, Kittson County North and Tri-County in round-robin Pool A play, then stopped Blackduck 2-0 in the championship match.

Second place Blackduck reached the finals with wins over Warroad, Thief River Falls and Steinbach, Manitoba in round-robin Pool B play.

The Prowlers were 2-2 for the day. They beat Warroad and Steinbach, but lost to Blackduck in Pool B play, then fell to Badger-Greenbush/Middle River 2-0 in the third place match.

"It was a good tournament," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "It was a chance to play a lot of volleyball, and to try different things."

Thief River Falls	2
Warroad	1

Jamie Martell finished with 10 last-touch points and 13 service points as Thief River Falls held off Warroad 15-3, 9-15, 15-12.

"We started out very strong, then we had to work for the points the rest of the way," said Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "Jamie Martell and Allison Myers had strong performances for us."

TRF Scoring

■ Last-touch/service points - Jamie Martell 10/13, Ali Peterson 9/7, Kelly Skeim 7/3, Allison Myers 6/1, Nessa Anderson 4/5, Kristen Boughton 3/5, Carla Lawrence 4/0, Kendra Dimich 2/5

Blackduck	2

Hard-hitting Blackduck kept Thief River Falls on defense most of the match as the Drakes knocked off the Prowlers 17-15, 15-3.

"I was very pleased with our defense," noted Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "They hit a lot of hard shots at us. But with only one kill for the match, it showed we played defense most of the time. We've got to start hitting the ball every chance we get, or we will be forced to play defense all the time."

Pioneers open with win

■ Northland football team beats Fergus Falls 20-9

Gene Klinke was a member of the very first Northland Community College football team back in 1976, a team that made its debut with a 7-2 win over Fergus Falls.

Saturday, Klinke was back on the sidelines as the first-year Northland head coach. Again the opponent was Fergus Falls, and again Klinke was on the winning side as the Pioneers opened the 1992 season with an impressive 20-9 victory over the host Spartans.

Northland combined an outstand- [illegible] opening kicking game to back up Klinke's preseason optimism.

"I'm ecstatic," said Klinke. "To win on the road, under a new coach...it was great. The kids played an excellent game. Defensively we shut them down. Our offensive line played extremely well, and our kicking game was outstanding."

The kickers – Sheldon Hinton, a freshman from Edmonton, Alberta, and Brian Lambert, a sophomore transfer from Fort Myers, Florida, produced a highlight film by themselves.

Hinton put the Pioneers ahead early with a 23-yard field goal, later added a school-record 45-yarder, and tacked on a pair of conversion kicks. The 6-2, 263-pounder also made noise as a runningback by netting 114 yards on 25 carries.

Myers, who is in line to become a Florida State recruit, had an eye-popping 48-yard average on seven punts. And he probably came up with the play of the game when he booted a high third quarter punt snap out of the end zone, surrendering a two-point safety, but saving a possible Fergus Falls touchdown when the Spartans were threatening to break open a close 7-6 game.

"Lambert is headiest football player I've every been around," said Klinke. "That was the biggest play of the game when he kicked the ball out of the end zone. He never hesitated. He never tried to pick it up. You don't want to give up points, but two points at that time was a lot better than seven."

Like Hinton, Lambert is more than just a kicker. He turned receiver to haul in a go-ahead 24-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Mitch Bernstein in the third quarter.

Sophomore runningback Shawn Campbell clinched it when he broke off a 29-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Defensively, the Pioneers came up with nine quarterback sacks and four interceptions. Linebacker Brandon Baker, defensive backs Mike Quinn and Jay Cooper, along with defensive tackle Blue Olson caught Klinke's attention. "The defense gave us field position all day long," he pointed out.

Campbell complemented Hinton's 100-yard rushing performance with a 58-yard game on 17 carries as the Pioneers netted 212 yards on 51 rushing attempts. Bernstein was 4-for-10 passing for 44 yards.

Kurt Kluzak, Daryl Fish and Shane Noble stood out in the Pioneers' offensive line, according to Klinke, opening holes off tackle for Hinton and Campbell after the Spartans closed down the middle.

Northland finished with nine first downs; fumbled twice (losing one of them); and wound up with 10 penalties for 87 yards. Fergus Falls figures were not made available.

Northland will open its open season Saturday with a 2 p.m. Pepsi Bowl match-up at Prowler Field against Vermilion, a 55-36 season-opening winner over Normandale last week.

Prowlers swept 3-0 by Lakers

It was a sweep, but it wasn't a blowout, according to the Thief River Falls coaches as the Prowlers lost a 15-3, 15-7, 15-1 North Sub-Section 8AA high school volleyball match at Detroit Lakes Monday.

"The scores are no indication how the night went," said Thief River Falls head coach Helen Anderson. "It took Detroit Lakes a while to get to the 15 points."

Detroit Lakes made use of its size in the first game, explained Anderson. "We had a lot of serve reception passes to their front row, and when you have giants breathing down your neck – look out," she said. "They really took advantage of that."

Thief River Falls tried to make a match of it in Game 2, coming up with a strong defensive effort, but still falling short on offense. "We really did a nice job of digging the ball up in the second game," mentioned Anderson. "Toni Chiodo had some real nice blocks, and found some holes in their defense."

Detroit Lakes completed the sweep by taking charge in Game 3.

Chiodo, who finished with five kills, was named the Prowlers' Player of the Night by the coaching staff. Kelly Skeim wound up with three kills and Ali Peterson had two.

Thief River Falls won the junior varsity match 4-15, 15-11, 15-13; Detroit Lakes took the C squad match 15-13, 8-15, 15-8. Michelle Haugen was named Thief River Falls junior varsity Player of the Night, while Lydia Blamer earned similar honors with the C squad.

The Prowlers, 3-3, will host Bemidji Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Warroad 3-1 winner over Wolverines

Warroad stopped Goodridge/Grygla 15-10, 9-15, 15-6, 15-6 Monday in a high school volleyball match played at Warroad.

The loss dropped the Wolverines to 0-2 for the year. "We showed more consistency than we did in our first match," reported Goodridge/Grygla coach Tim Mostrom. "We ran out of gas at the end."

Coming up with a number of blocks, Jenny Ryan had a strong night at the net, pointed out Mostrom.

The Wolverines will meet Lake of the Woods Thursday at Grygla before heading to Newfolden Saturday for the Marshall County Central Invitational.

RLCC blanks Patriots 8-0

Red Lake County Central racked up the yards, but had a tough time converting them into points Friday, settling for an 8-0 Nine Man North Tri-County Conference high school football win over Win-E-Mac.

The visiting Mustangs finished with 426 yards worth of offense – 288 on the ground, 138 in the air. But the lone touchdown of the game came on a 54-yard Jamie Hruby run with about three minutes left in the first quarter.

"We did a good job eliminating penalties, but we had three fumbles," explained Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brand.

The Mustangs' offense was tagged with just one penalty, but saw fumbles take away a pair of first-and-goal scoring opportunities.

"We saw some improvement in the offensive line," pointed out Brand. "That was a question mark coming into the season, but they did a nice job against a good Win-E-Mac defense. We had some opportunities, but the fumbles hurt us."

Defensively, the Mustangs shined, said Brand. "They played hard, intense football for four quarters," he noted, singling out the play of defensive end Adam Killian, who was credited with making the initial hit on seven occasions, and coming in for an assisted tackle five times. He was in on five quarterback sacks.

Hruby finished with 107 yards on 11 carries, while Shannon Willett netted 93 yards on 13 attempts and Jacob Melby wound up with 44 yards on just five tries. Quarterback Scott Lorenson was 8-for-16 passing, with Paul Melby catching four for 61 yards.

Red Lake County Central will put its 2-0 start on the line Friday against Fisher/Climax, the defending North Tri-County Conference champion at 7 p.m. in Plummer.

"They're big and their strong," said Brand about the preseason conference favorite Knights. "We'll have our hands full. It'll be their power against our quickness. They're bigger and stronger than we are, but I think we're quicker than they are."

Sacred Heart beats MCC 32-6

Three Marshall County Central touchdowns were erased by penalties Friday and the mistake-prone Nordics wound up losing a 32-6 Top of the State Conference Nine-Man high school football game at Newfolden.

"We had a lot of mental mistakes," said first-year Marshall County Central head coach Kent Warne.

Shane Borg, who netted 71 yards on 13 carries, scored the lone Marshall County Central touchdown – a 23-yard first quarter run that cut a 12-0 deficit in half. But Sacred Heart had a 26-6 cushion when halftime arrived.

The Nordics were limited to 83 yards on the ground, with quarterback Jake Rantanen adding 73 yards passing on a 7-for-20 night that included two interceptions.

Sacred Heart quarterback Jason Kotba threw for three touchdowns and ran for one more.

"We just didn't play very well," acknowledged Warne. "It should have been a lot closer."

One of the few Marshall County Central bright spots was the play of linebacker Travis Knutson, who was credited with 14 tackles and six assists. "He played really well," noted Warne.

Marshall County Central, 0-2, will play Kittson County North Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Lancaster.

Nordics win opener 3-2

Marshall County Central began its 1992 high school volleyball season with a marathon match Monday as the Nordics outlasted host Stephen 15-10, 16-14, 12-15, 13-15, 15-8.

It wasn't perfect volleyball, acknowledged Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, but it was a win. "It was nice to come home with a win," he said. "It's starting point. Now we know what we have to work on."

The Nordics opened the year a week later than most area teams. "We needed a game," noted Jorgenson. "We started out okay, but we kind of fell apart at the end of the second game."

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will be in Newfolden Thursday for the Nordics' 1992 home opener.

Marshall County Central Invitational Saturday will find Goodridge/Grygla, Stephen, East Grand Forks Sacred Heart, and Argyle joining the host Nordics for the five-team, round-robin format.

Sheldon Hinton slipped behind a block from a Northland teammate to pick up some yards against Fergus Falls during Saturday's community college football match-up. Hinton carried 25 times for 114 yards, kicked two field goals and added a pair of conversion kicks as the Pioneers opened the 1992 season with a 20-9 win over the host Spartans. Jerry Odegaard, American Legion Americanism Committee, presented Bob Bergan, Chamber of Commerce executive vice president, an American flag to be flown at the Chamber of Commerce located on Highway 59 south. Bergan said the chamber appreciated the donation from Post 117.

Rain slows TRF Hwy 32 project

Gary Cater of Thorson Construction had just one word to describe progress on the Highway 32 project in Thief River Falls — rain.

Despite the rain, excavation and removal is pretty much done up to 12th street. Thirteenth and Fourteenth will quickly following possibly this week, provided the weather cooperates.

Drain tiles, fabric and back fill should be in through the 800 block soon. That includes intersections. As soon as other intersections are complete, sixth street will be completed, possibly by next week.

Installation of curb and gutter and bituminous are on hold for awhile. Utilities are progressing now that the rain has ceased and should be through 10th by the end of this week.

According to Project Engineer Todd Broadwell, rain hasn't been too bad for the project. Water, he said, actually helps with soil compaction at certain stages of the construction.

Poles and lights should be in on Atlantic and LaBree by late next week. When they are put up the lights will be on red flash for all four directions.

The south end of the project will remain closed to through traffic. Cater said clean-up work is still being completed and the traffic has been too much of a problem so the south end of the project will remain closed. Cater said as soon as he would pull south end road blocks closed someone would push them open. As a result he's had to tie them together.

During the next week, residents can expect some traffic control changes on the south end of the project.

Assessment hearings were originally scheduled to take place at the end of next year. There was some talk of pushing those hearings up to this fall, said Ron Lindberg, city technical and engineering services director. Lindberg said, however, that "the city council is of a mind to hold the assessment hearings next fall."

Wellstone staff to visit TRF on Friday Sept. 18

Area residents are invited to visit with a staff member from Senator Wellstone's office Friday, September 18, in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium to discuss any problems they are having with federal agencies, or to express any opinions on federal issues they would like delivered to Washington, D.C. Wellstone's staff will meet with anyone from 8 a.m. to 9:45 a.m. At 10 a.m. Wellstone's northern Minnesota director, Kimberly Stokes, will attend the meeting sponsored by Congressman Peterson to discuss the Lancaster Highway 59 border station.

"These office hours are part of my efforts to reach out to the people of Greater Minnesota," said Wellstone. "I encourage area citizens to visit with my staff if they are having problems with a federal agency or just want to express their opinion on an issue."

Wellstone has permanent offices in Virginia, Willmar, and St. Paul. Wellstone's Northern Minnesota office can be reached by calling (218) 721-1074 or writing to P.O. Box 281, Virginia, MN 55792.

Crossroads to sponsor series of workshops

The Crossroads Displaced Homemaker program will present "Challenge, Choice and Change," a life skills development workshop series for displaced homemakers. The materials presented are designed to assist women who are experiencing difficult changes that aren't always a matter of choice. Through self-study and skill development, the series is designed to revel the challenge and opportunites for growth that come with role changes.

The workshops will take place at Crossroads office in the Thief River Falls Tuesdays from 10 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. [illegible] November 3. Participants are asked to bring a sack lunch.

Enrollment is free to state-eligible displaced homemakers. Others may attend for an income based fee. Child care and/or transporation funds may be provided for eligible participants. Call 681-8158 or 1-800-450-8158 for more information or to pre-register.

Local student participates in Hugh O'Brian program

Local Hugh O'Brian scholarship winner Angie Goulet said she had strong opinions on a number of subjects before she attended a leadership seminar for Hugh O'Brian scholars, but some of those opinions changed after participating in the seminar.

Angie, a junior at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls, is the daughter of Linda Goulet in Thief River Falls. She was chosen as the Hugh O'Brian scholars in Thief River Falls and her trip to the seminar was sponsored by the local chapter of the Zehlians, Kiwanis and Northern State Bank.

An achiever in everything he undertakes, Hugh O'Brian devotes much of his unlimited energies to champion the cause of motivation and developing young men and women of this country. In 1958, Hugh returned from Africa, inspired by his visit with Dr. Albert Schweitzer. Motivated by this great man's remark, "The most important thing in education is to make young people think for themselves," Mr. O'Brian established the Youth Foundation.

From 1958 to 1967, Leadership seminars took place in Los Angeles. In 1968, the scope of the Foundation's program grew to include national and international participants, and the seminar locations expanded to major cities across the United States. In an effort to include more students, weekend State seminars were instituted in 1977.

The goal of having all states participate in these seminars was achieved in 1982. Since 1977, the leadership seminars have been centered upon "America's Incentive System" — the systems which motivate productive activity in our society.

The seminars take the form of intense, but informal discussions aimed at giving the young ambassadors a straight forward view of what the world is all about. The give and take question and answer format helps to show these young leaders of tomorrow they, as individuals, are important, that their thoughts and actions can make a difference, and that learning how to think can be just as important as what to think. The St. Paul Jaycees sponsor the leadership seminars in Minnesota.

Goulet said it was these informal discussions that she enjoyed the most. It was a very good experience, Goulet said. Speakers during the seminar, which was held from June 19 to 22, included Margaret Zak of the Star Tribune, Lee Valsvik of KDWD radio, Luminita

WE DECIDE WHEN IT'S TIME TO BECOME 'SENIOR CITIZENS'

The term "senior citizen" becomes increasingly elastic. There are those who consider themselves in that category as early as in the 50s, while others wait a lot longer. A newspaper editor, at the age of 80, still covers news events and writes an interesting weekly column. An 84-year-old artist still turns out beautiful paintings. There is no arbitrary "cut-off date" for doing something creative with your life, as long as you are physically able and wish to stay young, as opposed to becoming a "couch potato." More over, the children and grandchildren of these late life go-getters should respect and encourage their endeavors. The Bible, as well as our House of Worship, would do this, and the love and attention we give our elders will make them feel not so "elder" after all.

—Kenny Rogers

ELECT....PAUL E. RASMUSSEN
District Court Judge (Weddel Seat)
Chambers in Clearwater County Courthouse, Bagley
Supported by the people of Clearwater County:

As Clearwater County Attorney, Paul Rasmussen has proven to be an aggressive and effective prosecutor. Rasmussen has joined me in promoting community crime watch and crime prevention programs. The law enforcement community here in Clearwater County is solidly behind Rasmussen in his candidacy for the Clearwater County chambered District Court Judgeship.
Denny Trandem, Clearwater County Sheriff

Paul Rasmussen was instrumental in initiating the effort to bring the D.A.R.E. program (Drug Abuse Resistance Education) to the Bagley School System. Rasmussen's anti-drug stand, his concern for our youth, and his pro-law enforcement history, make him the candidate of choice of the people of Clearwater County.
Greg Spaulding, Bagley, D.A.R.E. Officer

Paul Rasmussen has done an outstanding job for us as Clearwater County Attorney. He is active in our community and well-respected. We here in Clearwater County know Rasmussen, we trust him, and we want him to be "our" judge.
Warren C. Larson, Commissioner, District 1, Clearwater County Board

The judge currently chambered in Clearwater County spends most of his time handling the judicial business of Clearwater County. Voters in all 17 of the counties in the 9th judicial district will vote on the "Weddel seat" chambered here in Bagley. My staff and I have been working with Paul Rasmussen for several years. We find him to be courteous, professional and competent. We strongly support Rasmussen for this judgeship.

Would You Believe Campaigning Is Starting?

After all the hoopla of the Democratic and Republican conventions and the time being spent by Presidential candidates on the road and the amount of time and space being given to every utterance from the Clinton and Bush camps, it was somewhat startling to learn a couple of weeks ago that with observance of the Labor Day holiday political campaigning would be getting underway!

If our car started on the same schedule we would be on our fifth battery by now!

The Presidential campaign, however, is probably not a fair barometer of politics in general, especially at the local level. It is probably true that at least the level of intensity for campaigns increases after Labor Day and, more importantly in Minnesota and probably elsewhere, after the primary elections.

September and October are crunch time for political campaigns. Public interest increases as election day approaches, but the public wearies of campaign rhetoric well before that fateful first Tuesday in November. Political campaign staffers must determine how and when to best present their candidate to gain the greatest acceptance by the voters.

In recent years most campaign directors have opted for the use of television if their candidate is seeking anything other than the most local of offices. Regardless of what political consultants say, candidates like to see themselves on the tube and assume that the voters like to see them there as well. Further, they assume that voters will believe what they have to say and flock to the polls to support them.

They may be badly mistaken. The person who spends a lot of time in front of the TV set probably has roots there. We liked the message we saw in an advertisement directed toward attracting political advertising to newspapers. It depicted a young man sitting on a couch, a bowl of snacks at his side and a remote control unit in his hand. The attention line read: "He doesn't even get up to change the channel. What makes you think he'll get out and vote?"

The point is obvious. You can reach all the people you want, but if you can't motivate them to vote the effort is wasted. Here at the Times and Northern Watch we believe that our readers are motivated people. They read political advertising because they are interested and are likely to translate that interest into votes. And the message in print is there for the convenience of the reader. It doesn't flash across the screen during potty breaks or invite you to use that handy control to switch channels.

We invite area candidates and those area committees for regional candidates to make use of our advertising services. Newspaper advertising is a great way to present issues and state positions that have strength and substance, to show that a candidate has more to offer than 15 or 30 seconds of "look at me-vote for me."

Government Likely To Inhibit Job Creation

Following editorial by Elmer L. Anderson is reprinted from the Anoka County Union.

As an antidote to election year rhetoric it might be well to establish a few principles about job creation. Government is more apt to inhibit job creation than aid it.

Meaningful jobs that contribute wealth to the economy and support to the society are created by the private investment of capital, the gathering of skilled people and the production of good and services that people will purchase in preference to other similar materials or services available on the market.

Entrepreneurs function best in an environment of trust and appreciation and with a recognition that to support the survival of an enterprise, encourage its growth through research and development, and generate capital for investment and more job creation, profit is necessary, important and desirable.

Job creation is encouraged when necessary government regulation is limited to establishing standards for proper operation for the safety and welfare of workers and the general public, in a spirit of helpfulness and understanding. Regulation becomes regimentation when it burdens industry with excessive detail and dictates every move.

[illegible] jobs and should be encouraged in every way, particularly with a moderate tax burden, minimal bureaucratic hurdles and generous investment credits for job generating investment.

Job creation would be greatly aided if we recognized that failure to protect the environment was, for a long time, a universal neglect in which we all shared and the correction of which is now a societal problem which we also must all share.

It would help stimulate job creation if our lawmakers would realize that in a global economy we cannot move to solve worldwide problems within our border at a vastly faster rate than the rest of the world. If our industry has expense burdens far beyond those carried by competitors in other countries our job creating process will suffer. All efforts should be directed at world cooperation to hasten solution of environmental problems that are worldwide.

Our nation is a vast and powerful industrial force that enters a 21st century of awesome opportunity and potential. With common sense and rationality we can provide jobs of satisfaction and reward for all who desire them and put forth the effort to train, qualify and produce.

[illegible] Buys Airport South of City

[illegible] requests of various civic organizations looking toward the future needs of this community, the city council at an adjourned meeting Monday took action to secure an option to buy for the airport the [illegible] acres of the farm owned by Dr. D. P. [illegible] south of Thief River Falls on the east side of the river. The purchase, which did not include an eighty-acre tract on which the farm buildings are located, was made on the basis of [illegible] per acre or a total consideration of $9,000.

The land is well adapted to airport purposes, lying level and with good drainage. An engineer for the Civil Aeronautics authority approved the selection of the tract when it was described to him and he will visit the city within the next few weeks to make a first hand inspection. Immediate plans call for plowing and leveling off the land this fall and seeding it to grass. It is hoped to interest the federal government in the early development of the property.

From the Editorial Page

"Thief River Falls now has an airport, or at least the site for an airport. Located three miles south of the city on the east side of the river, the site seems to provide all the requirements of a good municipal air depot, including room for expansion. Considering the possibility that the site now selected may serve the community for hundreds of years, in an age when flying probably will be the main form of transportation and travel, the selection of a particular piece of ground to serve this purpose is of more than passing importance. In the years to come, it is likely to influence community development in more ways than one. To the city officials, therefore, who, we believe, have made a wise selection, taking into due consideration all the factors that should be considered in a decision of that kind, a round of cheers!"

Campsites gear down

After Labor Day, campsites, facilities and services will be available on a limited basis in most state parks.

After Labor Day, 14 parks will have modern facilities and all camp sites available through September. Later in the fall and winter, however, campsites will be rustic and will have vault toilets, no showers and no flush toilets. The number of campsites available will be limited but camping reservations at these 14 parks will be available through the state reservation system.

Because of staff reductions at the remaining 49 state parks, 20 per cent or less of the campsites will be available for use after Labor Day. These sites will be available on a first come, first served basis only and are not reservable through the state reservation system. The campsites will be rustic and will have vault toilets, no showers and no flush toilets. Campers will self-register for sites at these parks.

According to Bill Morrissey, DNR [illegible] for State Parks, camping begins to decrease after Labor Day. As a result, some parks will probably be able to accommodate campers even though sites are limited.

"There are some parks, however, where campgrounds are normally full during the week and on weekends throughout the fall, Morrissey said. "With 20 per cent of their sites available, campers may have to look to other parks or locations for campsites."

At the following large and heavily used parks, all campsites will be available after Labor Day and can be reserved through the state reservation system. The exceptions are Fort Snelling and Soudan Underground Mine State Parks, which do not have campsites. However, showers and flush toilets will be available through September. There will be no tours at Soudan Underground Mine after Labor Day. Winter grooming will take place at most of these parks, but the number of groomed trails will be reduced. For more information about the availability of services, contact the park.

The following campsites will be available after Labor Day. Fort Snelling, Gooseberry Falls, William O'Brien, Lake Carlos, Interstate, Lake Shetek, Wild River, Itasca, Sibley, Jay Cooke, St. Croix, Lake Bemidji, Soudan Underground Mine and Whitewater.

For all other state parks, approximately 20 per cent of campsites will be available after Labor Day. These campsites will be primitive only (no showers or flush toilets; vault toilet only) and cannot be reserved. Campsite availability will be on a first come, first served basis. There will be no tours at Hill Annex or Mystery Cave after Labor Day. Limited winter grooming will take place at some parks.

For all other state parks, approximately 20 per cent of campsites will be available after Labor Day. These campsites will be primitive (no showers or flush toilets; vault toilet only) and cannot be reserved. Campsite availability will be on a first come, first served basis. There will be no tours at Hill Annex or Mystery Cave after Labor Day.

The state parks available with limited campsites are: Afton, Bear Head Lake, Big Stone Lake, Buffalo River, Carley, Charles Lindbergh, Father Hennepin, Forestville/Mystery Cave, Frontenac, Glacial Lakes, Banning, Beaver Creek Valley, Blue Mounds, Camden, Cascade River, Crow Wing, Flandrau, Fort Ridgely, George Crosby Manitou, Hayes Lake, Hill Annex, Kilen Woods, Lake Bronson, Lake Maria, McCarthy Beach, Minneopa, Monson Lake, Myre Big Island, Old Mill, Rice Lake, Savanna Portage, Schoolcraft, Split Rock Lighthouse, Temperance River, Zippel Bay, Judge C.R. Magney, Lac Qui Parle, Lake Louise, Maplewood, Mille Lacs Kathio, Minnesota Valley and Trail, Moose Lake, Nerstrand Big Woods, O.L. Kipp, Sakatah Lake, Scenic, Split Rock Creek, Tettegouche and Upper Sioux Agency.

For more information about camping availability or facilities, call the park or contact the DNR Information Center at 296-6157 in the Twin Cities metro area, or call toll free 1-800-766-6000.

Cool weather delays harvest across the state

Cooler than normal temperatures for the 12th straight week and several rainy days did little to push Minnesota crops toward maturity, according to the Minnesota Agricultural Statistic Service.

"Farmers keep looking for warmer temperatures and sunny skies and hope that a killing frost will be delayed for at least 20 to 30 days," states Carroll Rock, state statistician. That may well be a vain hope in this part of the state where early September frosts are not at all uncommon.

"Rain and cool temperatures [illegible] in the northwest district where only 11 per cent of the spring wheat and 42 per cent of the barley was harvested as of September 4," Rock said. "Progress is the slowest it has been in the past 20 years.

"Saturated soils and immature heads will likely result in further delays," he added. "Sprouted wheat is becoming a problem as harvest is now nearly a month behind schedule. Frost was reported on the morning of September 8 in the northern end of the Red River Valley."

Corn and soybeans in their main range are two to three weeks behind schedule. Corn was only 19 per cent in dent compared with 79 per cent for the five-year average. Only three per cent of the soybeans had started to drop leaves compared with an average of 30 per cent.

Dry beans are only eight per cent harvested, 62 percentage points behind last year and 27 percentage points behind the five-year average.

Karina Krepp

Karina Krepp has role in New York play

Karina Krepp, 21, daughter of Dr. Juho and Diane Krepp of Thief River Falls and a senior at State University of New York, Purchase, NY, recently had the lead role of Cat in the off-Broadway play "Love True" by Steven Aiello.

Karina attended Thief River Falls public schools through 10th grade, then attended a magnet arts program at North high school in Minneapolis and graduated from Interlochen Academy of the Arts in Michigan.

She has acted on tour as far away as Latvia in the former Soviet Union and auditioned for the role in "Love True," presented at Playwrights Horizons Theatre school, a school for playwrights. Plays presented were newly-written productions. She has also appeared regionally in plays "Cousins," "Sarcophagus" and "Women Beware Women."

Angie Goulet

Vollmer of the Romanian Relief Fund and Craig Hillier, a motivational speaker who will be visiting Thief River Falls this year.

"There were a lot of informed opinions on the panel discussions," Goulet said. She added that she had opinions before she went, but learned a lot while she was there and some of her opinions changed because of what she learned at the seminar.

Angie is a junior at Lincoln high school and is a student senator, a member of the National Honor Society, the choir and drama club.

Between 100 and 150 people attended a meeting Friday to discuss the services of the Highway 59 border crossing near Lancaster. A vote of those people attending the meeting showed that they overwhelmingly support the need for improved services at the crossing.

Hwy 59 border crossing meeting held in TRF

Participants vote for improved services at the crossing

More than 150 business leaders, community and regional legislators and concerned citizens attended a meeting Friday at the Best Western in Thief River Falls to discuss the Highway 59 border crossing near Lancaster.

Assistant Commissioner of the United States Customs office, Ed Goggin, listened to the many concerns and comments of residents of the region about the Highway 59 border crossing. Local groups sponsoring the meeting hope Goggin can do something to improve service at the crossing. They also had questions for him about the process in achieving their goals.

The Highway 59 border crossing became an issue when a grass-roots level group recognized a need for improved service at the crossing. Their efforts to achieve their goal have included a letter-writing campaign to the state's congressional delegation, meetings and the involvement of the Northwest Regional Development Commission in developing a proposal to improve service.

Since the beginning, many residents of northwest Minnesota have expressed their support for improving the border crossing. On Friday they demonstrated their support by attending the meeting and voting overwhelmingly in support of increasing the hours at the crossing on a yearly basis.

With over 150 people clamoring for a change in status at the border crossing near Lancaster, the district director, Ray Hagerty, seemed to sit back and dig in his heels.

A 24-hour border crossing at Lancaster is out of the question. Hagerty said he doesn't have the staff or resources to man a 24-hour station at Lancaster. In addition, traffic after midnight even at the region's busiest crossing, is slow at best. "More hours," Hagerty said, "will not guarantee more traffic or

United Way kicks off '92 campaign

Campaign '92 for the local chapter of the United Way begins next week. This year's goal is $108,250.

Fund-raising in the shadow of last year's national scandal might make reaching that goal difficult, but local United Way officials hope most people believe problems identified last year have been solved.

In a statement approved by the local board of directors, they state that they are pleased with the swift, thorough actions taken by United Way of America. "United Way of America clearly defined a new mission for the national service association and totally restructured the organization to ensure strong, volunteer financial controls.

"This spring, after the United Way of America president was fired and a comprehensive investigation was completed, United Way of America acted quickly to involve Minnesotans in shaping the future role and mission of the organization. They also created strong financial controls similar to the controls of the Thief River Falls United Way.

"The changes announced are far-reaching and complete. These changes will put the national organization back on track assisting individual needs in their communities.

"In 1990, the Thief River Falls United Way, which is locally controlled, distributed $90,000 to deserving agencies to ensure health service, family crisis, youth, elderly and volunteer and people with disabilities in the local United Way."

United Way is really the process and mechanism through which citizens and human care agencies work together in planning, fund-raising, budgeting and fund allocation. In Thief River Falls that means every organization that submits a request for funds from the United Way provides a budget and answers how they propose to use the funds. Each request is looked at by an

Farm Safety Walkabout encourages farm safety

As a personal emphasis for national Farm Safety and Health Week being observed September 20-26, the "Farm Safety Walkabout" is being promoted by the Farm Health and Safety Coalition.

Coalition members represent the agricultural community and serve the counties of Kittson, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau. Their goal is to promote the health and safety of farm families through community-based educational activities.

One of the activities encouraged by the coalition is the "walkabout," in which farm families walk about their own farms to discover what safety problems or safety features are there. A form for making the walkabout, identifying potential health and safety hazards and making note of them is being distributed in the publications of the Red Lake, PKM and Roseau Electric cooperatives.

(The Times has enlisted the help of the Jerry Hasnedl family to conduct a walkabout and allow photos to be taken to increase public awareness. Photos appear in today's issue)

Coalition members urge families to check boxes on the form as they apply to the individual family and farm, then take the steps necessary to make corrections which will improve health and safety. The walkabout form is written in general terms and is not inclusive of all potential hazards on the farm. Each family will need to apply it to the specific family ages and farm setting.

As an incentive for families to make the walkabout and think about farm safety and health with a view toward improvements, several

The Hesnedi family participated in the Farm Health and Safety Coalition's "Farm Safety Walkabout" last weekend, checking for safety features in the house and farmyard, on machinery and around farm buildings. September 20-26 is national Farm Safety and Health Week and the safety check lists are being distributed with the Volts and Jolts publication of the Red Lake Electric Cooperative and the REA cooperative publications at Warren and Roseau.

Swenson Fund aids education

Established approximately 15 years ago by Lowell and Marge Swenson of Thief River Falls, the Swenson fund continues to provide financial resources and make significant contributions to various educational programs.

"The fund was established to enhance education and over the years has funded many projects that have educational benefits to students," states Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent of schools.

He listed about 15 projects totaling $48,456 over the past three years alone. "Without the help of the Swenson Fund many, if not most, of these projects would not have been possible," the superintendent said.

"Lowell and Marge Swenson continue to be very interested in the Thief River Falls educational system, not only through the Swenson Fund, but also in their visits in the school district and their wanting to know how programs are going and what the students are doing. The Swenson Fund is a prime example of how people can make a big difference in our educational community."

Supt. Duncan listed the following projects:

To complement the "Computers for Education" project, $2,219; tickets so orchestra students could attend the St. Paul Orchestra concert here, $260; three Holton French horns for the band, $4,800; Yamaha/Deagan chimes for band/orchestra, $1,700; Lincoln high school band trip to Calgary, $4,000;

Also Lincoln high school concert choir robes, $8,600; community education summer golf program, $2,000; Lincoln high school AV mixer/VCR, $2,600; Franklin middle school KWN TV studio AV mixer/character generator, $2,100; 1992 Deep Portage science trip for fifth graders, $1,273;

Also LHS choir trip to Florida, $5,000; 1991 Deep Portage science trip for fifth graders, $5,800; two cellos for orchestra, $3,600; reconditioning of four saxophones for band, $2,000; and LHS band uniforms, $2,500.

Dear Readers,

In periods of stress, you need time to be alone. Solitude gives one the opportunity to reflect on life, to sort things out, and to adjust emotionally. Solitude means different things to different people. Some find a darkened room where they can relax, undisturbed. Others take long walks and enjoy the beauty of nature. It isn't important how you spend your "quiet time". It is important that you rest your body and mind.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

Crookston Women's group holds workshop

The Women's Commission of the Diocese of Crookston will sponsor a workshop called "Self Affirmation through the Use of Scripture: A Reflective Workshop." It will be presented by Catherine Kailhoff, SSND, on October 3 at Mt. St. Benedict, 620 Summit avenue, Crookston. The workshop begins at 9 a.m. and closes about 3:30 p.m. Lunch is included and free child care is available.

The workshop is directed at men and women who want to know themselves more fully. Inner strength and wholeness of self is crucial to bringing about a centeredness and wholeness in all segments of society: family, friendships, staff, church, institutions, government and the world. We, each of us, need to be able to proclaim our inner strength in words and actions and love. We live in such a manner, not to have power over but to walk with each other in living out Gospel spirituality. This kind of paradigm evolves only when coming from an inner strength which is supported by prayer and scripture.

The program will flow with large group input, small group work, storytelling, sharing, praying and singing. The use of scripture will permeate and integrate the day.

Although there is a fee for this workshop, scholarships from the Women's Commission are available. For information on the workshop, the scholarships or child care, please call Bev Pillatzke at (218) 847-8970 or (218) 847-4445. To pre-register, call Sr. Mary John Sperl at (218) 437-6341 or write to her at Box 277, Argyle MN 56713.

Rodnes Church holds service in Norwegian

The annual Norwegian language worship services at Rodnes Lutheran Church, rural Erskine, will be held on September 27 at 10:30 a.m.

This tradition has continued since the official language used in the church was changed from Norwegian to English around 1940.

Pastor Steve Trandem, a native of Erskine, will conduct the services where everything, including the hymns and liturgy, is in the Norwegian language.

Trandem is the great grandson of Rodnes charter members (1885) Andreas and Karen Trandem and John and Ingeborg Ramberg. He was baptized at Rodnes in 1959.

Trandem has a strong interest in Norwegian language and culture. He received a B.A. degree with a Norwegian major from the University of North Dakota. In 1969, as part of his studies, he spent six months in Norway studying at the University of Oslo and working at the Forbunds Hotel in Oslo.

This will be the second service Trandem conducted at Rodnes Church for Norwegian Day.

Dinner will be served by the Rodnes congregation following the service. A free will offering will be received for the meal. The public is invited.

Deer breaks through window at Arctco in TRF

Minnesota department of natural resource officials had to dispose of a deer that broke through a glass window at Northwest Regional Development Center Sunday morning.

According to a police department spokesperson in Thief River Falls, the law enforcement center received a report at 9:45 a.m. that a deer broke through a window at the Arctco building, which houses the Northwest Regional Development Center. When officers arrived they discovered the deer inside the building. It had broken through a window, and knocked over a computer table damaging a computer printer, flowers, carpet and other items. It then tried to crash through another window but was knocked unconscious and injured. The Minnesota department of natural resources was contacted and a DNR official disposed of the deer.

Damage to the building and offices was considered substantial, but no estimate was available.

What Women Wear

I have always suspected that the people who design women's clothes are not very fond of women. Do you get that impression?

Today's "in" fashions just don't seem to do a thing for the majority of women who are forced to wear them.

Oh, sure, the styles look good enough on the fashion models, but we are not all built like models. Fashion models used to look like Twiggy. Now they still look like Twiggy, but with perfectly shaped silicone implants here and there in strategic places. Normal women just don't look like those fashion models, at least not most of the normal women I know.

But here we normal women are, trying to look like fashion models. Just look at what women are wearing now. All shapes and sizes of women are decking themselves out in tops with shoulder pads and skin tight pants or little short skirts. Some of the little short skirts are skin-tight, too.

It doesn't seem to matter what shape the women are in to begin with, they just follow the fashion dictators and put on whatever is the "in" style at the present time. Some of them look really strange!

Take me, for instance. I have not got an ideal figure. I have never had an ideal figure. Even when I was young and thin, I was thin in places that should have been padded, and I stayed entirely too padded in the other places, the ones that should have been thin.

I have heard that there are two types of shapes—apple and pear. Since I do not have any problem with my bottom unless I get so heavy all over that I can't even see over my middle, I must be an apple shape rather than a pear shape.

This apple shape is the worst shape, by the way. All of that fat around our middle can cause all sorts of health problems. The fat middle, combined with too much bad cholesterol, too little exercise, and smoke inhalation, seems to forecast a heart attack and a shortened future for me unless I do some fast work to correct my assorted problems.

Nonetheless, I am an apple shape. On top of having the fat in the middle instead of at the bottom, I have broad shoulders and rather skinny legs (at least when they are compared with the rest of me) and, on top of that, I am quite short.

The point of all this discussion on my unshapely shortcomings is that I look terrible in shoulder pads and tight pants or skirts. But—I wear them anyway, just like most other women.

I look like a midget football player in some of my outfits. I know it. I get all gussied up in my padded shoulder suit jacket or top and short skirt or stirrup pants, feeling very fashionable, and then I don't dare look in a full-length mirror.

If I do dare to peek at myself in the mirror, I certainly do not put my glasses on, and I stand far back from the mirror so I can't really see myself very well. I know that the shock of seeing what I really look like would surely be enough to give me a heart attack, what with my precarious health from being apple shaped and all of those other things I mentioned.

I really hate those shoulder pads. I can't tell you how many times I have dressed in a hurry and gone off to my work (where I meet and deal with all sorts of people every day, by the way) only to find out when I got home after work and take off my jacket that I have been wearing one of my shoulder pads doubled up on one side all day and I'm sure I must have resembled the hunchback of Notre Dame all day, and I know everybody noticed but were too nice to say anything about it (or everyone was laughing at me and was too mean to say anything about it).

(Since this subject is too extensive for just one week, I will leave you with the vision of my lopsided self smiling sweetly and acting like such a professional with one shoulder at least six inches higher than the other—all day! That should keep you laughing until next week's column, shouldn't it?

Red Lake man pleads guilty to assault charge

Sentencing of a Red Lake man on charges of second degree assault will take place in October.

Christopher Erickson, 20, pled guilty last week in a plea agreement to second degree assault. Erickson was involved in an incident at a rural Goodridge residence in June. Erickson testified that he was with his brothers when he decided to burglarize a rural residence. He was stacking things in the garage when he heard a noise and came out just in time to bump into Clarence Hanson. He said he saw that Hanson, who lives at the residence, had a gun and he hit him with a sledgehammer handle. Erickson was arrested the next day. In a plea agreement last week, Erickson pled guilty to second degree assault in exchange for the prosecution dropping a charge of burglary in the third degree.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered. Erickson will be sentenced in a Ninth District court in October. He was represented in court by George L. Duranski III of Bemidji. Al Rogalla, assistant to the Pennington county attorney, prosecuted the case.

Fire damages trailer home in TRF Sat.

Thief River Falls fire department responded to a report of a fire in Greendale trailer court on Saturday.

The fire department received the report of a fire at 6:20 p.m. Saturday, September 19. A fire had started underneath a trailer on lot 63 in Greendale trailer court. Fire fighters were able to keep the fire from spreading to the inside of the trailer. Damage loss estimates were not available.

Minnesota's last public one room school house, Angle Inlet School, closed last May.

This year, twelve students from the Angle will commute to Warroad schools. The Angle's teacher of seven years, Linda Kastl, will also commute to Warroad to teach fifth grade.

Mrs. Kastl is the former Linda Bernhardson, who attended school in Thief River Falls and graduated from Lincoln High School in 1977.

The bus ride takes one and one-half hours from the Angle, one half hour to pick up the students and, for Kastl, one half hour of snowmobiling, four wheeling, or boating to reach the bus route, plus whatever time is needed at Canadian and U.S. Customs.

"Other teachers ask how I can commute that distance. I reply that they expect all the (Angle) kids to do it," Kastl said. Kastl, who has three children, a three-year-old, two-year-old and a newborn, said she doesn't plan on moving closer to the school.

"We're losing the heart of the community," Kastl said. "The Angle is one big family, not necessarily one big happy family, but if someone needs anything, neighbors are there to help you."

Kastl said one of the primary reasons the school closed was the cost per student, $10,500 annually for Angle students but only $4,500 for Warroad students.

"The Angle is a rich area," Kastl said. "Seasonal homes with no homestead credit and water frontage taxes provide a large tax base." Kastl said "Lake of the Woods County pays to the Warroad School District $150,000 a year." Kastl said the Angle school would cost $50,300 to operate in 1992-1993.

The Angle school closed once before in 1978, but Kastl said she believed the school will remain closed this time because the school district is providing busing.

Kastl said the Angle residents do not know what to do with the empty school. With funds from the Warroad School District, Angle residents built the school in the early 1980s.

The closing prompted a barrage of news stories, including The Star Tribune, The Pioneer Press, The Washington Post, National Public Radio, a number of local newspapers and broadcast news programs.

Most recently, Life magazine sent a photographer and writer to Angle Inlet School. The school provided information for a six-page article in the September Life issue.

Linda Kastl

Kastl's mother, Ruth Austad of Thief River Falls, who taught at Washington Elementary School for 20 years, bought five copies. "The week before, Princess Di was on the cover," Austad said.

After reading some of the stories about the school, Kastl said a professor from the University of Pennsylvania visited the Angle and observed the class for a week while researching one room schools and the effects of school consolidation.

The professor told Kastl there were 600 one room schools left in the United States, a figure which Kastl said surprised her.

Kastl has worked with U.S. Customs, spending around two summers with the Warroad Border Patrol and three summers with the Alcan Highway, Alaska Border Patrol. She earned her bachelor of science degree from Bemidji State University, majoring in education.

Kastl said her husband, a carpenter, plays "Mr. Mom," while she works. Her home has no phone, and she receives mail twice a week.

TRF AAUW to study equity in education Mon.

The Thief River Falls branch of the American Association of University Women will learn about equity in education during a program Monday, September 28 at 7:30 p.m. at the Franklin middle school library. A panel will address equity issues for School District 564. Panel members include Dr. Robert Duncan, superintendent; Bev Arnston, tech prep coordinator; Jean Olson, middle school science teacher; and Ingrid Morken, Lincoln high school senior enrolled in math and science courses.

The AAUW Educational Foundation commissioned a study in 1990, The AAUW Report: How Schools Shortchange Girls. The report presents compelling evidence that girls are not receiving the same quality or even quantity of education as their brothers. The report also presents a base for a new and enlightened education policy that will ensure that the United States will provide the best possible education for its children.

The program is open to all AAUW members and guests.

"For women only" firearm class offered

An adult firearms class for women only will be offered this winter.

The class will be offered for five weeks, Tuesday and Thursday from 7 to 9:30 p.m. at Northland Community College during winter quarter. It is not offered through the college.

Volunteer instructors certified by the DNR or NRA will teach the class about subjects including laws and regulations, guns in the home, hunting ethics, and outdoor survival. Cost will be for materials only.

The class is based in part on a first-time firearm safety class for women offered in Bemidji, which drew 24 students.

Questions And Answers

Social Security Responds

Q. Why can't my overpayment be waived? It was not my fault that Social Security sent me too much.

A. Issues of fault in overpayments are complex and is not the sole factor considered in determining if money must be paid back to the agency. As defined by Social Security in overpayment situations, "at fault" means that the person caused or helped cause the overpayment and "without fault" means the person was blameless in the creation of the overpayment. Even though an overpayment may have been caused by Social Security's error, the individual may still be at fault for the overpayment depending on the specific situation.

Again, fault is only one part of deciding if an overpayment can be waived. If a person is determined to be without fault agency representatives must investigate if the person has the means to repay. Other conditions also exist.

Q. My pay stub shows tax deductions for Social Security. My wife's shows deductions for FICA but not Social Security. Shouldn't she by paying Social Security tax?

A. She does. FICA stands for Federal Insurance Contributions Act which is the law authorizing payroll deductions for Social Security. Each of your pay stubs should also have a separate entry for Medicare taxes.

Be sure your correct Social Security number (SSN) appears on your pay records. Immediately notify your payroll office if your SSN is wrong.

Q. My doctor told me that I should be getting more money from Social Security. He said to tell you that I should be on full disability. Am I?

A. Misinformation of this type is a real problem for Social Security. A person on disability is, by definition, getting "full disability" because that is the only kind we have. Social Security does not have partial disability benefits.

The money amount of any benefit, be it retirement, survivor or disability, will vary from individual to individual based on several items but especially on the amount of earnings. We routinely see monthly disability amounts ranging from the low hundreds to over a thousand dollars per month. Each one is the "full" disability amount for the particular person involved.

For more information contact Social Security for the free booklet "Disability," SSA Publication 05-10029.

Q. I expect to retire at age 63 this June. Since I'm working full time now, would my 1992 earnings before retirement prevent me from getting Social Security? Would I be better just waiting until January, 1993, to start my Social Security retirement?

A. People retire all during the year and the Social Security annual earnings test is designed to enable people to start receiving their Social Security retirement whenever desired, assuming basic eligibility factors are met.

In 1992 a person under age 65 can earn gross wages or net self-employment of $7,440 before earnings affect Social Security retirement payable during the year. However, in the first year of retirement we also consider earnings on a monthly basis and, in 1992, we can usually pay retirement for any month that the person earns less than $620 no matter what they earn for the year.

For example, let's say you earn $25,000 prior to a June 20th retirement and that in June you earn over $620.

Generally we could not pay you for June because of earnings but could pay you for July on because your monthly earnings in these months are less than the limit.

It is important to note that for the self-employed, the earnings test includes the number of hours plus the type of work done in addition to how much was earned.

At the end of the year you would be required to report your actual annual and monthly earnings to Social Security.

Q. Would payments from my IRA/Keogh Plan lower my Social Security benefits?

A. No. In fact, private savings should be part of your overall retirement planning. Social Security benefits were never intended to fill all of your financial needs in retirement. They go along with your personal savings and employer retirement plans.

Impressions . . .

Saturday afternoon, between 3:25 and 3:30 I sat in my backyard and counted. I had been hearing noise all day long. In fact, I had been hearing so much noise that I finally had simply turned out the noise. But, when I took a break from my Saturday afternoon chores and decided to sit awhile and enjoy my yard, the noise that I had turned out all day invaded my time of quiet.

This noise was not melodious. It was not the noise children make when they play. It was not the noise of lawnmowers, although there probably were a few of those adding to the noise. But, the noise was the noise of road construction. My house is just a block off Main street, so my backyard is a half block from the road construction. The noise I ignored most of Saturday, and most other days as well, was the noise of the machinery involved in the road construction project we have all been affected by this summer.

I decided that all that noise must mean that a lot of work was being done. So, I counted trucks. In a five-minute period of time from my backyard viewing spot, I counted five trucks entering or leaving the construction zone either filled with some sort of fill, or with the dumping machanism still lowering, returning to get more fill for the reconstruction of our road. Five trucks in five minutes works out to 60 trucks in one hour. That's a lot of work!!!

I'm sure we will all be glad when this construction project is over. But, I must say, that from my vantage point as a backyard viewer, the work on this road has progressed quickly and at least to the untrained eye, efficiently.

Many of us have made it a point to review the day's work each evening after the dust of the construction has settled for another day. Those of us who have been sidewalk supervisors during the construction have been amazed at the depth of the holes dug, the ability of the workers to do their jobs, the politeness of those who have had to come and turn off utilities and then turn them back on, and the mazes of connections those in the know have been able to disconnect and then reconnect.

We have been saddened by the loss of trees. I hope that they will be replaced.

All of us, whether we live near the construction zone or whether we work near it, or have simply needed to get through the construction, have probably had to deal with some inconveniences because of the construction. We have had to all learn to watch for stop signs where we haven't been used to any signs. We will all be thankful when most of the 4-way stops are eliminated and replaced by the new traffic lights.

I hope, however, that the city fathers will consider leaving some of the stop signs in place permanently. It's a pleasure to not have to watch ever so carefully at the Post Office corner for those who are supposed to yield to the cars on LaBree. A stop sign, not a yield sign at Second and LaBree, would be a blessing.

The media has kept us informed of the day to day progress of the construction of one of our town's main arteries. The meetings, once a week, seem like a good way to express concerns and discuss progress. Information in the hands of the people who are affected goes a long way in eliminating problems between the construction team and the citizens. We have been kept informed.

I have been intrigued by one item that is part of the reconstruction of this road. Perhaps in some report, somewhere we were told what it is, but I certainly didn't learn. I would like to know what the purpose of the black fabric that is laid so carefully across the road and then covered with sand. It must be significant, but its purpose eludes me.

Well, the construction of our highway will be over before we know it. Winter will see to that. I won't miss the noise and I particularly will not miss the dust. I think that I won't wash my windows until after the dust settles from this project! By then it will be winter and it'll be too cold to wash windows. Maybe I can put off the window washing project until next spring! Any project that delays window washing just has to be good. Our Highway 32 project is such a good reason to delay clean windows—but, if I don't get my windows clean, it will be a long winter of looking out of dirty windows. So—hurry up and finish this reconstruction. Winter is coming too quickly.

Public nurses help to teach farm safety

Farm safety and health is a new focus for county public health nurses working on the Minnesota Farming Health Project, according to the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

The project is turning nurses into rural community organizers and sending them to places like agricultural shows, implement dealers and commodity production meetings.

The project, a federally funded program run by the Minnesota Department of Health and public health agencies in ten Minnesota communities, is designed to enlist farmers and community volunteers in multi-county farm safety coalitions. Each coalition plans and implements its own prevention programs.

"In our area, concern is definitely out there about farm kids' safety," reports public health nurse Colleen Nelson, who coordinates a project site in northwest Minnesota.

The Newfolden-based coalition, led by Cindy Christopherson, an agent in Marshall County with the University of Minnesota's Extension Service, helped organized two 4-H farm safety day camps in Roseau and Marshall counties this August.

Other community coalitions have focused on different health risks to farmers and their families.

In southwestern Minnesota, for example, the relationship of economic and emotional stressors to farm injuries and fatalities is the focus for the coalition based in Nobles and Rock counties. "There are no easy solutions to the problems of farm stress," said public health nurse Susan Voehl, "but in setting our priorities, we didn't feel we could ignore this important area."

"In our area, dairying is big," said Brenda Lenz, public health nurse for Meeker, McLeod and Sibley counties. "Our coalition wanted to respond to equipment related injuries and respiratory hazards. We distributed warning decals for hazardous equipment, and are conducting lung function testing at farm meetings."

The Farming Health Project's three sites cover ten counties in Minnesota. Five sites are in northwest Minnesota (Kittson, Roseau, Marshall, Pennington and Red Lake counties), three sites are in south central Minnesota (Meeker, McLeod and Sibley counties); and two sites are in southwest Minnesota (Nobles and Rock counties).

During the "Farm Safety Walkabout" held this weekend at the Jerry and Ruth Hesnedl farm southeast of St. Hilaire, the family checked for safety features in the house, farmyard, buildings and machinery. Here Jerry, daughter Angie and son Jeremiah note the taillights and turn signals on a large grain wagon. Farmers have found the wagons to be especially useful during this wet fall. Because of the wagon's size, however, it is impossible to see lights from a towing vehicle when approaching from the rear. The lights are important for safety.

Woodcrafters hold first meet of fall season

prizes are being offered in a random drawing for families who return the completed walkabout form by October 5. They include $30 and $20 in credit toward one month's REA bill, two tickets to the Oak Ridge Boys concert at the Chester Fritz auditorium in Grand Forks October 16 and a large pizza at Danny's in Thief River Falls or Warroad. All four of the prizes will be awarded in each of the REA cooperative areas.

The walkabout form has separate sections that emphasize people, house and farmyard; machinery; farm buildings; and an evaluation.

It also lists activities in each area which will contribute toward increased safety and health. One is for the family to write simple directions to the farm for emergency responders and post a copy by each phone. The directions should provide specific miles and road names or numbers, include landmarks (such as mailboxes) that can be readily seen at night and be simple enough for the youngest family reader to read.

Another suggestion is for an adult to take each child up to the driver's seat of a tractor or large truck with the motor turned off. Another adult should stand behind the machine and ask the child: "With your hands on the steering wheel, look over your shoulder. Can you see me? What would happen if you backed up right now?" Emphasize the danger in playing on or near machinery.

Demonstrate how to turn off each piece of equipment, including how to turn off the fuel for motorized equipment. Each family member should know how to shut off all pieces of machinery in emergency situations.

The Times joins the coalition in encouraging farm families to conduct the walkabout and correct safety hazards to the greatest extent possible.

individual on the allocation committee and then examined by the entire board of directors.

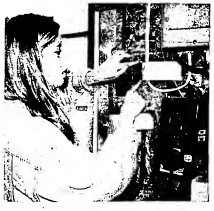
Local board members for the United Way include: Chad Broadwell, chairman, Kent Fritze, vice chairman, Doris Vevea, treasurer, Denice Nelson, director, Bev Rupprecht, director, Kyle Anderson, director, Pam Kolden, director, Ray Kuznia, director, Kathi Carlson, director, Kelly Rogalla, director, and Mary Anderson, executive director. The local chapter of the United Way does not have any full time employees or building space. Except for a part-time executive director and treasurer, board members and committee members are all volunteers. Expenses for maintaining an important and effective fund-raising mechanism in Thief River Falls is minimal.

A total of 33 organizations received funds from the local chapter of the United Way. The real beneficiaries of the local chapter of the United Way are local people, neighbors, friends, and relatives. But, that's what United Way is all about — people helping people.

Volunteers collecting pledges and donations will be visiting homes and businesses in the next few months. Those volunteers will be able to answer questions and provide information about the local chapter of the United Way such as a list of organizations who benefited directly from your contributions last year and why: American Cancer Society, Area Ag Information Center, Arthritis Foundation, Boy Scouts, Camp Sunshine, Child Protection Council, Children's Home Society, Courage Center, Crossroads—Displaced Homemakers Program; D.A.R.E., Discovery Place, Falls Day Activity Center, Friendship Club, Girl Scouts, Heart Research, Heritage Community Center, Heritage Seniors, Kidney Foundation of Thief River Falls, Little Brother/Little Sister, Lutheran Social Service of Minnesota, Minnesota Charities Review Council, North Country Food Bank Inc., Northern Lights Bookstore, Northland Community Hospice, O.D.C., Options, Pennington County 4-H leaders, RSVP, Salvation Army, School Age Task Force, Sister Kenny Institute, United Way of America, and Violence Intervention Project.

The board would like to encourage everyone to donate something to the local chapter. With one donation you will support more than 30 human service agencies.

Fire extinguishers in accessible places, including the farm shop and on motorized equipment, should part of the safety plan for all farms. Jeramiah Hasnedl checks the instructions on this fire extinguisher in the farm garage and shop. This week is being observed as national Farm Safety and Health Week.



Emergency information, including telephone numbers and specific directions to the farm for emergency responders, has been placed by each telephone at the Jerry Hasnedl farm southeast of St. Hilaire. Angie Hesnedl tapes one of the information sheets near the phone in the farm shop. September 20-26 is national Farm Safety and Health Week.

Capitol Commentary

by LeRoy Stumpf
State Senator — District 1

Parents with school-age children grabbed the attention of state lawmakers earlier this year. The Legislature amended the parental leave law.

This issue can get confusing because both Congress and the State Legislature discuss it. What follows is a rundown of what Minnesota is doing, not what Congress might do.

Minnesota law requires employers to allow unpaid time off for parents in certain circumstances. The law has been around for a while but was changed last spring.

The amount of time a parent is allowed to take remains the same at 16 hours a year. The difference is in the way those hours are counted.

The time frame has been changed from the school year to any 12 month period. The Legislature also has added to the list of activities that qualify for parental leave.

In the past parents were entitled to time off only for conferences and classroom activities. Now the list includes activities at nursery schools, day care centers, Head Start and special education.

An important point for employers and employees is that the law applies only if the activity could not be scheduled during non-work hours. It also states that when "...the need for leave is foreseeable, the employee must provide reasonable prior notice."

Employees also must make a "reasonable effort" to schedule the leave so it does not "disrupt unduly" the work of the employer. Nothing in the law requires that the parental time off be paid. However, an employee may substitute accrued paid vacation time for something that would qualify for parental leave.

A change in the law this year also requires Minnesota's Department of Labor and Industry to spread the word about it. The department was required to develop a poster for workplaces to spell out employee rights.

The department also is responsible for handling complaints from employees. If someone complains about an employer's handling of parental leave, the department will try to resolve the complaint.

Minnesota's parental leave law only sets up a minimum standard. It does not prohibit employers from starting a more generous policy for employees. In fact, some employers already have such policies in place.

The students who run back into schoolrooms this month probably will not notice many changes. However, Minnesota has changed some of its education funding.

The past legislative session included cuts for every area of the state budget. Because K-12 education is a high priority, it fared better than other areas. Here's a quick look at the Education Finance Bill.

One new provision is an accounting move the Governor proposed. It raises the property tax recognition shift from 37 to 50 per cent. If this causes short-term borrowing for schools, state aid is authorized for reimbursement.

The major cut was five percent from the Department of Education. When choosing between cuts from schools and cuts from St. Paul's offices, the Legislature chose the latter.

Lawmakers also worked on the problem of local red ink through the debt service equalization program. $6 million is appropriated for fiscal year 1993 to help schools that are property poor and have high debt.

The equalization plan that was approved is a revised version of one that passed last year. The new program will make it easier for local schools to get more help on building projects.

Another section of the bill is designed to get more parents involved with schools. It requires that parental involvement programs include parents in curriculum advisory or school building teams.

One cutting method reviewed the balance sheet on education programs. To stretch the dollars, the Legislature cut funding to some programs that recently had a surplus.

Squeezing an education budget is not something lawmakers, administrators, teachers, parents, nor students enjoy. In the past legislative session, the goal was to cut the budget in ways that would least affect students.

REPORT

From The

by Rep. Wallace Sparby
District 1B

Rep. Wally Sparby said recently that Minnesota's business climate, especially as it affects small towns and rural areas, remains a top priority for the legislature.

"Commercial property taxes are one area, for example, where we've made some significant headway over the last few years by lowering rates," Rep. Sparby said. "Our concern for the state's business climate in general is one big reason we worked so hard for so many years to pass a workers' compensation reform package that the governor was willing to sign into law."

He said lawmakers are well aware that there is still a great deal of work that could be done on the business climate issue. Rep. Sparby, who has specialized in rural economic development issues for several years, is particularly concerned about the health of rural Minnesota's economy as the signs are pointing toward a longer and more difficult recession than anticipated.

Property tax relief is one area that the legislature has been working on for several years—both for individual homeowners and in the area of commercial and industrial property tax relief. Studies have shown that particularly in small rural communities, business property taxes are high not just in dollar amounts but also in relation to the amount of local services provided for businesses.

"For example, back in 1989, business property tax rates were 3.3 per cent for properties under $100,000 in market value and 5.25 per cent for larger ones—compared to 1 to 3 per cent for most homes and 3.3 to 4.6 per cent for rental apartments. We know from the evidence that this high rate was doing damage to businesses all over the state, Rep. Sparby said.

He explained that the 1989 tax bill established a schedule for lowering property taxes for businesses over several years. By 1996, the rate for properties worth $100,000 or less will be 3 per cent (a 10 per cent reduction from 1989) and for larger properties it will be 4.6 per cent (a 13 per cent tax reduction from 1989).

However, Rep. Sparby cautioned, there is more to the story. The local governments that were collecting the higher property taxes on businesses used that income to offset lower property taxes for individual homeowners and to provide services for everyone in the community.

"To protect local governments from a sudden loss of property tax revenue that could disrupt essential services, the state increased aid payments to those local governments as the tax rates were lowered. These increased payments also headed off the possibility that cities and counties would raise taxes on homes to make up for the reductions on businesses—but they are very expensive for the state to maintain," he said.

Rep. Sparby pointed out that the formula of more state aid in exchange for lower rates has been constant through all the state's budget discussions and spending cuts for the past three years. He predicted that the legislature will not abandon its commitment to keep property taxes low for businesses and homeowners when the new session starts in January, even though the state's slowing economy is expected to once again put a strain on the budget.

"However, there are many reasons why taxes go up, and this session will be a good time to take a closer look at all of them. Some of them are not things we in the Legislature can control, but some are," he said.

Two examples of controllable factors affecting business property tax rates are ones the legislature already has acted on, he said—tax increment financing and school excess levy referendums. In tax increment financing, taxes generated by new development are kept in the development zone, raising the burden on the remaining businesses. And levy referendums, which provide extra funds for schools, affect business property more severely than residential property because of the disparity in tax rates. However, Rep. Sparby said, the legislature has in the past two years taken steps to limit the effect of both of these.

Rep. Sparby said he hoped anyone with comments or concerns about this or any other issue would contact him at (612) 296-9918.

Highway 59 border crossing meet held in Thief River Falls

[illegible] Hagerty said the [illegible] longer than [illegible].

Hagerty even went further by suggesting that even if the resources were available, distribution of those resources takes place throughout the region, so more resources would not guarantee that the crossing at Lancaster would receive additional personnel and resources.

Rep. Wally Sparby, one of the several legislators at the meeting, wanted to know what the process was for a proposal to change the status and service of the crossing. Sparby added that he has received a lot of letters and comments about the crossing and he thinks the increased taxation brought about by the increase in traffic across the crossing far out matches any increase in additional employee costs.

Goggins explained that there is no fundamental difference between a border station and a port of entry. A change would only affect the U.S. customs internal structure, but would do nothing as to changing hours of operation and service. The issue, as Goggins sees it then, is whether the Lancaster station be designated as a cargo clearing border crossing. Whether a crossing is a cargo clearing crossing is largely based on volume of traffic. Commercial ports of entry can handle all freight, while permit ports, like Lancaster, can only handle low risk freight, such as fertilizer. Permits are relatively easy to obtain. Commercial ports of entry require that there be a broker at the crossing because brokers are necessary to clear cargo. Goggins said because there isn't enough traffic, brokers are not at the crossing so truckers don't use the crossing.

Ken Berg, a leader of the Highway 59 border crossing group, said "it's a matter of what came first, the chicken or the egg." He said he has had brokers talk to him but if hours at the station are restricted, there won't be any truckers traveling through the crossing. And, if there aren't any truckers using the crossing, there won't be any brokers.

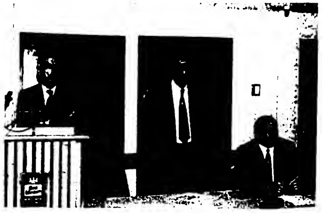
Commercial traffic at the border crossing has been very limited, but Berg said that's a result of limited hours. Even if they have permits to cross the border, they will divert away from the crossing if they aren't sure the crossing will be open.

Jane Mattson, president of the chamber of commerce in Thief River Falls, cleared up some confusion by explaining that the proposal being prepared only asks the government to expand the hours of service from 6 a.m. to midnight. They don't want the crossing to be open 24 hours a day.

Gary Rice, a member of the Lancaster city council, said the Highway 59 group does not want the crossing to be open 24 hours a day. What they're concerned about is the restricted service. Buses, for example, are important and their crossing at Lancaster is discouraged, he said, apparently because they don't have the staff to handle bus tours at the crossing.

Ron Cook of the Shooting Star Casino in Mahnomen said the border crossing hours are a major problem for the casino. Currently, they serve 12 buses per week that accommodate 600 people for overnight stays, 20 per week up and back bus packages, and 700 vehicles on a daily basis with passengers. "The bus tour offices are telling us they cannot get through," he said. Cook added that in addition to improved service at the border crossing, he has met with the department of transportation about widening Highway 59.

It was clear from Friday's meeting that residents living along Highway 59 who are interested to improved service at the border crossing, will have to continue to voice their opinions. They have a long way to go in achieving their goal.



Ed Goggins of U.S. Customs, Ray Hagerty, Pembina district director for U.S. Customs, and Terry Stallman, economic development director from Congressman Collin Peterson's office, listened to a number of concerns and comments about the operation of the Highway 59 border crossing near Lancaster last Friday. The meeting was held at the Best Western.

Fisher-Price recalls child car seats

Fisher-Price, a leading car seat manufacturer, has announced two recalls involving convertible/toddler car seats. The affected seats are model numbers 9100 and 9101. These recalls together affect more than 900,000 seats.

One recall affects seats manufactured between February 8, 1991 and January 24, 1992. The model number and date of manufacture are printed on the side or back of each seat.

According to Fisher-Price, the shoulder belts on these seats can come unfastened at the connector bar at the back of the seat, thereby failing to restrain a child in the event of a crash. Owners are urged to contact Fisher-Price to obtain a plastic cover for the connector bar. The plastic cover will prevent the belts from coming unfastened.

The second recall is an extension of an existing recall and affects model numbers 9101 manufactured between May 1, 1987 and November 1, 1989.

With these seats, the plastic laminate inside the buckle can crack, causing difficulty in latching the buckle. Owners are urged to contact Fisher-Price to obtain a free replacement part that will correct the problem.

Fisher-Price can be reached toll-free at 1-800-432-5437.

The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration strongly urges parents to use an alternative child safety seat while waiting for a remedy kit or replacement seat, or to continue using the affected seat if an alternative is not available. An unrestrained child is much more likely to suffer serious injury in a crash than is properly restrained child.

To report a suspected defect, or to obtain up-to-the-minute information on child car seat recalls, contact the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration's Auto Safety Hotline at 1-800-424-9393.

U of Minnesota researches farm safety

A University of Minnesota research center designed to promote research in agricultural health and safety is assisting Minnesota Farm Safety and Health week efforts, according to the University of Minnesota Extension Service.

Some of the research projects underway at the university include:

- a sociological study of how farm work deaths affect family dynamics
- an epidemiological survey of agricultural injuries in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Nebraska and the Dakotas
- a series of community interventions designed to reduce cancer among farm workers
- laboratory research aimed at identifying substances in human cells which will "identify" exposures to agricultural chemicals
- environmental surveys of the impact of pesticides and herbicides on soil and water quality
- an effort to apply child development theories to improved safety for farm children

The Minnesota Center for Research in Agricultural Safety and Health (MN CRASH) has developed a quarterly newsletter called "Farm Safety and Health Digest," to better publicize such research. The center will also publish a roster of agricultural safety and health research and outreach projects this fall.

MN CRASH was established in December 1991 at the recommendation of the Minnesota Legislature's Task Force on Farm Safety. Based in the University's School of Public Health, MN-CRASH is a multi-disciplinary center, with links to a national network of similar centers through the Nation Coalition for Agricultural Safety and Health.

Health dep't. seeks water test funds

Minnesota Department of Health (MDH) is seeking advice on the best way to pay for a recent expansion of its public water supply testing program.

Under a new provision of the federal Safe Drinking Water Act, MDH must test 1,761 public water supply systems in the state for 83 different contaminants—including 53 that were added to the list this year. To pay for the expanded testing program, the Minnesota Legislature authorized a fee of $5.21 a year, to be collected from each home or business connected to water supply systems operated by a city or a rural water district.

However, the Legislature also required MDH to set up a special review committee to determine if that annual "connection fee" is the best—and fairest—way to fund the program. The committee held its first meeting September 10 and is expected to produce its recommendations at its second meeting, scheduled for October 1.

The committee is looking for a funding mechanism that will allow public water supply users to share the cost of the program in an equitable fashion, according to Gary Englund, chief of the MDH water supply and well management program.

People are being asked to do more than simply pay for testing activities at their own local water utility, Englund emphasized. They are being asked to pay for their share of a statewide drinking water program.

"The objective is to ensure the quality of the drinking water wherever people go in Minnesota," Englund said. "People don't just drink water in their own homes. They also drink the water at work and as they travel around the state for business or recreation.

"The committee is exploring a number of options for funding the program. The goal is to balance fairness with practicality."

A number of concerns have been raised abut the fairness of the connection fee. The fee isn't currently paid by people who get their water from non-municipal public water supply systems—like those that serve business firms and some housing subdivisions. People with private wells, who may use water from public systems when they're away from home, also don't currently pay the fee. In addition, larger users—like business firms or apartment complexes—pay the same connection fee as individual homeowners.

"Ideally, of course, we would like to spread the cost burden as fairly as possible," states Marlene E. Marschall, Minnesota Commissioner of Health. "However, adding administrative costs to collect the fees can make the program more expensive. The committee will have to weigh both sides of that equation."

The committee includes three representatives from the Minnesota League of Cities—one from a city with over 50,000 resident, one from a city of 3,300 to 50,000 resident and one from a city with fewer than 3,300 residents. The committee also includes one member each from the American Water Works association, the Minnesota Rural Water Districts, the Minnesota Department of Education, the Manufactured Housing association, the Minnesota Chamber of Commerce and the Minnesota Hospitality association.

September is literacy month

Minnesota is celebrating September as Literacy Month. In the United States there are 30 million adults who are functionally illiterate. Only 10 per cent of those adults are being served in adult basic education programs.

Children whose parents are functionally illiterate are twice as likely as their peers to be functionally illiterate. U.S. Department of Education statistics show that over a lifetime, high school graduates earn 40 per cent more than those who dropped out.

The United States ranks 49th among 156 United Nations member countries in its rate of literacy.

Adult Basic Education programs provides help with basic skills such as reading, writing, and math. Students whose first language is not English can learn to speak, read and write English.

Basic living skills such as budgeting, nutrition and passing the driver's test can be part of the curriculum. Preparing to pass the General Educational Development (GED) tests is one of the biggest reasons that adults take advantage of Adult Basic Education programs.

Adult Basic Education sites will open again this month. There is no cost to the student for these services.

For more information, contact the Adult Learning Center at 681-2542, Rosie Benke at 463-3670, Ann Dziengel at 478-2772, or Ruby Sundberg at 294-6514 or contact your public library.

Farm safety for children remains a concern

Since April 1991, 11 Minnesota children have died in farm accidents. The youngsters range in age from 18 months to eight years.

According to the University of Minnesota Extension Service, one drowned in a manure pit; five others riding on tractors fell off and were run over. One toddler was killed by a fertilizer truck, while another stumbled into an electric fence.

University of Minnesota researchers are finding strong links between childrens' ages and their involvement in accidents on the farm. Risks of serious injuries are highest for very young children (18 months to about 5 years) who begin to explore the farm without constant parental supervision. All of the Minnesota children killed in farm accidents in 1992 were 5 years old or younger.

According to the extension service, one community group working for a safer farm environment is the Minnesota Farming Health Project, a Minnesota Health Department effort to organize community coalitions for farm safety.

"We're trying to make farm communities aware that farm injuries are not isolated incidents or events beyond our control. They are part of a predictable preventable pattern" said project coordinator Catherine Lexau.

"Born chooser" will speak at Lincoln high

Craig Hillier, humorist and motivational speaker from Apple Valley, will present programs on self esteem and peer pressure this week at Lincoln senior high school in Thief River Falls and for student leaders at the Elks club rooms.

Sponsored by School District 564 in cooperation with the Sports Boosters and Elks Lodge 1308, the presentation will include an evening session for parents and students Thursday, all-school assembly Friday morning and students leadership sessions Friday morning and afternoon.

First session of the series will be Thursday, September 24, at 8 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium and is entitled "Better Choices, Better People, Better World." Students in grades 9-12 who are involved in co-curricular activities including sports, music, clubs and organizations are required to attend and attendance will be taken. Make-up sessions with a videotape of the presentation will be scheduled at 7:15 a.m. or 3:15 p.m. the week of September 28-October 2.

Special invitations are extended to parents of Lincoln high school and Franklin middle school students and to Franklin middle school students themselves. Following the session the Sports Boosters club will serve refreshments in the Lincoln cafeteria.

At 8:40 a.m. Friday Hillier will address an all-school assembly in the Lincoln auditorium on the theme "I'm a Born Chooser." All students in grades 9-12 will attend this assembly.

From 10 a.m. to noon at the Elks club rooms Hillier will conduct a student leadership workshop under the theme "TEAM Dynamics." In attendance will be 100 Lincoln students selected by the school faculty. The workshop is to assist teams functioning as a group of individuals to help blend individual roles into team goals. TEAM Dynamics investigates the communication challenge, understanding personalities, delegating responsibility and working together. At noon a lunch will be provided by the Elks lodge.

From 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. there will be a session entitled "Operation Student Storm" which will include the student senate, National Honor Society and selected "Target students."

Operation Student Storm is a workshop to put students in charge of making their environment more positive through creative thinking. Students normally have great ideas to make their school better. The workshop offers them a chance to turn their ideas into action and trains them to use proper channels when proposing a change for everyone's benefit.

"I believe that young people want to do what is right," Hillier said. "Too often, however, they are pressured and coerced into doing otherwise. Their worst fear is that of rejection—and it controls them in moments of temptation. If these individuals knew how to take a stand without alienating those around them, they would do it. Peer power supplies them with the answers they have been looking for and teaches them to take the stand they have wanted to take.

"Peer power promises to begin the trend of reversing negative peer influence. I believe that young people should not be made to feel stupid or inferior by their peers because they want to stand for what is right and healthy," Hillier adds.

"Peer power supplies the positive role model with sound logic and irrefutable responses. These young people will begin to literally 'turn the tables' of those promoting unhealthy, dangerous and negative behavior. With peer power training they will learn to stand proud, confident and sure, and they will learn to lead others with them."

TRF scores early and often against Wadena Deer Creek...

Prowlers win one-sided 55-0 game

Thief River Falls [illegible] scored five touchdowns on 19 plays, producing a 34-0 lead in the first minute of the second quarter Friday, then was held the rest of the game from the sidelines as the Prowlers' reserves finished up a one-sided 55-0 Section 8A high school football win over Wadena-Deer Creek.

It was the biggest Thief River Falls offensive output since 1971 when the Prowlers rolled up a 75-0 win over Roseau. They went to 2-1 for the year and dropped the struggling Wolverines to 0-3.

Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm was obviously happy with the win, but he also empathized with the Wadena-Deer Creek situation. "We were in the football game from the first play on," pointed out Mumm. "Our execution was outstanding. We're very happy with our performance. We got to play a lot of kids, and they enjoyed it."

First-ever Thief River Falls vs. Wadena-Deer Creek contest proved to be a mis-match, but the Prowlers and Wolverines are both Section 8A teams, pointed out Mumm. "It's like a conference game for us," he said. "It's a game against a sectional opponent, and it was important that we do well. But I feel for them (Wolverines). We've been there," he said, recalling 0-8 finishes in 1985 and 1988. The 1985 Prowlers – Mumm's first Thief River Falls team – scored only nine points all year. The 1988 squad also fell short of Friday's single-game performance with 52 points for the year.

It didn't take long to [illegible] the Wolverines were in trouble. [illegible] opening kickoff was followed by a five play, 57-yard Thief River Falls touchdown march, with Marc Haugen bouncing off tacklers and sprinting down the right side for a 38-yard touchdown 2:13 into the game. Barry Rhineberger came on to start what would be a busy 7-for-8 night in the extra point kicking department.

Two plays later Wade Evenson intercepted Wadena-Deer Creek quarterback Jeremy Erickson at the Wolverines 46. Those 46 yards were covered in two plays and 25 seconds as Carter Rogalla took an inside reverse 21 yards and a little more backfield deception opened up the left side for Kevin Johnson, who sprinted 25 yards for the touchdown.

The same sequence was repeated moments later for a 21-0 spread when Jason Svir intercepted Erickson on another second down pass, and the Prowlers came up with another two-play scoring drive, this one requiring all of 34 seconds as Svir lobbed a 24-yard touchdown pass to wide-open tight end Joby Looker.

The Wolverines managed to hold on to the ball long enough to face a punting situation on their next possession, but once they put the ball in the Prowlers' hands it was touchdown time again. With junior Jeff Twomey quarterbacking a wishbone [illegible] Svir [illegible] Thief River Falls [illegible].

Thief River Falls went 5-for-5 [illegible] the scoring department when the Prowlers' fifth possession [illegible] six play, 35-yard touchdown drive following an incompletion by Erickson on fourth down [illegible] fake punt. Nathan Knutson [illegible] 3-yard run and Rhineberger's kick made it 34-0 on the third play of the second quarter.

Most of the starters spent the rest of the night watching the action as Mumm played [illegible] bench extensively.

Thief River Falls failed to add points the rest of the first half, or in the third quarter, but the Prowlers picked up three fourth quarter touchdowns to complete the rout.

These touchdowns included a blocked punt by Darin Weleski that was recovered in the end zone by Shane Skeim on the first play of the fourth quarter, a Wadena-Deer Creek fumble that was recovered in the end zone by Nick Trudeau just two plays after the punt block; and an 11-yard run by Lee Lund with just 20 seconds left.

Twelve Thief River Falls ball carriers netted 241 yards on 49 carries. The spread-out figures included 70 yards on six carries by Haugen, 41 yards on three attempts by Svir, and 35 yards on four tries by Johnson.

Svir was also 2-for-2 passing for 73 yards, hiking the Prowlers' offensive production to 314 yards for the day. The Wolverines were [illegible] minus four yards on the ground and were 4 for 21 in the air for 49 yards. A week earlier Erickson was 13 for 40 for 255 yards passing in a 14-6 loss to [illegible]-Hewitt. Friday he was sacked three times and intercepted four times. The Wolverines also fumbled five times, losing three of them.

Mistakes, Vermilion beat Northland

Vermilion, thanks in part to a few costly Northland errors, posted a 26-8 football win Saturday that not only spoiled the Pioneers' 1992 home opener, but also put a damper on Parent's Day/Pepsi Bowl activities, and produced an 0-1 start to a six-week Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division schedule.

"They (Ironmen) have a very good football team," said Northland coach Gene Klinke, "but there was no reason we couldn't have won that game. We basically self-destructed at critical times. There were four-five plays that turned the whole game around."

Only Northland touchdown came on a 26-yard second quarter run by quarterback Mitch Bernstein that cut into a 19-0 Vermilion lead. The Pioneers had two first-and-goal situations slip away without producing points.

It was 26-6 when Northland's Mark Hildebrandt tackled a Vermilion ball carrier in the end zone for a fourth quarter safety.

A Northland kicking game that was the talk of the town the week before struggled in Game 2 when runningback/place kicker Sheldon Hinton suffered a sprained ankle and Brian Lambert had a punt blocked.

Shawn Campbell carried the ball 34 times for 100 yards as Northland out-rushed Vermilion 149 yards to 64, but sophomore quarterback Tony DeLeon, the No. 1 passer in the nation last fall, carried the Ironmen by throwing for 255 yards and three touchdowns during a busy 13-for-41 afternoon on the slick Prowler Field surface.

Joe Harmon caught five DeLeon passes for 183 yards, while Ben Brown hauled in two touchdowns.

Northland quarterback Mitch Bernstein was 9-for-28 passing for 112 yards. The figures could have been better, pointed out Klinke, if Northland receivers would not have dropped four-five passes that were on target.

"We did some things well," said Klinke. "We just have to put it all together. Our offensive line did a great job, Shane Noble opened up some huge holes for Campbell and Hinton, but when Hinton got hurt, they keyed on Campbell and shut our ground game down in the second half."

Vermilion is 2-0. Northland fell to 1-1. Northland goes back on the road Saturday for a 1:30 p.m. game at Hibbing, a team coming off a 41-6 loss at the hands of the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

"Vermilion has an extremely tough football team," acknowledged Klinke, but they knew they played a very good football team and were fortunate to come out with a win. This football team is not going to be 1-7. They're going to bounce back and prove to everyone they are a good football team."

Defense key to Bulldogs' 27-0 victory

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River defense not only produced a shutout, it also scored – on a 95-yard pass interception return by Rick Wappula – as the Bulldogs stopped Red Lake Falls 27-0 Friday in a Valley Plains Conference high school football game played at Badger.

"That was a big play," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Vern Schnathorst, pointing to the interception return that not only protected a 13-0 lead, but stretched it to 20-0 at halftime. "Our defense played very well," noted Schnathorst. "Outside of that one drive, we didn't give them anything all night."

Defensive tackle Kurt Praska was credited with 10 solo stops, including a quarterback sack, to lead the Bulldogs' defense. Nose guard Dan Koehmstedt also played well, said Schnathorst.

Offensively, the Bulldogs weren't as sharp, according to Schnathorst. "We scored on big plays," he said. "It's nice to see we have some explosiveness, but we weren't able to control the ball as well as I would have liked. We had too many fumbles and too many penalties."

David Blazek scored on runs of 40 and 3 yards and had 85 yards on 17 carries to lead the Bulldogs' offense.

It was the second straight win for Northland volleyball...

Pioneers have busy first-week schedule

First week of the 1992 season was a busy one for the Northland Community College volleyball team as the Pioneers played nine matches in four outings over a six-day span – at Devils Lake, ND, Grand Rapids/Coleraine, International Falls, and Crookston.

They came out of it with a 3-6 record. "It was a tough week," admitted Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We played a lot of volleyball, and the kids are tired. We're still experimenting with a lot of things, and it is a little frustrating yet for the kids."

Northland will play at home for the first time Friday with a 6:30 p.m. match against the Concordia College junior varsity. The Pioneers will also host a Monday triangular starting at 5 p.m. when they will be joined by UND-Lake Region and Rainy River.

Latest stops for the Pioneers included a Friday triangular at International Falls and a Saturday invitational at Crookston.

Host Rainy River beat Northland 15-8, 15-8, 16-14, with the Pioneers bouncing back to edge Vermilion 15-11, 15-11, 16-14 in Friday's matches.

"Rainy River is really tough," pointed out Jacobson. "They're really quick. They don't let anything hit the floor. We played better volleyball against Vermilion; it was a typical day for us – it takes us a little while to get going."

After getting back to Thief River Falls from International Falls at 2 a.m. Saturday, the Pioneers were back on the road at 7 that morning en route to the University of Minnesota-Crookston Invitational.

It was an 0-4 day for the tired Pioneers, made even longer by a three-hour delay because of a power failure midway through the tournament.

Fergus Falls beat Northland 15-11, 15-11; Normandale came from behind to take the Pioneers 14-16, 15-10, 15-10; and North Dakota State College of Science swept Northland 15-10, 15-10 in round-robin pool play that determined seeding positions for the single-elimination finals of the eight-team event.

That put the fourth place Pioneers against first place Brainerd in the quarterfinals, and the Raiders won 15-10, 15-4.

Staples Area is next Thief River Falls foe

Another trip down Highway 10 awaits Thief River Falls Friday when the Prowlers take on Staples Area in a 7:30 p.m. Section 8A high school football game.

Thief River Falls was in Wadena last week, where the Prowlers handled Wadena-Deer Creek 55-0. The Prowlers will follow the same route this week, passing through Wadena on their way to Staples – 17 miles down the road.

The Cardinals are 0-3, scoring just six points in losing to Little Falls 47-6, East Grand Forks 27-0 and Park Rapids Area 28-0.

Thief River Falls is 2-1. The one-sided win at Wadena was preceded with a 21-2 loss to Detroit Lakes and a 14-7 win over Crookston.

In other games involving Section 8A teams over the weekend, Detroit Lakes beat Crookston 35-12, Fergus Falls got by Hibbing 15-12, Little Falls edged Monticello 15-14, and Perham fell to Roseau 36-19. East Grand Forks had an open date.

Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls and Little Falls are all 3-0. Thief River Falls is 2-1; East Grand Forks is 1-1; Crookston, Park Rapids Area and Perham are 1-2; while Staples Area and Wadena-Deer Creek are both 0-3.

Since the current Section 8A football playoff format went into effect in 1984, a coaches' seeding meeting determined post-season positions. However, the 1992 playoff pairings will be arranged upon a regular season point system that will award 120 points for a win over a Class AA school, 100 points for a victory over a Class A opponent, and 80 points for a decision over a Class B or C foe.

As a member of the Class AA Central Lakes Conference, Little Falls has the potential for the most points this year – 900. Fergus Falls will be playing for 840 points; Crookston and Thief River Falls 800; Detroit Lakes, Park Rapids Area and Staples Area 740; East Grand Forks 721; and Perham 640.

Two of the ten Section 8A teams will not make the playoffs.

Bemidji girls win swim title

Bemidji was the winner Saturday at the 15th annual Park Rapids Invitational girls high school swim meet.

The Lumberjacks collected 390.5 points, followed by Fergus Falls with 362, Moorhead 339.5, Thief River Falls 229, Detroit Lakes 198.5, Park Rapids Area 172.5, and Crookston 134.

Senior Amy Adams and sophomore Theresa Giauque led the Thief River Falls point-producers as Adams won the 50 freestyle and 100 butterfly, while Giauque placed second in both the 200 freestyle and 500 freestyle.

Adams, Giauque, senior Senna Torgerson, and junior Lisa Ulrich combined for a second place finish in the 400 freestyle relay.

"Amy looked very good, and Theresa had very nice swims, too," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken. "It was a good meet for us. The times for the older kids are stabilizing, the younger kids are turning in tremendous improvements, and our divers are becoming very consistent. There were a lot of good things that happened for us."

Thief River Falls was scheduled to host Grand Forks today (Tuesday) at 5 p.m. in the Franklin Middle School.

RLCC gains second shutout

Another solid defensive effort highlighted a 14-0 Red Lake County Central win over Fisher/Climax Friday in a North Tri-County Conference high school football game played at Plummer.

It was the third straight win for the Mustangs, and their second consecutive shutout. In fact, the first team Red Lake County Central defense has yet to give up a point in wins over Laporte 40-14, Win-E-Mac 8-0 and Fisher/Climax.

Red Lake County Central and Fisher/Climax played to scoreless tie until the Mustangs' Paul Melby hauled in a 20-yard touchdown pass from Scott Lorenson midway through the third quarter.

It stayed 6-0 until Shannon Willett broke off a 27-yard touchdown run and Jacob Melby added the two-point conversion with about four minutes left in the game.

"It was a defensive struggle," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brandt. "It was a hard-hitting defensive game on both sides. Our kids are playing good defense. They're playing hard, and they're playing with good intensity."

Linebackers Adam Lundeen (8 tackles-8 assists), Jacob Melby (9-5) and Shawn McMullen (6-7), along with tackle Chad Pahlen (7-6) and defensive back Darrin Hofstad (5-3) led the Mustangs' tackle charts. McMullen played well, said Brandt, filling in for Jamie Hruby, who suffered a slight knee injury early in the game.

Red Lake County Central finished with 193 yards worth of offense, including 115 yards on 32 rushing attempts and a 6-for-13 passing effort by Lorenson for 79 yards. He had the touchdown pass, but was also intercepted three times.

Willett led the ball carriers with 53 yards on seven carries, while Jonathan Sundrud, filling in for Hruby on the offensive side of the ball, netted 40 yards on 14 attempts. Paul Melby finished with three key receptions for 41 yards.

Red Lake County Central will be observing homecoming Friday when the Mustangs take on Ulen-Hitterdahl in a 7 p.m. game at Oklee.

INSURANCE Update
by Dee Schmidigall

SURETY BONDS

A surety bond is a written instrument between two parties. The Principal, is responsible for the obligation that is set forth within the terms of the bond. If the Principal fails to perform his obligation, the Surety company becomes obligated up to the limit of the bond. The person or entity that requires the bond is called the Obligee. The Surety company guarantees that the Principal is able to perform his obligation. In this way, both the Obligee and the public are protected accordingly.

The majority of surety bonds are required by law. The requirement of a bond helps to select the qualified from the unqualified. A process called surety underwriting helps in this selection. Research conducted during the underwriting process assures the company of the Principal's integrity, ability, and financial responsibility with regard to performing his obligation.

Suretyship is viewed as a form of credit, and is based on general credit principles. In this respect, a suretyship more closely resembles banking than insurance.

NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is available to assist you with your bonding needs as well as your insurance needs. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is conveniently located in the Northern State Bank Building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri.; 8:30-6:00 Thurs.

Sacred Heart is title winner at Newfolden

East Grand Forks Sacred Heart went 4-0 Saturday to win the round-robin Marshall County Central Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Argyle was second with a 3-1 finish, followed by Marshall County Central at 2-2, Stephen 1-3, and Goodridge/Grygla 0-4.

The host Nordics opened with a 15-5, 15-17, 15-6 win over Goodridge/Grygla and also picked up a 15-9, 12-15, 15-7 victory over Stephen. But Argyle stopped Marshall County Central 16-14, 15-9, and Sacred Heart finished the tournament – and avoided a three-way first place tie – with a 15-7, 15-10 conquest of the Nordics.

"It was a typical tournament day for us," reported Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "We started slow. It took us a while to play at the level where we should be at. Poor serving was our biggest problem. We killed ourselves many times with our serving."

Selection of an all-tournament team included Marla Carter, Nicole Fontaine and Jodi Couette, Sacred Heart; Sarah Lokstad, Marshall County Central; Tamara Pietruszewski, Argyle; and Lisa Hoeper, Stephen.

Hunting alone from a portable deer stand on Randen ridge north of Grygle early Friday evening, 13-year-old Adam Swanson shot this 240-pound male black bear. Using a .270 caliber rifle and 140-grain bullet, Adam made a killing heart shot at about 25 yards and the animal only went about 25 feet from where it had come to a bait station. The son of Mark H. and Annatta Swanson of Thief River Falls, Adam was hunting in the same area where Emory Wicklender shot a 300-pound (field dressed) male bear on opening day. Adam was rewarded for his patience, having spent about 20 hours in the stand over six evenings before the bear made its appearance.

Student drug and alcohol

The number of Minnesota students involved in drug and alcohol use has shown a considerable drop compared to figures three years ago, according to the 1992 Minnesota Student Survey released today by the Minnesota Department of Education.

The survey was administered to 131,000 students in grades 6, 9 and 12 during spring 1992. It shows that, compared to 1989, the first year the survey was done:

- Alcohol and other drug use among preteens has dropped off substantially (use at least once a month, from 26 per cent to 19 per cent in grade 9, and 54 per cent to 41 per cent in grade 12).
- The average age of first use is higher (19 per cent fewer 6th graders report a history of use, 15 per cent fewer 9th-graders). Fewer adolescents have initiated use, fewer drink frequently or to intoxication and fewer drive after drinking or ride with drinking friends. The use of marijuana, cocaine and all other drugs combined shows similar declines.
- While rates of sexual activity remain virtually unchanged (30 per cent of 9th-graders and 61 per cent of 12th-graders have had sexual intercourse), many more students than in 1989 report taking precautions against pregnancy and sexually transmitted diseases. More are talking with partners about the risk of HIV/AIDS before having sex.

The study shows a correlation between reduced alcohol and drug use and changes in attitude. Students in the 1992 survey give more reasons for their decisions not to use, they show less acceptance of teenage drinking, and fewer think that adults exaggerate the danger of use.

The same proportion of students report serious problems with alcohol and other drug use as in 1989. One in six high school seniors and 7 per cent of 9th-graders acknowledge at least three consequences of use.

Declines in alcohol and other drug use cannot be attributed to an overall reduction in antisocial behavior among young people. The survey shows that the frequency of vandalism, fighting and shoplifting has changed very little. A slight rise was shown in the number of students who report serious emotional problems, low self esteem, and alienation from their families.

The Minnesota Student Survey is administered every three years to identify the problems that confront students and assist schools and communities in responding to these needs, and evaluating their prevention and intervention efforts. The Department of Education provides the survey, data analysis, and individual reports to each district to aid in this process. Participation by districts and students is voluntary. This year all but one district participated.

The Second Section

Erica McGeary, a seventh grade student at Franklin Middle School in Thief River Falls, demonstrates poise and control. McGeary was participating in one of many games for students at the school Friday. In this game McGeary had to carry a tennis ball on a spatula across a short distance, around a chair and back to the start where another student would take over. Franklin Middle School held New Year's celebration activities to mark the beginning of a new year at the school.

Tech colleges guarantee graduates

Beginning in 1994, employers who find graduates of Minnesota technical colleges lacking in skills that were part of their instructional program may re-enroll the employees for as many as 12 tuition-free credits.

The State Board of Technical Colleges adopted the guarantee plan at its September 15 meeting.

"The skill guarantee is part of the technical college's public accountability to its customers who include all Minnesota employers as well as the system's more than 50,000 students," states Dr. Carole Johnson, chancellor of the Minnesota Technical College System.

"The mark of world class customer service is an organization that knows its customers' needs and has the confidence to back its product," added Donna Anderson, president of the state board.

"We have listened to their needs, designed our programs accordingly, and promise our customers a meaningful return policy. Our students will be technically proficient based on the curriculum in the program at the time they enrolled, or we will bear the cost of retraining them.

"Our college faculty and students are truly top notch, which makes this a win-win situation for everyone, and the employers will benefit," Anderson added.

Minnesota's technical colleges join only a few states in offering guaranteed skills. In Minnesota, the guarantee will result in a three-way partnership designed by the employer, student and the college, and will cover the skills in the original program. Employers may choose any Minnesota technical college for the education. System leaders expect employers will choose to enroll students in the nearest technical college to minimize work schedule interruptions.

"Guarantees send a message that technical colleges can provide employers with a quality product," states Gary Mohrenweiser, vice

TRF Riverbank project is half funded

Funding for half the cost of a stabilization and improvement project on the east bank of the Red Lake river below the dam in Thief River Falls has been received by the Pennington Soil and Water Conservation District. Work on the project is expected to be done next year.

Red Lake Watershed District is the sponsoring agency and is supplying the engineering and design work for the project, according to Lowell Enerson, director of the watershed district. Total project cost is expected to be $96,200 with the SWCD grant of $48,100 received from the Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources (BWSR).

The project has several objectives, including stabilization of the riverbank below the dam, beautification of the appearance of the area and providing a safe access to the river for fishing. A similar project was completed on the west bank of the river below the city's power plant a year ago.

There is a possibility that the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources will incorporate a canoe landing into the project since there would be cost savings in a combined effort. The DNR plan would include a small dock and take-out site above the dam and a launching site below the dam.

Efforts are now being made to secure private funds to assist in matching the BWSR grant received

WE DECIDE WHEN IT'S TIME TO BECOME 'SENIOR CITIZENS'

The term "senior citizen" becomes increasingly elastic. There are those who consider themselves in that category as early as in the 50s, while others wait a lot longer. A newspaper editor, at the age of 80, still covers news events and writes an interesting weekly column. An 84-year-old artist still turns out beautiful paintings. There is no arbitrary "cut-off date" for doing something creative with your life, as long as you are physically able and wish to stay young, as opposed to becoming a "couch potato." More over, the children and grandchildren of these late life go-getters should respect and encourage their endeavors. The Bible, as well as our House of Worship, would do this, and the love and attention we give our elders will make them feel not so "elder" after all.

Growing old is not upsetting; being perceived as old is.

Looking for Success?

So is everybody else. And most of us don't know what it is, let alone where to find it. Maybe that's because we're not looking in the right places. As United Methodists we've discovered that we learn what success really means when we look for it together, with God's help.

It was decided to pay for the gas for the drivers who took members to the Crookston conference. Eight members attended. Altha gave a short recap of some of the things learned there. One thing was the possibility for anyone interested to start a "group home" for elderly people who need some help, but not enough to be in a nursing home. A group home (called "Home Plus") could have up to five residents and would be licensed by the state. There are a number of them already in Minnesota. They have worked out very well. There can be a home-like atmosphere at about half the cost. There are agencies to help one learn what and how this can be done. The meeting was adjourned.

Don't Be Too Busy To Be Safe!

Farming puts a lot of demands on everyone's time. Sometimes, when time is tight, experienced equipment operators and farm workers take shortcuts. These shortcuts can result in accidents that harm or kill. Saving a couple of minutes is not worth the chance of losing a lifetime. Don't be too busy to be safe.

This is one of the suggestions made in a Farm Safety Week reminder from Deere & Company, and we would like to join this farm equipment manufacturer in passing the reminders on to you.

Just say "no" to children. Many accidents could be prevented by simply keeping kids away from farm equipment. Do not permit a child to do an adult's job. Even when young people become mature enough to operate equipment, it's vitally important that they be able to properly use all of the machine's controls and work safely. Be sure they receive thorough safety and operating instruction. Basic tractor and machinery safety courses are available from many schools and extension offices.

Accept no riders. Children often plead for rides on equipment. Busy farm parents may be tempted to give in to these requests so they can spend more time with their children. Never give in to requests for rides from children—no matter how much they plead or how great the temptation.

Teach safety by good example. Actions often do speak louder than words. Parents need to make sure their daily safety behavior is consistent with the other safety information they provide to their children. Children will quickly notice when dad and mom don't practice what they preach.

Take a break. A high percentage of accidents occur after 5 p.m. One big reason is fatigue. Working long days and pushing to finish before weather conditions change take a toll in both physical and mental sharpness. If the job requires long hours or is done under stress, take extra breaks, to remain physically and mentally alert. A few minutes of rest can produce big returns in safety and productivity.

When working alone, keep others informed. If it's necessary to work alone, always tell someone where you'll be and when you'll return—just in case you have an accident and need help. A significant number of farmers and ranchers who were injured while working alone would be alive today if they had been found sooner.

Make sure equipment is in proper operating condition. Properly maintained and adjusted equipment is an important element in a safe and productive operation. Before the beginning of the use season and periodically during the season, inspect each machine thoroughly. Look for worn parts that may affect the smooth operation or reliability of the machine and replace or repair as required. This includes all shields, guards and safety signs.

Carefully read the operator's manual. The single best source of safety information about a machine and instructions for servicing and adjusting it for proper operation is the operator's manual. Study it thoroughly before operating a machine and keep it handy. If the operator's manual cannot be found, order a new one from the equipment dealer.

Shut it off before getting off. Always disengage the power and shut off the engine before working on any part of a machine. When working with others, make sure everyone is clear of the machine and in full view before restarting the engine.

Maintain a strong safety attitude. Most experienced farm workers and operators know how to work safely, but sometimes the temptation to take shortcuts and ignore safety principles proves too great to resist. Unfortunately, this momentary lapse in safety consciousness can result in injury or death. Success in making the farm a safer place to work and live requires the mental toughness to do a job safely every second of every day.

Perot Poised For Presidential Re-entry

Why that cagey li'l ol' Ross Perot! Has he had it in the back of his mind all along to attempt to steal the Presidential election in an 11th hour campaign blitz? We wouldn't be at all surprised.

Why else would a non-candidate allow (or perhaps even encourage) volunteers to make all the effort to petition to get his name on the ballot in all 50 states? He can afford to keep the ante up until someone calls his bluff. Does he expect to pick up all the chips by playing only one hand?

Petitioning has been done to allow his votes to be counted in every state in the nation—most of this after his formal announcement that he was quitting the race. Whatever the timing, he is in legal position to be elected.

He demonstrated early on that it was difficult, if not impossible, for him to provide any definitive substance to his proposals. He is probably well aware that professional politicians could pick him apart in a campaign of any length, robbing him of any mystical or magical appeal he may have with the electorate. And even with his vast personal wealth, it would have cost him dearly to mount an effective lengthy campaign against the war chests of the major political parties.

Perhaps foxy Ross is content to hang around the chicken-house door until just the right time to enter. He laid the groundwork of his candidacy months ago with all kinds of public exposure and virtually no outlay of funds. His name is linked with a Presidential bid from coast to coast, border to border and from Anchorage to Honolulu.

He stayed in the fray just long enough to begin to really feel the heat, then backed away and took himself out of the spotlight. Let the major party candidates destroy each other to the extent that no one will want to elect either one, he may figure, then mount his white charger and ride into the breach to save the day and the nation.

It's a good plan. He saves the cost of a long and arduous campaign. He avoids the risk of being found shallow and weak. He doesn't have to resort to character assassination since that will already be done for him. He can be the good guy, the reluctant candidate forced to come forward to rescue the nation from inept candidates of a corrupt system, men bought with special interest support and paid for with PAC funds.

Will it work? Who knows? But given the mood of the nation and the disenchantment with incumbents and other products of the political system, it just might. Perot has the luxury of wait and see. He can stalk all he wants without being committed to pounce. He is not a candidate until he says he is, but will have no trouble remaining politically visible.

Is he, after all, the master strategist? Don't throw away your Perot for President pins or bumper stickers yet.

LETTERS

To The Editor:

We can't leave Thief River Falls without a final tip of our hats in admiration and appreciation to your community. The enthusiastic hospitality shown to us, as well as to the professional contestants, stock contractors and specialty acts was very much appreciated and memorable.

Our goal this first year was to establish a highly entertaining, top-quality professional rodeo that folks could thoroughly enjoy as a fun family outing. We have received a tremendous amount of positive feedback from those who attended the first TRF Stampede and this enthusiasm, coupled with the support from local and regional businesses, as well as the unflagging help whenever we needed it—for whatever reasons—gives us great hope that Thief River Falls is going to have an exciting rodeo future and will become known as the greatest little rodeo town outside of Texas!

One of the most important aspects of producing a top-notch rodeo is the cowboy purse. In our first year, the TRF Stampede raced by 400 other PRCA rodeos (50%) in terms of prize money. That is truly a feather in the TRF cap. The following folks must be thanked and applauded for their efforts to make this rodeo one to be proud of. Major Advertisers—Hartz Food Stores, Nyflot's Amoco 24, KTRF/KSNR radio, Pizza Hut, Westside Motors, Norwest Bank, Northwest Beverage, Shooting Star Casino and St. Hilaire Co-op Elevator; Chute Sponsors—The Rusty Nail, Thune-Upham Insurance, Copenhagen-Skoal Pro-Rodeo, RCC Western Stores and Independent Machine Service; and Event Sponsors—Northern State Bank, Rusty Nail, C'mon Inn, KXJB Television and Coca-Cola of Crookston.

We also want to convey our gratitude to your wonderful Chamber of Commerce, Sheriff Bob Wold and Police Chief Ken Froschheiser, Marv Lundin and The Times, Dr. Lyle Kenner, Dave Burris, Tom and Becky Scheef and the Thief River Falls Saddle Club.

We have received word that the cowboys and cowgirls felt it was well worth their time to make the trip to Thief River Falls and are planning to put it on their travel calendars for next year. They also reported that they were impressed with the stunning Gist trophy buckles awarded by the TRF Eagles club.

A special thanks to all of you who helped with our unique arena/grounds problems—Thygeson Construction, Hydra-Mac, Larry Kaiser and Lakehead Pipeline Co., Anderson Power & Equipment, Norrie Thune, Don Orekke, Jane and Bruce Mattson, Roger Shaffer, Bob Bergan, Dick Anderson, Dale Redinger and the city and county employees who gave that extra time. It would have been easier had it not rained so much, but it sure got western!

It's not possible to list each and every person who helped get this event off the ground but we know who you are and greatly appreciate your time and efforts. Thank you for allowing us to be a part of your community—please keep in touch.

Sincerely,
Randy and Denese Jokela
Greg Bishop, Nancy Saarinen, Loni Bishop, Juli Holkesvig and all of our rodeo employees.

An extra note: For the first time since we have been producing rodeos, the ProRodeo Sports News, the national magazine for rodeo, placed a follow-up story and photo on the TRF Stampede—of their own volition—in the late September edition. The contestants and PRCA Wrangler judges must have gone back to the PRCA headquarters with top reports on our first-year efforts!

Norwegian Dolls Make Interesting Library Display

"An interesting display of Norwegian dolls of exquisite workmanship is on exhibition this week at the public library, having been arranged by Mrs. Hazel Halgrim, librarian. Included in the display are books dealing with Norse folklore, which the dolls illustrate in minute detail. The dolls are the handiwork of Mrs. Hild Naess Hildahl of Roseau. Among the folktale characters represented in the collection are a wedding party with fiddler, huldra, fearsome troll, nisse or good luck fairy and a boy and girl on skis. The dolls are complete to the last detail, including tiny knitted neckties and mittens."

"As far as we know, Thief River Falls will be host to the head of a foreign government for the first time when Hambro of Norway comes here on the fifth of October. Conventions have brought us men of international reputation but none of them has had the official importance that makes Hambro's visit outstanding. And it probably will be a long time before our city will again be so honored."

County Board Proceedings

Sept. 22, 1992
OFFICIAL PROCEEDINGS
PENNINGTON COUNTY
AUGUST 11, 1992 - 5:00 P.M.

Pursuant to adjournment the Pennington County Board of Commissioners met in the Commissioners room in the courthouse in Thief River Falls, Minnesota on Tuesday, August 11, 1992 at 5:00 p.m. Members present: Koop, Jensen, Murphy, Penning and Swanson. Members absent: none.

County Extension Director Deb Zak met with the County Board to discuss the County Extension Budget for 1993. The increase was due to making one secretary position full time with the other remaining at two days/week.

Commissioner Koop moved, seconded by Commissioner Penning to approve the County Extension Budget as recommended by the County Extension Committee. Motion unanimously carried.

The following resolution was introduced by Commissioner Koop, seconded by Commissioner Penning and upon vote was unanimously carried:

BE IT RESOLVED That the sum of $41,031 be set apart from the General Revenue Fund and appropriated subject to the order of the Dean and Director of the Minnesota Extension Service of the University of Minnesota for the support of county extension work in Pennington County for the year beginning January 1, 1993 in accordance with Minnesota Statute, Section 38.33-38.38, 1990.

Gary Lane, Ray Olson, Leonard Skaar and Danny Johnson representing the Pennington County Soil and Water Conservation District met with the County Board concerning their 1993 budget request. Total request for 1993 was $49,800. The County Board referred this request to the overall County Budget.

Chairman Oliver Swanson reviewed a proposal from Lee Plumbing to install water and sewer lines under the floor of the new building being put up at the Pioneer Village for $1,830.00. Commissioner Murphy moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to approve the proposal of Lee Plumbing and Heating as presented. Motion unanimously carried.

Fred Mykleby and Robert Duncan representing School District #564 met with the County Board to discuss any concerns that the County may have in regards to C.S.A.H. #17 and C.R. #61 that border the purposed new elementary School. There is an unspecified amount of dollars available in the bond issue to pave a small section of C.R. #61 from C.S.A.H. #17 to the South entrance of the Elementary complex.

Commissioner Murphy introduced the following resolution, seconded by Commissioner Koop and upon vote was unanimously carried:

WHEREAS, Independent School District #564 is proposing a bond issue that would include building a new elementary school adjacent to Pennington Avenue, which is a county state aid road, and

WHEREAS, the building of the school in this area would create some transportation, traffic flow, and logistic problems, which may require the county to widen or improve Pennington Avenue and may require the county to make improvements in County Road #61, which would be in the same area;

NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED the Pennington County Board of Commissioners hereby agrees to work with Independent School District #564 in handling the traffic in the new elementary school area in the event that the bond issue that the School District is proposing on the September 15, 1992 ballot should pass.

Commissioner Penning moved, seconded by Commissioner Koop to table the issue of County-wide Assessing until the August 25th, 1992 County Board meeting. Motion unanimously carried.

The County Auditor stated that the Architectural firm was looking for some direction concerning the compost building. They have found that they are unable to build a wood clear span building and if they went to steel the price and maintenance of the building would increase substantially. Commissioner Jensen moved, seconded by [illegible] Chairman appointed Commissioner Jensen and Acting Engineer George Breadsall to meet with representatives of Johnson's Drive and North Township to discuss the options available to improve those roads. The Committee will report back on the August 25th, 1992 County Board meeting.

POWs eligible for benefits

Former American POWs are eligible for special veterans benefits, including medical care in VA hospitals and disability compensation for injuries and disease presumed to be caused by internment. These benefits are in addition to regular veterans benefits and services to which they, as veterans, are entitled.

More than half of the Americans held prisoner in the last four wars are now living. Some 142,250 Americans were captured and interned during World War I, World War II, the Korean Conflict, the Vietnam Conflict, and the Persian Gulf War. This includes 81 women seized on Guam or in the Philippines in World War II and two in the Persian Gulf War.

Of that total, an estimated 68,887 were living as of January 1, 1992, according to Charles Stenger of the American Ex-Prisoners of War Association. This includes 110 from World War I, 65,001 from World War II, 3,155 from the Korean Conflict, 598 from the Vietnam Conflict and 23 from the Persian Gulf War.

A former POW may be eligible for disability compensation if they have vitamin deficiency diseases, psychosis, depressive neurosis, peptic ulcer disease or other disabilities. Adequate medical reasons are required for relating any current condition to military service or POW status.

POW coordinators have been assigned to each VA regional office and medical center. Toll-free phone service is available at each VA regional office.

For further information and assistance in filing a claim as a former POW, call the nearest VA regional office, listed in local phone books under U.S. Government.

TRF aviators flew missions in WW II

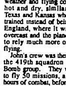
Times Community Editor

September 1942: ...Japanese fail to take Port Moresby, New Guinea; Air attacks from Adah Island on Japanese bases in Aleutians. In the early days of World War II, John E. Jaranson of Thief River Falls enlisted in the Army Air corps, after trying to get into the Cadets in November 1941. He went into the service in February 1942 and was trained at the gunnery school at Harlingen, TX, after spending some time at Sheppard Field, Witchita Falls, TX. He was taught to fire a machine gun from the top turret of a B17 and was later assigned to a crew to learn night flying, instrument flying and other fine points. At Salinas, KS, the crew picked up their plane and, on Jan. 5, 1943, were sent overseas to North Africa.



John E. Jaranson

John had been a credit man for Hartz Wholesale and had grown up in Thief River Falls, graduating from Lincoln high school in 1935.

The crew flew by way of Accension Island to Bathhurst, Africa on the west coast, then to Maraketch and assigned to the 13th Air Force in Africa. They considered themselves lucky to be there, where the weather and flying conditions were hot and dry, similar to those in Texas and Kansas where they were trained instead of being shipped to England, where it was foggy and overcast and the plane would have to rely much more on instrument flying.

John's crew was then addigned to the 419th squadron of the 301st Bomb group. They were required to fly 50 missions, a total of 250 hours of combat, before being rotated back to the States.

The B17 had 11 guns, including two at the rear, two in the nose of the plane, two in the top turret, two at the waist, two in the ball turret below the place and a radio gun. John says it was a little like playing a video game, because you would have to aim by setting sites on the ends of the wings of the enemy plane and then expanding this range as the plane approached and then firing at just the right time.

John says he was never air sick, although on one occasion as they climbed, his ears plugged and the plane had to go back to a lower altitude and start over.

On one mission, John's plane took pictures of the bombs as they dropped on the target, an enemy cruiser below, then a second photo of the explosion and a third one of the water after the cruiser was sunk. The set of pictures was used by the Kodak company as an ad for photography supplies.

When the B17 fired, there would be two incendiaries, two armor piercing shots and every fifth round was a tracer to help aim. One major difference between the B17 plane's guns and the enemy planes was that the German and Italian planes had guns which were fixed pointing forward, unlike the B17's guns which rotated in a glass turret. The plane

TRF man killed in accident Sun.

One Thief River Falls was killed and a Goodridge man was in critical condition following an accident in Sherack early Sunday morning.

Jason Floyd Erickson, 21, Thief River Falls, was killed in an accident early Sunday morning. Chad Alan Homme, 21, Goodridge, is in critical condition at United Hospital in Grand Forks. Both men were in a one-vehicle accident in Sherack early Sunday. Polk County sheriff's department received a report of an accident on Polk County 20 in Sherack at 1:38 a.m. Sunday, September 27. According to the accident report, the 1976 Oldsmobile the two men were traveling in was heading north when it failed to stop at a "t" intersection left the roadway and collided with an embankment. Neither man was wearing a seat belt. Erickson was dead at the scene and Hommo was transported to United Hospital in Grand Forks by Warren Ambulance.

Polk county sheriff's department was assisted by the Minnesota State Patrol and the Warren ambulance and fire department.

The accident is still under investigation.

1,620 entries at state rabbit show

Steve Beumer of Northfield wins Best of Show award

Minnesota State Rabbit Breeders association annual convention and show in Thief River Falls Saturday and Sunday attracted more than 250 exhibitors and 1,620 rabbit and cavy entries, according to Sande Drevlow, president of the Northwest Rabbit Habit club which hosted the show.

Drevlow said that there were more exhibitors than expected but the number of entries was down from the number anticipated. Many exhibitors commented that they were unable to bring as many entries as they had planned to bring because the rabbits' fur was in poor condition due to the changeable weather in the state this year.

"We received many favorable comments on the facilities available for the show," Drevlow said. "The people showing didn't expect to find the quality of facilities we have here this far north." The show was held at the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center and the Saturday evening banquet was at the Thief River Golf club.

Drevlow said that many area residents visited the civic center during the two days of the show and a good deal of interest was shown in a spinning demonstration and the 11 varieties of cavies (guinea pigs). The spinning was done by pulling fur directly from a rabbit seated in the spinner's lap. The cavies included the Peruvian breed with extremely long fur and the Red-Eyed Orange variety in the American Satin breed which almost glowed.

Selected as Best in Show for open class rabbits was a New Zealand shown by Steve Beumer of Northfield which was the six-class (over nine pounds) champion. Reserve Best In Show was the Rhinelander shown by Melissa Karby of Fergus Falls which was the four-class (under nine pounds) champion.

In the youth show, Jeff Hand of Thunder Bay, Ont., Canada had Best In Show and champion six-class with a Californian. Reserve Best in Show was a Holland Lop which won the four-class championship for Tim Vierus of Minnesota-City.

Best in Show among the open class cavy entries was a TSW Peruvian shown by Ron Klindworth of St. Paul. Best in Show among cavy entries in the youth class was an American shown by Tashia Goedderz of Brainerd.

Several student designs were submitted to the engineering firm of Widseth, Smith, Nolting which estimated costs at $90,000 to $105,000, plus fees of about $15,000. "Trees for the Landscape" was the topic of Carol Kriel's presentation at the fall workshop of the 13th District Horticultural society in Goodridge on Saturday, September 26.

Kriel showed slides she had taken of various landscape trees and shrubs. She emphasized the important of buying trees and other plants from northern nurseries to insure hardiness for this northern climate. She also emphasized purchase of trees by their scientific names because common names can be confusing or misleading.

Kriel gave suggestions on where to use various types of trees and what their advantages or disadvantages are, such as susceptibility to canker, late winter sunscald or needing wind protection to grow well in this area.

A Goodridge native, Carol is finishing her master's degree in horticulture from North Dakota State University where she has done research on potatoes.

A wreath-making contest was held with divisions for wreaths made from natural materials and from man-made fibers.

VA announces final rule on WWII mustard gas victims

The Department of Veterans Affairs has announced publication in the Federal Register of its final rule on establishing service-connection for exposure to mustard gas.

VA announced last year that certain World War II veterans who were exposed to mustard gas testing during military service and who suffer from certain long-term effects would become eligible for disability compensation.

VA Secretary Edward J. Derwinski said, "This rule gives the benefit of the doubt to those veterans who were involved in mustard gas tests and couldn't document it because of the confidential nature of some of the testing during World War II. I'm pleased that we can now proceed to evaluate these claims and provide the benefits these veterans deserve."

Based on the final rule, service-connection is established for World War II veterans who participated in full-body, field or chamber experiments to test protective clothing or equipment during World War II, and who suffer from the chronic form of any one of the following conditions: laryngitis, bronchitis, emphysema, asthma, conjunctivitis, keratitis and corneal opacities.

World War II veterans involved in mustard gas testing who suffer from one or more of these conditions and who have not yet filed a compensation claim should contact the nearest VA regional office for information and assistance. The toll-free number for St. Paul VA Regional Office and Insurance Center at Fort Snelling is (800) 827-0646.

Claims filed by veterans that were denied under previous regulations will be reviewed under the new rule. In addition, claims that have been on hold, pending publication of the final rule, will now be adjudicated.

Dear Readers,

There are many excellent books written on the subject of grief that provide help and guidance to persons facing the emotional crisis of death. The advice and counsel given by experts on bereavement can be a tremendous aid to you in adjusting to your loss. Although these books are comforting, their words of wisdom will only be of value if you take them into you heart and use them in your daily life. Accept the things you cannot change, and do not underestimate your strength to recover.

Respectfully,

Belmont Funeral Home

Larry Belmont

NWRDC holds public hearing

A public hearing to accept comments and opinions on the 1993-1994 Area Plan on Aging is scheduled for October 14 at 3 p.m.

The meeting will be in the NWRDC Area Agency on Aging offices, 525 Brooks Avenue South, in Thief River Falls.

A draft of the plan is available and includes a description of senior needs, work objectives for the next two years and a budget based on a preliminary 1993 allocation from the Minnesota board on Aging.

As the designated AAA, the NWRDC receives approximately $500,000 annually in federal Older Americans Act and State funds to provide grants for senior services.

Administrative objectives detail the planning, administration, grants management and legislative advocacy functions as in previous years. The complete copy will include extensive analysis of the 1990 census data as it pertains to the 60 plus population.

A focus of 1993 administrative activities includes a planning and needs identification session with service providers and needs forums in each county to obtain input on needs from the senior population.

A focus of 1993 administrative activities includes a planning and needs identification session with service providers and needs forums in each county to obtain input on needs from the senior population.

The Education, Training and Coordination objective includes provision of the fall Conference on Aging with CEU's for service providers, and distribution of educational video and printed materials. Presentations to seniors and service providers for training purposes, as well as attendance of related training, as feasible, are also planned. Activities to inform seniors of services and options to nursing homes will also take place, as well as information sharing through press releases and newsletter articles.

An Interagency Linkages objective outlines coordination with aging service providers through Senior Coordinating Committee meetings, participation in statewide information sharing meetings, and service on regional advisor councils related to aging and human services.

The AAA will also serve as a resource to the six county committees on aging and other senior groups, upon request, as well as work to expand services by investigating funding sources, developing proposals where feasible, and providing technical assistance and support to agencies seeking funds to expand services for seniors.

An Eldercare Futures and Advocacy objective explains that the Eldercare Futures Task Force will identify gaps in services, senior needs and development of options to nursing homes as well as how the AAA will provide services consultation by responding to Senior LinkAge and Eldercare Locator requests. Senior Service Directory will be updated, published and distributed as well.

To obtain a draft of the Area Plan on Aging, contact Faith Rud, 681-2637 or 1-800-527-2637. Comments are welcome. Written comments will be accepted until October 14.

Speaking Of . . .

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . Continuing on With Fashions

There are worse things than walking around with one shoulder six inches higher than the other—much worse things.

In seems as if women's fashions are purposefully designed to cause havoc when they are worn. Even today's comfortable styles have various pitfalls and problems connected with them, and, of course, the fashions of days gone by were made for misfortune.

Women have always worn clothing with hazardous things attached, like silky straps that never stay where they belong but slip up and down at unexpected times, elastic that doesn't last-ic for long and finally breaks, frilly lace that catches in things and tears and the rag-tag end dangles, seams in important places that open up from the slightest pressure or pull, hems that come unsewn and hang below.

Women's clothing also has some mighty dangerous stuff holding it together. Buttons are always coming undone. Usually the one that comes undone is the button holding the most important spot, and it always comes undone at the worst possible time, when you are in a meeting or at a large gathering. Snaps are equally unstable and tend to snap open, loudly, usually when one sits down at that meeting or large gathering.

You would think that zippers would have been a wonderful invention, but zippers do not always zip up and down properly. They stick and catch in fabric. Sometimes they stick or catch when you are trying to do them up, and this is always when you are in a hurry to get dressed because you are late getting somewhere. Sometimes they stick or catch when you are undoing them, and this is always when you are most tired and fuddle-fingered and cannot get the darn thing unstuck so you can get off to bed, and always when everyone else in the house is fast asleep and cannot help you reach.

There are many things that can go wrong with women's clothing.

How about dining in a swanky restaurant, dressed, of course, fit to kill in a most fashionable outfit, and, of course, the highest high-heeled shoes? How many of us have walked out of the powder room dragging some sort of identifiable paper product on our heel? How many of us have dragged that horribly identifiable piece of paper product on our heel everywhere we went for the entire evening until we got home and slipped out of our shoes and finally noticed that it was there?

Speaking of powder rooms, how many of us have worn that swirling, feminine, full skirt out for an elegant evening and returned from a visit to the powder room with the back of that lovely full skirt tucked into the waistband of our unmentionable undergarment?

And speaking of undergarments—women have always had accidents with those. Back in the olden days, undergarments were precariously made, one chunk of elastic, stitched together and threaded through the top, held the entire thing together.

My great aunt once spoke about a horrible esperience she had with such an undergarment. While she was standing in the midst of a group of people the one piece of elastic on her undergarment broke—and down it fell—around her ankles.

How did she handle the problem? She just stepped out and over and away from the offending undergarment, and left it right there in the middle of the floor. Knowing her, I bet she just walked around it through the rest of the party, too, acting as if she had never seen it before in her life.

Just thing of the problems women have gotten into with undergarments over the centuries. Imagine being laced into a whale bone corset to have an 18-inch waist, and being poked by those bones all day, not to mention what that tight lacing did to a person's rib bones. No wonder women were fainting all the time in the olden days.

Imagine wearing a bustle. How did women sit on them? Imagine wearing dozens of net "can-can" slips that had been starched with sugar and water and felt like it. I did. It was very uncomfortable and itchy, and I ended up with a terrible rash.

For that matter, it wasn't too many years ago when women wore girdles with little snapper-things to hold up their nylon stockings (and hold in their tummies—the girdles, not the snapper-things). Some women wore all-in-one undergarments, also equipped with the little snapper-things, to hold everything in. I have often wondered, though, how the women got out of these all-in-one suits of armor when nature called. Does anyone know?

Ah, well, I think I will put on my sweats and forget about fashion for now.

Blood drive draws 55

A Goodridge blood drive drew 55 volunteers. Of these 55 people, 41 were able to donate blood.

Dorothy Wayne coordinated the drive and the Lioness Club sponsored the drive. The Club assisted with recruiting donors, publicity, providing refreshments, registering donors, and helping load and unload the mobile equipment.

Others who assisted with the drive were Myrtle Sunsdahl, Donna Horachek, Marlys Drangstveit, Janice Peterson, Clarence Peters, Ernest Swanson and Alray Jones. Faith Lutheran Church provided space to hold the drive.

Donations will help meet the blood needs of patients in 50 area hospitals served by United Blood Services.

NREA selects Woolcock as rep

The National Rural Education Association selected Kristen Woolcock of Warroad to be a Minnesota representative at the 1992 National Congress on Rural Education.

The Congress, composed of 500 rural education, civic, business and legislative leaders from across the United States, will convene in Traverse City, MI, on October 11.

One-appeal drive held in Newfolden

The Newfolden one appeal drive will begin Thursday, October 1 and continue for ten days.

Members of the Newfolden Women's Club will solicit donations from Newfolden residents and business firms.

The one appeal is a local drive which raises money for national charities and local causes in a once a year solicitation.

National causes and local projects included are Courage Center for Crippled Children, American Cancer Society, Sister Kenny Institute, Mental Health Association, Salvation Army, United Cerebral Palsy, Multiple Sclerosis, American Diabetes Association, American Red Cross, Minnesota Heart Association, local Boy and Girl Scouts and the Tri-Community Scholarship Fund for 1993 graduates of Marshall County Central high school.

All donations are deductible on both federal and state income tax returns.

Each year the GFWC Newfolden Women's Club assumes this solicitation as one of their community service projects. All costs involved are paid by the club so 100 per cent of monies collected are sent to the causes designated by the donor.

Grants given for education innovation

The Center for School Change is accepting grant applications for innovations in education.

The grants are allocated to towns in rural Minnesota. Some towns which applied for grants include Thief River Falls, which used the $12,000 in funds it received to implement the School for the Arts.

Other schools applying for and receiving grants include Blackduck, which received a $17,500 grant to implement a program combining 6, 7, and 8-year-olds in a one-room school type setting. Virginia, MN received a grant for a similar program. East Grand Forks middle school received a grant to teach interdisciplinary units on the Red River Valley.

The grants are a dual effort between community groups or individuals and educational institutions. Marie Hvidsten, outreach coordinator for the Center, said she recommends anyone with an idea to approach a teacher or administrator with the idea or anyone from the school to discuss the idea with the community.

After the idea is discussed with Hvidsten, it is sent to the Center for School Change Advisory committee, composed of educators, students, business persons and other members of the community. They decide which proposals worrant grants and what their size should be.

Hvidsten said the person applying for the grant need not be a professional grant writer and that the grant application form is composed of only seven questions.

The Center is based at the University of Minnesota's Humphrey Institute of Public Affairs. It has operated for two years and uses $2.3 million donated by the Blandin Foundation. The Center awards planning grants for up to $2,500 or implementation grants of up to $20,000.

Communities may request a public informational meeting concerning the Center during the months of September, October, or early November.

Two types of meetings are offered. One meeting presents information on the need for comprehensive, systemic change and discusses options. The other meeting involves the discussion of specific ideas developed in the community and gives feedback.

Grant applications are due by November 20. Preproposals may be submitted by October 2 with feedback in 3 to 5 days.

Grant applications are available from Hvidsten. Her address is District Service Center, 230 S. LaBree Ave., Thief River Falls, MN 56701. Hvidsten may be reached at 681-8677 for more information on the Center, to receive grant guidelines, or to set up a meeting with the community or planning group.

Impressions . . .

By Beth Johnson

Recently I was doing what many [illegible]. I was flipping through the channels on the television. The wonders of the now taken for granted remote control were at work as I was flipping through the multitude of channels on our TV's without leaving the comfort of our favorite recliner. I wandered from one station to the next and from one baseball game to another and then from one old movie to another and finally my remote control came to rest on a music video channel.

Now, I'm not one to listen to any kind of music on television. I prefer classical music to other kinds of music. But even a classy classical concert with world famous musicians will go unlooked at by me on television. I guess I assume that a TV broadcast can't be the same as being at the concert, so I simply don't watch. But as I said recently my remote control came to rest on a music channel. It was not MTV; it was the newer country western music channel that drew my curiosity.

Well, I looked at the program for a few moments, and ended up laughing out loud. Never had I seen anything so fake looking. What I saw was some country singer trying to look sincere, while a video enacting the song he was singing was being shown the viewing audience. Every once in awhile the video would stop and we would be shown the singer once again trying to look sincere in some kind of a fake set, then after we had the appropriate glimpse of the artist, we would get to see some more of this interpretive video. All I saw was an insincere singer and a fake reality being pictured in the video.

Now, in case some of you are diehard country western fans, I am not criticizing country western music. I would have the same comments about the music videos being shown on the "rock" music channel. They show the same thing—artists trying to appear sincere while a video portraying fake reality is being shown to the viewer.

Somewhere along the way toward being modern we have become victims of lost imagination.

Remember when you could listen to a song being sung either in a live concert, or on the radio, or on a recording? Of course, we listen daily to music, but in today's modern world, it has become necessary to also view the words to the music. No longer can we simply listen and imagine, we also seem to need the video accompaniment.

Loss of imagination reaches further than music videos. Remember when the choice entertainment for the evening was to read? When was the last time you read a book? Instead, books are coming to us via the wonders of home video centers. The contents of books are not left to our imaginations to complete, but rather the contents are interpreted for us by others through movies which we rent and view in the comfort of our homes.

Videos not only entertain us, but they also are used for instruction. How often have we sat in a Sunday School class and listened to some instruction given to us via the wonders of the video? What's lacking is the inter-human responses. It's awfully difficult interacting with a video instructor. Questions and comments just can't be answered by the instructor in the video.

You might think that I feel that all videos are wrong—be they instructional or entertainment. Videos have their place, but we must not replace imagination and human contact with the fake reality shown us too often on the video screen.

Spend time with your imagination—read a book, listen to a concert. Spend time learning from one another. Don't assume that only the person on the video has the right answers. There's a great deal that can be learned from the people around you. Interact with one another. There's more to life and living than another video.

Newfolden fire department to inspect sites

In observance of October 4-10 as National Fire Prevention Week, the Newfolden fire department urges everyone in its district to take the time to inspect home, business, barn or other outbuildings for fire hazards and eliminate them.

If persons in the district don't have the time or would prefer, members of the Newfolden fire department will conduct the inspection for them. According to a department spokesman, the inspection will occur "only with your expressed permission, only in the areas you allow, will occur in your presence and all comments or corrections cited are only suggestions. All inspections will be confidential."

Inspection can bo made of homes, businesses or outbuildings and can be initiated by calling fire chief Earl Eveland at 874-8635 or the mayor's office at 874-7495. During the inspection smoke alarms will be tested, evacuation routes evaluated, family meeting place discussed and other questions about fire safety will be answered.

"A fire can not occur unless a heat source is combined with a fuel supply," fire chief Eveland said. "A fire hazard can be described as a condition that will encourage a fire to start or will increase the severity of the fire."

Eveland listed the six most common fire causes and suggested corrective activities as follows:

(1) Electrical sources—Check extension cords for wear, cracking and loose ends. Don't overload circuits. Inspect wiring in basements, attic, crawl spaces and other areas.

(2) Heating and cooking equipment—Annually inspect furnaces, replace filters, clean chimney and check flues to see that they are properly installed for wood-burning stoves. Keep cook stoves clean, free of grease build-up and keep flammable material and papers away from open flames. Be careful not to lay appliance cords across the stove top. Make a check list of appliances to turn off prior to leaving the home or going to bed.

(3) Smoking related—If you smoke or allow smoking in your house, provide ash trays that can't tip over easily or that contain water to extinguish all smoking materials. Don't smoke in bed or while lying in bed. Don't smoke in hay barns or around flammable materials.

(4) Open flames and sparks—Be careful of barbecue grills, propane heaters, welders and torches than have open flame. Burning barrels should be placed far away from buildings and any grass.

(5) Children and matches—This is obvious: Keep matches out of children's reach and don't let children play with matches.

(6) Flammable liquid fires and explosions—Keep flammable liquids in proper storage containers that can't leak if tipped over. Containers should be kept away from flames or electrical sources, preferably in fireproof cabinets.

SWCD office encourages windbreaks

No trees were planted as field windbreaks this year in the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District, according to Kathy Zavoral, district technician for the Marshall-Beltrami SWCD office.

"This is one conservation practice that has been overlooked in our area," Zavoral said.

Zavoral said field windbreaks:

- Increase crop yields by distributing snow more evenly;
- Keep dry winds from depleting crops of moisture;
- Cut wind velocity so seeds won't be exposed in the spring and standing grain and other crops won't be flattened in the fall; and
- Create a pleasant view and attracts wildlife for watching or hunting.

Zavoral said the ASCS and the state cost-share program can assist with windbreaks.

For further information call the Marshall-Beltrami Soil and Water Conservation District office at 294-6354 or the local SWCD office.

TAKE DRUGS AND FIND YOURSELF IN A NEW CIRCLE OF FRIENDS

A recent survey from the Southeast indicated almost 25% of high school students and 6% of sixth to eighth graders have smoked marijuana, with nearly one in ten high school students being a regular user. About 5% of the high school students had used cocaine, along with nearly 1% of sixth to eighth graders.

There are virtually an infinite number of ways to die by accident or disease. Fewer ways to actually kill yourself. Why deliberately risk illness or death with drugs?

Obviously, it's smarter—and healthier—to say no to drugs.

Radniecki places first in apple contest

LaVonne Radniecki received first place in a senior crafts competition in Thief River Falls which centered around the theme of Applemania.

Senior dining is in its 20th year of offering older adults hot, nutritious meals. In Minnesota alone, over 450 locations serve about 3.7 million meals to over 90,000 seniors per year. Senior Dining Week, October 26-30, celebrates the volunteers, the guests and the supporters of the program.

In conjunction with senior dining week, the Minnesota project directors' association is sponsoring Applemania — "a search for the best apple craft in Minnesota." Applemania promotes senior dining and meals on wheels programs and their new logo: an apple with a heart inside. The logo symbolizes good food and good friends. Recently senior diners have competed by entering crafts either with an apple theme or made from apples at the Heritage Community Center dining center. Receiving first place was LaVonne Radniecki, second was Ethel Wiseth and third was Violet Holmstrom.

LaVonne Radniecki will be advancing to region 1 competition in Thief River Falls on October 5. The regional winner will travel to Duluth on October 28 to participate in statewide competition.

To collect pesticides in NW area

Minnesota Department of Agriculture (MDA) will be in the area in October to collect agriculture-related hazardous wastes (pesticides), according to information received by Rep. Jim Tunheim of Kennedy.

In the last two years the MDA has collected and disposed of 80,000 pounds of pesticides.

Collection days and locations are Tuesday, October 20, at the Kittson county highway building on highway 11 in Karlstad; Wednesday, October 21, at the Pennington county fairgrounds on highway 59 in Thief River Palls; Thursday, October 22, at the solid waste transfer station on Ingersoll avenue in Crookston; and Friday, October 23, at the Clay county highway building at the intersection of Fifth street and Minnesota avenue in Felton.

The collection points will be open from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. on each of the days scheduled.

"This is an excellent way for people in our area to get rid of harmful waste before it affects our health or environment," Rep. Tunheim said. "It is an opportunity for farmers and other pesticide users to safely dispose of banned, old or unusable pesticides. Most people can dispose of up to 150 pounds of waste pesticides without being charged for it, and I urge as many people as possible to take advantage of this free service."

Counties involved in this pesticide collection campaign are Clay, Kittson, Marshall, Normon, Polk, Pennington, Red Lake and Roseau. The goal is to remove 25,000 pounds of waste pesticides from the area.

People interested in any further information about the collection program should call the project manager, Larry Palmer, or Joe Spitzmueller at (612) 297-7102 or contact them by calling the state toll free number (1-800-652-9747) and asking for the state agriculture department.

REPORT

District 1B

If the cool weather this summer is any indication of what's ahead for the coming winter, I encourage folks to assess their homes for energy efficiency and take advantage of the Minnesota Housing and Finance Agency's (MHFA) Home Energy Loan Program.

The MHFA offers low-cost home energy loans for Minnesota homeowners of all income levels so their homes can be improved to be more energy efficient. A qualifying homeowner can borrow between $1,000 and $5,000 at an annual percentage rate of 8-7/8 per cent. The maximum repayment term of five years is based on the loan amount and the household budget.

Loan funds can be used for most improvements that increase the energy efficiency of a home, including furnace or boiler replacement, insulation, storm doors and windows, weather stripping, caulking, replacement of inefficient doors and windows, automatic set-back thermostats and water heater replacement.

To qualify for a home energy loan, you must be an owner-occupant of a single family home located in Minnesota as well as a reasonable credit risk. There are no household income limitations that apply to this loan program.

There are 641 participating lending offices throughout the state. The ones in our area are the Greenbush State Bank, American State Bank of Grygla, Karlstad State Bank, Marshall County State Bank in Newfolden, Northern State Bank of Thief River Falls, American Federal Savings Bank of Warren, First American Bank of Warren, and the Red Lake County State Bank of Red Lake Falls. I urge you to contact one of these offices for more information.

As part of the application process, you should obtain bids and estimates for the improvements you decide to make. You can select your own contractors, buy your own materials and even perform some of the work yourself.

For more information about this important program call the Minnesota Housing and Finance Agency toll-free at 1-800-652-9747 and ask for "Home Energy Loans."

Many of the improvements that can be made to homes are relatively inexpensive, and will repay the homeowner in cheaper heating costs within a few years.

Don't let a blizzard like last year's at Halloween take you by surprise. Enjoy a warmer, more energy-efficient winter by contacting a participating lender today!

To assist Oakland Park Nursing home with establishing an aviary for entertainment of residents, Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 2793 Commander John Ellison presented a check for $250 to administrator Sharon Hoglo of Oakland Park.

Aid Association for Lutherans (AAL) granted $3,500 to Our Saviour's Christian School in Thief River Falls. The money will be used for public awareness campaigns and other activities. Meurits Scholin (left), treasurer of Branch 6195, and Colleen Holen, district representative for AAL, present Rev. Del Palmer, pastor at Our Saviour's Lutheran church with the check.

The Peterson Report

The goal of our teacher internship program is to provide the opportunity for a teacher to gain first hand experience in government. Keith Jones of Moorhead was chosen by a bipartisan selection committee for the internship. Over 30 teachers from the Seventh District applied for the program.

Keith arrived in Washington in June and will be working in the office for eight weeks. The goal of the internship is to provide an insightful, close-up view of the Federal Government. Besides assisting with office responsibilities—constituent mail, issue research, and committee work—Keith has observed the House of Representatives, the Senate, and the Supreme Court in their daily functions. He will also attend a variety of seminars and other events during his stay with us inside the Beltway.

A 1989 Political Science graduate of Luther College, Decorah, Iowa, Keith is a native of Moorhead. After substitute teaching for a year in the Twin Cities area, he was hired as a Social Studies teacher at Moorhead High School. Mr. Jones has taught Civics, American History, and Geography.

I think is is important for folks to understand how government actually operates. Keith is planning to incorporate his experience in Washington into the lessons he teaches at Moorhead High School. That's why I like this program. Not only does the teacher get the experience of working in government, but his students benefit from the insight and knowledge.

Of course, the benefits run both ways. Keith has insights into the educational process that only a teacher can have. Congress is currently working on the Higher Education Act Reauthorization, and I am looking at a number of other education issues. Keith's experience and knowledge have been helpful in these areas.

For Adults

"Southern Exposure" - by Linda Lightsey Rice: In a searing psychological mystery/drama centered around a small town in South Carolina, complex ideas about bigotry, love, and modern society are confronted.

"The Grass Crown" - by Colleen McCollough: Following her first book, "The First Man in Rome," "The Grass Crown" continues the saga of the downfall of one of civilization's earliest attempts at democracy—the Republic of Rome. The reader is swept once again into a world of conflict, political intrigue, violence, emplacable enmity, and enduring love.

"The Golden Tulip" - by Rosalind Laker: Set in seventeenth-Century Holland, when the great Dutch artists were at their peak, this historical romance is about a young, and beautiful girl who aspires to become a Master Painter.

"Turner's England, a Survey in Watercolors" - by Eric Shanes: For the first time, the artist Turner's series of watercolors depicting the scenery of England and Wales made between 1810 and 1838 are brought together in one volume. This series, created for eventual reproduction as engravings for commercial sale, is a unique record of the English landscape as it was being reshaped by the Industrial Revolution.

"You Mean I Don't Have to Feel This Way? - by Colette Doawling: In this groundbreaking and provocative book, the author uncovers the biological basis for severe depression and the related disorders of alcohol and drug abuse, bulimia, phobias and panic anxiety, gambling, kelptomania, and obesity. Documenting latest research, she challenges the belief that these illnesses are born of lack of self-control, an unhappy childhood, or moral weakness, and instead attributes them to biochemical imbalances often inherited, that can be treated with medication. This book can change minds and save lives.

"Diana's Diary" - by Andrew Morton: Based on interviews with the Princess of Wale's friends, members of her household and staff, the author gives the reader a page out of Diana's diary. A typical day, a night-out in London, and a weekend at Highgrove. Andrew Morton is one of Britain's leading authorities on the royal family.

"Self-Esteem: A Family Affair" - by Jean Illsley Clark: Possibly the most essential ingredient for human happiness is self-esteem, and good self-esteem starts at home. Jean Clarke offers creative ways to encourage good self-esteem using theory and techniques based on transactional analysis.

"Darkness" - by John Saul: In the same style as his previous books, John Saul weaves a breathtaking suspenseful new tale of horror as the Anderson family returns to Villejeune, a town at the edge of the swamp, that they had left long ago. Their return completes the cycle of destiny that involves unholy ceremony and secret horrors.

INSURANCE Update
by Dee Schmidtgall

MORE ON SURETY BONDS

With an insurance policy, the insurance company realizes that a certain percentage of the total collected premiums will have to be paid out in losses.

With a surety bond, the premiums charged are really only "service fees", charged for the privilege of using the surety company's prestige and financial responsibility backing.

On this basis, it is not expected that any portion of the premium charged for a surety bond will have to be used to pay losses. But losses do occur. They can be substantial, if not disastrous. Losses can occur as a result of sudden changes in the economic climate, and other unforeseen conditions affecting the surety risk. It could also be a result of poor underwriting judgement, or that inadequate factual information was given at the time of the underwriting decision.

The most common types of surety bonds include: Fidelity (dishonesty bonds purchased by an employer to protect him from a dishonest employee), Public Official (such as a township treasurer), Contract (Performance bonds issued for various contractors); License & Permit (a bond giving permission to operate as an electrician, etc. within the state); Fiduciary (guarantees faithful performance of a guardian, etc.).

NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is available to assist you with your bonding needs as well as your insurance needs. The office of NORTHERN STATE AGENCY is conveniently located in the Northern State Bank building. Office hours are 8:30-4:30 Mon.-Fri., 8:30-0:00 would fly at anywhere from 18,000 to 28,000 feet altitude over their targets. John says that the scariest thing was anti-aircraft fire. He recalls one occasion when a munition ship in the harbor of Palermo, Sicily, was hit and exploded. "It felt like we'd been hit," he says. "We asked the guy in the ball turret if he could see us leaking fuel or anything." They flew missions about every third day for five hours or more. John adds, "Our plane got credit for downing five enemy planes. I personnally got credit for one."

After their last mission over Naples, Italy, the crew started back to the United States on July 15, 1943 and, after serving for some additional time until 1945 as a flight instructor stateside, John returned to Thief River Falls to resume his career with Hartz Wholesale. He married Sylvia Evenson, who also worked at Hartz Wholesale, and he continued working there until his retirement in 1982.

At about the same time as John entered military service, Ted Hellie of Thief River Falls, who was a student at the University of Minnesota, received an induction notice, which was then deferred until the end of the school year. He had graduated from Lincoln high school and was planning for a major in English and history. When Ted left for military service, like John Jaranson, he was sent to Sheppard Field for basic training and then to Scott Field, IL to radio school.

He recalls that he didn't learn much there because they had classes 24 hours a day and his were at night. It was hard to sleep during the day because of the light and temperature, 100 degrees at times. When he completed his training, he was sent to Camp Kilmer, NJ, where he waited during a measles quarantine of that base, and then took a "banana boat," the Mariposa, across the Atlantic, zigzagging as far from a straight line to England as the Azores. The ship, which had no escort, dropped depth charges every night and eventually landed at Liverpool. He was then sent to a radio "fixing" or homing station where the operators would talk to pilots in planes which couldn't tell where they were. There were three of these stations in the area and each had a wheel instument which could be used to locate the line from the station that the plane was on. When two or all three of the stations located the plane, they could pinpoint its actual location. This system was a forerunner of the radar system which was used later.

Ted Hellie

The men operating the station were initially housed in the attic of a pub, which Ted recalls was very cold. They later discovered a small community nearby and moved into civilian homes about two and a half miles from the station. They rode bicycles between their billets and work.

There might be contact with 50 planes a day, with the American planes, which were better armored, flying during the day and the British planes at night. When a pilot would call in and ask for help, the operators would figure out the plane's position and then tell the pilot to steer so many degrees and sometimes they used code names for give a location. The Germans sometimes would fly nearby and dump tin foil to try to interfere with the radio signal, but Ted says that it didn't work.

As the war in Europe was ending in 1944, the men from Ted's station were sent to a French air field in Dijon, France. The trained air control staff had just been sent home, so Ted was assigned that job, although he hadn't actually been trained for it. He remembers that 1. he had talked to pilots; 2. he knew flight vocabulary and 3. and was trained in communication. So he was an air traffic controller. He describes this experience as talking to the English-speaking pilots and using colored flares to communicate with the French-speaking ones.

Ted was later made an MP and he recalls that, while he was never shot at by enemy soldiers, he was once fired at by some American soldiers who had been drinking heavily.

Ted returned to college on the GI Bill after he was discharged and later taught high school in Thief River Falls for 30 years. He married Jean Slater, whom he had met while serving in England.

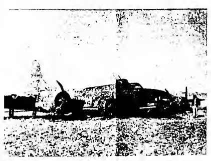
John E. Jaranson of Thief River Falls served as the top turret gunner in a B17 airplane in North Africa during World War II. He is shown here with a gun similar to the one in his plane.

Ted Hellie of Thief River Falls, after learning about radio operation at Scott Field, IL, was sent to England where he operated a radio "fixing" station to help locate planes which had become lost.



After using this B17 plane for several missions, John E. Jaranson and the crew of the plane ran out of fuel and crash landed near Constantine, Africa. No one was hurt, but the plane was badly damaged, so the crew had to get another one. Such incidents were relatively common, according to John.

Capitol Commentary

by LeRoy Stumpf

State Senator — District I

If you have ever had—or thought about starting—your own business, there is a new Minnesota law you would find interesting. It allows a new kind of company to operate in the state.

The Minnesota Limited Liability Company (LLC) Act passed during the 1992 legislative session. It allows establishment of a hybrid type of business.

The new type of business would combine the limited liability characteristics of corporations, with the tax status that now belongs to partnerships. This accomplishes a couple of things that may be important to small business owners.

The bill makes new opportunities for entrepreneurs. In the past small entrepreneurs often found it too difficult to set up special operating agreements. LLC's will be easier for them to establish.

The set-up and dissolution parts of the LLC law come from the state statutes for general and limited partnerships. The management side of the new measure comes from the Minnesota Business Corporation Act.

The folks who brought this idea to the Legislature say that LLC's will be attractive for small businesses. They cite "Start-up" ventures as one example where limited liability of owner-members is important.

If you are an entrepreneur who is anxious to take advantage of this new structure, you will have to wait a few months. The Limited Liability Act does not take effect until Jan. 1, 1993.

Thief River Falls matches Wadena-Deer Creek performance at Staples...

[illegible] Wadena-D[illegible] Staples Area.

[illegible] weeks ago. [illegible] the game at Thief River Falls [illegible]

Friday that starting group was [illegible] scored by the defense off a blocked punt for another 34-0 first minute second quarter lead against Staples Area. Again, they spent the rest of the night on the sidelines as the reserves gained additional extended playing time in completing a 41-14 victory.

"It's almost kind of scary how [illegible]

Staples went nowhere on its first possession, punted and put the Thief River Falls offense back on the field at the Prowlers 46. Five plays and 1:49 later it was 12-0 as Haugen read his blocks and picked a path through the Cardinals' defense on a 29-yard touchdown run.

Second Staples punting situation – from the Cardinals' 19 – was turned into Thief River Falls points when the high snap sailed through the hands of kicker Chris Eckes and Nieland recovered the ball in the end zone with 3:49 remaining in the first quarter. After failing to connect on the two earlier conversions, the Prowlers picked up a two-pointer as Svir rolled right and hit Haugen in the end zone.

Two more three-plays-and-you're-out Staples possessions were followed by two more quick Thief River Falls scores.

Rogalla took a first down inside reverse 30 yards to set up a 21-yard scoring dart by Haugen through the right side with 1:10 left in the first quarter, completing a four play, 56-yard drive.

After a 26-yard punt return by Haugen, it took just one play to make it 34-0 as Johnson kept his balance on a nifty 27-yard touchdown run with 58 seconds gone in the second quarter, signaling the end of the night for the First Team offense.

But the second unit promptly made it 41-0 when a 48-yard run by Jeff Lundgren through a hole in the middle of the line led to an 11-yard touchdown run off the right side by Lee Lund.

That completed the Thief River Falls scoring.

Staples got on the board when Jeff Kobliska broke a couple of arm tackles on a 75-yard touchdown run down the left sidelines with 1:44 remaining in the third quarter, and the Cardinals turned a fourth and 23 into a 37-yard Ryan Hajek to Larry Doucette touchdown pass over the middle three plays into the fourth quarter.

The two touchdown plays produced 112 of the Cardinals' 194 yards worth of offense for the night. Although his touchdown run went for 75 yards, Kobliska's team-leading net on the ground was 61 yards. Hajek was 4-for-12 passing for 67 yards. He was sacked four times, and the Cardinals fumbled six times.

Just as they did against Wadena-Deer Creek, the Prowlers spread their ball-carrying duties around, with no less than 11 backs getting into the act – netting 234 yards on 37 plays. Haugen led the group with 79 yards on six carries, while Lundgren wound up with 55 yards on six attempts.

Campbell, NCC run by Hibbing

Half of the Northland starting runningback tandem was slowed by an ankle injury, but Shawn Campbell picked up the slack in a big way Saturday, rushing for a school-record 365 yards on 32 carries to lead the Pioneers to a 31-22 Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division football win over host Hibbing.

Sheldon Hinton's ankle problem kept the strong 1-2 Northland ground game from being fully implemented, but Campbell, a 5-8, 198-pound sophomore from Arcadia, Florida, carried on, scoring on runs of 89, 61 and 1 yard in the process. Hinton was limited to 11 yards on four carries for the day.

"Shawn Campbell had a great day," said Northland coach Gene Klinke. "The more we gave him the ball, the better he did. The offensive line did a whale of a job in front of him, and he did a good job following the blockers and cutting back when he got into the open field."

Two Campbell runs were called back because of penalties, pointed out Klinke, otherwise he might have been over 400 yards for the day on the ground.

The victory put the Pioneers at 2-1 for the year, 1-1 in the MCCC. They have a 1:30 p.m. game awaiting them Saturday against Mesabi in Virginia.

Northland built a 19-2 first half lead, but watched Hibbing rally for a 22-19 lead before Campbell scored a pair of fourth quarter touchdowns for the win.

"We came out a little flat in the second half," acknowledged Klinke. "But the offensive unit really came through in the fourth quarter. They knew we needed to keep our hands on the ball and score a touchdown. They got us two. They really came together when we needed them."

Hibbing was out-gained 453-60 on the ground, but the Cardinals' Aaron Clusiau passed for 250 yards to make it interesting. Charles Klug caught six passes for 183 yards for Hibbing.

Northland Community College volleyball triangular...

Rainy River wins two matches

Rainy River won a pair of matches, Northland went 1-1 and UND-Lake Region went back to Devils Lake with an 0-2 mark following completion of a volleyball triangular hosted by the Pioneers Monday.

Rainy River outlasted Northland 15-13, 16-14, 15-17, 15-10 in a first-match marathon that threw the night's tentative time schedule way out of whack.

The Voyageurs returned to International Falls after adding a 15-10, 11-15, 15-4, 15-1 decision over UND-Lake Region.

Because of the late time, the Northland vs. UND-Lake Region match was shortened to a 2-out-of-3 game series, with the Pioneers winning 15-4, 12-15, 15-4.

Results left Northland at 5-7 for the year. The Pioneers begin their 1992 Minnesota Community College Conference-counting schedule Wednesday with a 6:30 p.m. match at Brainerd. They will be at Anoka-Ramsey for a 6 p.m. Friday triangular and a 9 a.m. Saturday invitational.

"Overall, I was very happy with the way we played," said Northland coach Deb Jacobson following the Monday night split. "We played some very good volleyball, but we could have been a little stronger at times – we have to be more aggressive if we want to be successful at this level."

Inability to hold a lead also bothered Jacobson, especially against Rainy River when Northland lost the first game 15-13 after owning 10-4 and 13-6 leads; dropped the second game 16-14 after serving for match point at 14-11; and lost the fourth game 15-10 after getting off to a 7-0 head start. The Pioneers also saw a 12-6 lead disappear in the 15-12 second-game loss to UND-Lake Region.

However, Northland did have a rally of its own, overcoming 9-1 and 14-9 deficits to beat Rainy River 17-15 in Game 3.

"Volleyball is such a momentum-type game," pointed out Jacobson.

Smith (deceased), earned 10 letters as an athlete at Bemidji State – four in basketball, four in track, and two in football.

He coached district, region and state tournament teams in cross country and baseball. In 1958 he was designated Minnesota Sports Champion for Beltrami County by the Minnesota Statehood Centennial Commission.

Smith served as athletic director in Thief River Falls from 1970-1987, and in 1989 was named to the Minnesota Athletic Director's Hall of Fame. He was Regional Athletic Director of the Year in 1986 and 1987.

Smith will be one of ten BSU alumni inducted into the Beavers' Hall of Fame during Saturday's 6 p.m. banquet at the Bemidji Holiday Inn. The inductees are judged by their contributions to BSU athletics, plus their accomplishments and contributions to society after graduation. Each inductee was a BSU graduate, and a letter-award winner who graduated at least 15 years ago.

Bjorgaard caught a two-point conversion pass from Nathan Anderson, and the winners added a safety on a Roseau punt snap that went out of the end zone.

Northland 3-0 winner

Holly Gram, a freshman from Middle River, came up with a pair of six-point runs at the service line Friday to help lead the Northland Community College volleyball team past the Concordia College junior varsity 3-0 in the Pioneers' 1992 home opener.

Northland won 16-14, 15-10, 15-11.

The Pioneers grabbed an early 6-2 lead in Game 1, but fell behind 11-7 before Gram stepped to the line and served Northland to a 13-11 advantage.

Concordia had a 10-6 second game edge when Gram again came through with a half-dozen service points to begin a Northland comeback.

"It was a good home opener," said Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "Everybody played well. We're extremely happy with our performance."

Waubun beats Bulldogs 31-19

A slow start cost Badger/Greenbush-Middle River Friday as the Bulldogs spotted Waubun an 18-0 first half lead and wound up losing a 31-19 Valley Plains Conference high school football game to the host Bombers.

"We came out slow – that's been our problem all year," said Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Vern Schnathorst, whose team fell to 2-2 for the year. Waubun is 4-0. "We came out flat, again. We played with them in the second half, but it was too late."

Waubun quarterback Paul Clark scored once himself and threw two touchdown passes to produce the Bombers' first half advantage.

"He (Clark) is a good quarterback – the best quarterback we've faced," said Schnathorst.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River scored second half touchdowns on a 26-yard Shannon Berger run, and Ryan Rislov touchdown passes of 58 and 9 yards to Rich Wappula and Matt Kuznia, respectively.

The winners finished with a 289-234 edge in offensive yards. "We did not play very well defensively," said Schnathorst. However, he did single out the play of defensive end Billy Holum, who came up with two fumble recoveries and had a quarterback sack. "We did a little better offensively, but most of that was in the second half," he added.

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River will meet Fertile-Beltrami Friday at 7:30 p.m. in Middle River.

Northland hitter Kathy Kvick (right) drilled the ball past a Rainy River defender during Monday's college volleyball match-up in Thief River Falls. Jodi Chaplinski (10) and Amy Eriksen (7) of the Pioneers looked on. Northland and Rainy River were joined by UND-Lake Region for the triangular event.

Nordics win pair of volleyball matches

A 3-0 Friday home court win over Warroad was followed by a 3-2 Saturday victory over Lake of the Woods at Baudette as Marshall County Central improved its high school volleyball record to 6-3.

The Nordics play Badger/Greenbush-Middle River tonight (Tuesday) at Greenbush and will take part in the Thief River Falls Invitational Saturday.

Marshall Co. Central 3
Warroad 0

All 14 Marshall County Central team members played a role in the Nordics' 15-8, 15-7, 15-2 sweep against Warroad.

"We used everybody, and they all contributed," pointed out Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson.

Marshall Co. Central 3
Lake of the Woods 2

Marshall County Central outlasted Lake of the Woods in a Saturday marathon 14-16, 15-12, 8-15, 15-13, 15-9.

The Nordics saw a 14-9 lead slip away in Game 1, and watched a 14-1 cushion evaporate in Game 2, but they put together a rally themselves to cut into a 13-1 deficit in Game 3.

"Even though we still lost that third game, I think that was the turning point when we came back like that," explained Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "That gave us the momentum."

It was another solid team effort, noted Jorgenson. "They (Bears) played well. They make you work for every point. Both teams played some pretty good volleyball. Our younger kids came off the bench and did a nice job for us."

Marshall County Central has regained the services of junior setter Jill Fosholm, who returned to the line-up Thursday after missing the first seven matches while recovering from minor surgery.

Volleyball team second at Roseau Invitational

Roseau and Thief River Falls both finished the round-robin schedule with 3-1 records, but the Rams' 2-0 victory over the Prowlers was the tie-breaker Saturday as they won the five-team Bemidji Invitational high school volleyball tournament.

Thief River Falls posted 2-0 wins over Big Fork, Bemidji and Park Rapids Area during the day. The blemish on the Roseau record was a 2-0 loss to Big Fork.

"The girls played really well," reported Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson as the Prowlers improved their record to 7-5 for the year.

Junior Toni Chiodo was selected by the Thief River Falls coaching staff as the Prowlers' Player of the Tournament. She led the Prowlers in service points (18) and kills (22) for the day, while sharing team-high last-touch honors with sophomore Kelly Skeim (21). Skeim was No. 2 on the team chart with 15 kills, while freshman Kendra Dimich finished second in the Prowlers' service points scoring with 17.

Anderson was also happy with the play of Dimich and senior LuAnne Maslowski as setters. "They did a great job," she said. "It's great when you can count on both setters to get the job done."

Thief River Falls will host its annual Northern Lights Invitational Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

Freshman Carie Lawrence came off the bench to collect a high-high 10 service points as Thief River Falls defeated Bemidji 15-10, 17-15.

Game 1 was tied a 4-4 before Lawrence served nine consecutive points. Bemidji rallied to cut the deficit to 13-10, but the Prowlers finished it on a pair of errors by the Lumberjacks.

Down 15-14 in Game 2, Thief River Falls came back to win on an ace serve by Jamie Martell, an ace tip by Nessa Anderson and a Bemidji error.

Thief River Falls had its share of good volleyball against Roseau. But since most of it came when the Rams owned the serve, the Prowlers weren't rewarded for their efforts with points. Net result: a 15-11, 15-7 Roseau victory.

The Prowlers turned a 7-0 first-game deficit into an 11-10 lead before surrendering the final five points.

Roseau grabbed an 11-3 lead in Game 2 and never let go.

Mustangs' win streak ends

A three-game season-opening Red Lake County Central winning streak ended Friday when the Mustangs dropped a 28-18 North Tri-County Conference Nine-Man high school football game to Ulen-Hitterdal, putting a damper on homecoming activities for the Oklee/Plummer cooperative.

Red Lake County Central led 18-12 at halftime, but the Mustangs' usually productive ground game netted just 34 yards on 26 rushing attempts for the night. Quarterback Scott Lorenson was sacked four times and was intercepted twice.

"It was disappointing," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brantl. "We were flat. Ulen-Hitterdal is a lot better than their record would indicate. They stopped us cold offensively. We just didn't have any holes at all."

A little luck was involved, too, as a pair of high punt snaps both wound up in the Spartans' favor. The first one sailed over the head of Ulen-Hitterdal quarterback/punter Aaron Durkop, who managed to run down the ball, avoid the rush and complete a 30-yard first down pass that kept a game-opening scoring drive alive.

Then a 6-6 second quarter tie was broken when a snap went over the head of the Red Lake County Central punter. The Mustangs were downed at their own 9-yard line, and the Spartans scored from there on a run by Brock Blakeway.

A 65-yard Lorenson touchdown pass to Jonathan Sundrud and a 59-yard pass interception return for a touchdown by Shannon Willett provided the Mustangs with the 18-12 halftime lead.

But Blakeway scored on a 10-yard third quarter run and Jamie Braseth caught a 3-yard touchdown pass from Durkop in the fourth quarter to produce the Ulen-Hitterdal win.

Lorenson was 10-for-23 passing for 211 yards, with Jacob Melby catching three passes for 27 yards, Willett two for 40 and Ryan Salberg two for 31.

Willett topped the modest Red Lake County Central rushing figures with 26 yards on nine carries.

Defensively, Jacob Melby, Adam Lundeen, Chad Pahlen, and Gus Vettleson all finished with 10 tackles. Pahlen also had nine assisted stops and Melby had eight.

Red Lake County Central will meet Kelliher/Northome Friday at 7 p.m. in Kelliher.

TRF loses 5-2 match at Bemidji

Bemidji was a 5-2 winner over Thief River Falls Friday in a windy girls high school tennis match on the Lumberjacks' courts.

The Prowlers' Jennifer Paggen turned in a strong performance in a 6-3, 6-3 win over Jene Brune at No. 1 singles, pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jay Forney, who was also happy with the play of Shari Evenson and Kamie Twomey at No. 3 doubles, where they beat Kari Kanjack and Carrie Diffley 6-4, 6-4.

"We played Bemidji a little tighter than we did before," mentioned Forney. "I think we showed some improvement."

Blue Devils lose to Eagles, 21-20

Three successful conversion kicks by Nathan Lubarski wound up providing winning margin Saturday as host Argyle edged Goodridge/Grygla 21-20 in an early season Top of the State Conference Nine-Man high school football showdown.

The Eagles went to 4-0 with the win. The defending Section 8 champion Blue Devils, who had a bye the previous week, fell to 2-1.

"It was a good game for the spectators, not so fun for the coaches," said Goodridge/Grygla coach Darwin Hagen. "It was pretty intense. Nothing fancy, we just ran the ball at each other."

The Eagles netted 267 yards on 50 running plays and were 2-for-7 passing for 17 yards. Michael Dufault had a 167-yard night on 19 carries for the winners.

Goodridge/Grygla received a 97-yard rushing performance from Jason Grandstrand on 22 carries, but the Blue Devils were held to 140 yards rushing as a team on 39 plays. They were 1-for-7 passing for 10 yards.

"We bent a little too much on defense," pointed out Hagen. "We gave up too many yards and too many first downs."

A 58-yard touchdown run by Dufault was followed by scoring efforts covering 10 and 12 yards, respectively, by Jeremy Engelstad and Grandstrand as the Blue Devils took a 14-7 first quarter lead.

Argyle tied it at halftime when Jeremy Dufault caught a 5-yard touchdown pass from Lubarski, then went ahead 21-14 in the third quarter when Jeremy Dufault scored on a 60-yard pass interception return.

Goodridge/Grygla came back with a long-range score of its own before the third quarter ended when Grandstrand returned a punt 68 yards to make it 21-20. But the Blue Devils failed to complete the pass on the two-point conversion attempt – spelling the difference in the game.

Aaron Ostby was credited with 14 tackles to lead the Blue Devils' defensive efforts.

"We're going to have to bounce back," noted Hagen as he looked ahead to a 4 p.m. Friday homecoming match-up with East Grand Forks Sacred Heart in Grygla. "That will be an important game for us," he added. "The kids were pretty disappointed after the loss, but there's lots of football left. We have to get back on track."

TRF ends road schedule

Final regular season road trip awaits Thief River Falls Friday when the Prowlers take on Park Rapids Area in a 7:30 p.m. Section 8A high school football game.

It'll be Thief River Falls' third straight road game, and the Prowlers' third out-of-town trip in four weeks. However, they will finish the schedule at home against Belcourt, ND, Fergus Falls and East Grand Forks.

The Prowlers won their third straight game Friday, and picked up their second straight one-sided victory in the process, by beating Staples Area 41-13. The week before they shut out Wadena-Deer Creek 55-0 – giving them 96 points in two games, despite the fact the offensive starters played only about 13 minutes in both outings.

Park Rapids Area is 2-2, losing to Crookston 27-0 and Detroit Lakes 24-0 to start the year before beating Staples Area 28-0 and Wadena-Deer Creek 28-8 the last two weeks.

Elsewhere in Section 8A last week, Detroit Lakes shut out Aitkin 35-0, Fergus Falls blanked Crookston 21-0, East Grand Forks got by Wahpeton 13-12, Little Falls out-scored Willmar 28-20, and Perham lost to Warroad 26-0.

Detroit Lakes, Fergus Falls and Little Falls are all 4-0. Thief River Falls is a game off the pace at 3-1, while East Grand Forks is 2-1, Park Rapids Area 2-2, Perham and Crookston 1-3, Staples Area and Wadena-Deer Creek 0-4.

Section 8A make-up includes Little Falls from the Class AA Central Lakes Conference; Detroit Lakes, Staples Area, Park Rapids Area, and Wadena-Creek from the Class A Mid-State Conference; Class A independents Crookston, Fergus Falls, East Grand Forks, and Thief River Falls; plus Perham from the Class B Heart O' Lakes Conference.

Volleyball loss drops Bulldogs' mark to 6-5

Badger/Greenbush-Middle River beat Tri-County 2-0 earlier this season at the Roseau Invitational, but the Wildcats had their way with the Bulldogs in Mooday's regular season high school volleyball match-up at Greenbush, 15-10, 15-6, 15-2.

"Overconfident, I guess," offered Badger/Greenbush-Middle River coach Gwen Borgen. "They (Tri-County) did a nice job. We didn't play so well."

The 6-5 Bulldogs play Marshall County Central tonight (Tuesday) at Greenbush. They will take part in the Thief River Falls Invitational Saturday.

Argyle 3
Goodridge/Grygla 0

Goodridge/Grygla fell to 0-10 Tuesday with a 15-5, 15-5, 15-6 loss at Argyle.

"We didn't serve very well, and it's awfully tough to score points if you can't serve," noted Goodridge/Grygla coach Tim Mostrom.

The Wolverines play Lake of the Woods tonight (Tuesday) at Baudette and will face Warroad Thursday in Grygla.

DNR Goose Brochure

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources is making two new educational tools available this fall to help goose hunters improve their shooting.

A new brochure, "Get Your Goose," offers field-tested hunting tips and tactics such as advice on how hunters can better estimate range to ensure they aren't firing when geese are too far away. The brochure also explains how to pattern a shotgun and select the correct load for geese. It also shows where pellets must strike a goose to ensure a killing shot.

Included in the brochure is a clip-out chart hunters can use to estimate the distance of flying geese.

Hunters can receive copies of "Get Your Goose" from DNR wildlife offices statewide, or by calling the DNR Information Center at 1-800-766-6000.

The DNR is also offering two Goose Hunter Warm-Up sessions, where goose hunters can learn to improve their performance in the field. One event will be held on Saturday, Oct. 3 from 3 to 7 p.m. in Middle River (as part of the 18th annual Goose Festival). The other warm-up will be held on Friday, Oct. 2 from 1 p.m. to dusk, and Saturday, Oct. 3 from 8 a.m. to noon at the Lac qui Parle Hunt Club, which is near the Lac qui Parle Wildlife Management Area headquarters.

Both events will feature a free shotgun patterning range, and demonstrations on how to use decoys and calls to lure geese within range. A special feature will have lifesize geese decoys mounted on tethered weather balloons showing the actual distance of flying geese.

Both events will be conducted by local volunteers and DNR staff. Shells have been donated by Federal Cartridge Corporation.

For information on the Goose Hunter Warm Up sessions, call Paul Telander, Thief Lake Wildlife Management Area, at (218) 222-3747, or Ken Bonnema, Lac qui Parle Wildlife Management Area, at (612) 734-4451.

Tree-Planting Funds

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources Division of Forestry recently awarded 32 Minnesota communities with grants totalling over $121,376 for tree planting.

The federal Small Business Administration's Natural Resources Development Program for Community Tree planting has provided funding for these grants. All program grant funds are matched 50-50 by the receiving community. These funds must be used for a tree planting effort by a community that purchases tree stock and/or hires tree planting services from small businesses.

Majority of this year's projects involve replacement of boulevard and park trees lost due to disease, drought, storms, or construction damage, according to Jonathan Stiegler, the DNR urban forestry coordinator. "This source of funding is very helpful to communities that typically do not have the funding to finance large tree planting efforts," he said.

Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes win race titles

Park Rapids Area boys and Detroit Lakes girls were team champions Monday at the Staples Invitational high school cross country meet.

Thief River Falls boys placed 13th in a field of 17 teams, the Thief River Falls girls finished ninth in a field of 18.

Individually, Jake Wavra of Detroit Lakes led the boys, while Johanna Olson of Wadena-Deer Creek paced the girls. Top Thief River Falls runners were John Gunstad, 45th among the boys, and Angela Klinker, 16th among the girls.

Orders will be accepted until March 9, 1993, or until supplies are exhausted. Minimum order is 500 seedlings.

Tree seedlings are sold for the purposes of reforestation, erosion control (windbreaks, shelterbelts), soil and water conservation, and for permanent food and cover for wildlife. The trees may not be planted for ornamental purposes, or resold or given away with roots attached.

Conifer seedling species available this year include white pine, Norway pine, jack pine, Scotch pine, white spruce, Colorado spruce, Norway spruce, Black Hills spruce, black spruce, white cedar, red cedar, and balsam fir. Prices are set at $120/1,000; $22/100. The is also improved white spruce seedling available, priced at $130/1,000; $22/100.

TRF part of DNR tree program for northwest region

Nineteen communities in northwest Minnesota, including Thief River Falls, will be receiving a total of $140,000 from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR), Forestry Division, for urban tree planting projects.

Minnesota ReLEAF, sponsored by DNR Forestry, was funded through the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources (LCMR). One million dollars was provided statewide to cost share urban tree plantings specifically designed to save energy used in heating and cooling.

Trees can conserve energy by shading, sheltering from cold north winds, or simply producing more oxygen while they consume carbon dioxide. Properly located trees directly affect the amount of fossil fuels burned by homeowners, businesses and power plants.

Projects were funded on a 50-50 cost-share basis. Proposals varied from planting a few trees along boulevards, to strategically located trees in homeowners yards, to community shelter belts. Grants ranged from $1,217 to $24,720. In addition to Thief River Falls, communities in northwest Minnesota receiving funds include Ashby, Bejou, Bemidji, Blackduck, Brandon, Crookston, Detroit Lakes, East Grand Forks, Fergus Falls, Fosston, Glyndon, Grygla, Hancock, Moorhead, Park Rapids, Shelly, Wheaton, and Wolverton. Projects must be completed by June, 1993.

Special events planned for '92 Goose Festival

The October 3 opening of the Minnesota waterfowl hunting season this year coincides with the 18th annual Goose Festival held by Middle River. A new feature of the festival this year will be the Goose Hunters' Warm-up—a practical hunting clinic to help waterfowl hunters sharpen their skills and improve their performance.

Conducted by local volunteers and staff from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR); warm-up components will include a free shotgun patterning range, a waterfowl range-estimating demonstration, and demonstrations of decoy use and goose calling; plus a goose calling contest.

Hunters' warm-up will take place Saturday, October 3, from 3 to 7 p.m., with events in downtown Middle River and in open fields on the edge of town. The festival itself runs all weekend, from Friday through Sunday—with a wide variety of food, entertainment, games, sidewalk sales, and many other planned events including a parade. The festival is sponsored by the Middle River Community Club.

At the shotgun patterning range, participants will be able to test-fire, or "pattern," their own guns on paper targets—comparing several different steel-shot loads—to find out which load works best in their gun. Targets were donated by the Minnesota Waterfowl Association (MWA) and a variety of shot shells will be donated by Federal Cartridge Corp. of Anoka. Hunters are also welcome to bring their own favorite loads to test.

The range-estimating demonstration features several life-size goose decoys suspended from weather balloons—allowing participants to judge the proper distance for a successful shot.

A Remington model 870 Express shotgun, donated by the Grygla chapter of Ducks Unlimited, will be given away in a free drawing. Participants may enter the drawing once for each event they try in the Goose Hunters' Warm-up.

Blue-winged teal print chosen for state duck stamp

A pair of blue-winged teal painted by Phil Scholer of Kasson has been chosen as the design for the 1993 Minnesota Migratory Waterfowl (Duck) Stamp.

Scholer's painting was selected from among 86 entries by a panel of judges representing expertise in ornithology, wildlife management, art, and publishing. Scholer previously won the contest for the 1982 Minnesota Waterfowl Stamp, and won the 1985 Federal Waterfowl Stamp contest.

Thirteen Mississippi Flyway species were eligible as subjects for the 1993 Minnesota stamp. Another painting of blue-winged teal, by Jim Hautman of Plymouth, placed second in the competition. Third place went to Louis Raymer of Minneapolis for his painting of black ducks. Other finalists and their subjects included Fred Short of Ramsey, old squaw; Jim Schablitsky of Kasson, red-breasted mergansers; and Mark Swenson of Nisswa, green-winged teal.

Two young boys died Monday after being trapped in a freezer.

According to Marshall County Sheriff Dennis Brekke, on Monday, September 28, at 7:43 p.m., the sheriff's department received a call from Argyle where two young boys were missing. The Second Section Off-street parking will finally be a reality at Zion Lutheran church in Thief River Falls. When the new addition was completed in the late 70's, the city agreed to the addition on the condition that off-street parking be added. Planners of the new addition were planning on it. They put two doors on the north side to accommodate a parking lot. The two houses that were on the lot were personages at one time. They were sold and removed from the property. The total estimated cost of the project was $27,000. Rudy and Joel Rude of Rude construction did the excavation and backfill. Lee Concrete of Newfolden did the curb and gutter. Northern Paving of Crookston did the paving. Pastor Dennis Raymond, Glen Peterson, and Pastor Gary Johnson are pictured above examining the new parking lot.

U of M offers valuation course Oct. 22

The University of Minnesota will offer a property valuation short course at the Best Western in Thief River Falls, October 22.

The course is designed for assessors, appraisers, realtors and officers of county, city and township governments.

Second and third-day sessions will be held at 15 locations around the state and provide an opportunity for additional Continuing Education credit.

The first-day session runs from 9 a.m. to 3:45 p.m. These sessions will provide assessors the opportunity to maintain their certification, and provide Continuing Education credit for realtors and fee appraisers.

The first-day program during the morning will have two concurrent sessions. One session will be for assessors, appraisers and realtors.

Topics will include assessing the dream home; construction, evaluation and taxation of mobile/manufactured homes; and the Minnesota Department of Revenue's vision of what the state and local revenue system should look like in the year 2000.

The other morning session will be a property tax seminar for township officers and members of county boards and city councils. Topics for this session will include duties and qualifications of the county assessor, duties and qualifications of the local assessor, licensure of the local assessor, and assessment from beginning to end.

The afternoon program will be a combined session. Topics will include how to take charge of your communications skills and attitudes, the role of property tax in agriculture and 1992 legislative tax law changes pertaining to property valuation.

Township officers and members of city councils and county boards will register at the course site, with registration beginning at 8 a.m. All others need to request a brochure and preregister. A course brochure that includes a registration form and information on second and third day dates and locations is available.

To obtain the brochure, contact the county assessor's office or county extension office or call University of Minnesota Extension Special Programs at (612) 625-1214 or (800) 367-5363.

Cuppett teaches adjustment to state blindness program

Chris Cuppett, formerly of Thief River Falls, teaches an adjustment to blindness program in southern Minnesota.

The program is operated out of Mankato Rehabilitation Center Inc in Mankato.

The state-funded elderoptions class meets once a week for 12 weeks. It is offered to people 55 and older who have lost their sight as the result of diabetes, glaucoma, macular degeneration or other reasons. Four to eight people are in each class.

Students learn daily living skills including cooking, housekeeping, laundry, dialing the phone and money identification.

"They already know how to do these things," Cuppett said. "But they need pointers on how they do them differently when they can't see."

They also discuss dealing with feelings about blindness and stereotyping.

"Some components of our program that students find the most successful can't be measured," Cuppett said. "There is a vast difference in attitude, lack of depression, and they find there are still things to do in life."

Cuppett, who has taught the class for three years, requires that all her students try braille for 12 weeks. "We feel it is a memory enhancer and a way of developing self confidence." Cuppett said about half become converts to braille and continue to use it.

A unique aspect of the program is its classroom setting, as opposed to a one on one approach.

"We feel our groups are a good approach because people get support from each other," Cuppett said. "They have the discipline of having to come out on a regular basis and work through what's happening to them — otherwise it's real easy to stay in denial."

More women than men take the course, both because there are more women in the Elderoptions age group (most students are over 80) and because "men seem to have a harder time admitting that their sight is failing."

No visitors are allowed to the class until graduation. "We have trouble with overbearing adult children or others who are always trying to help," Cuppett said. "They can undo everything."

The classes are held in churches, community centers, or senior citizen nutrition sites. State Services to the Blind counselors arrange transporta-

BIBLE STUDY

God's royal insurance policy

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

Being a servant of God has so many benefits that it truly is a royal insurance policy. God's royal insurance policy protects you from famine, disease and war (Psalm 33:19; 91:3, 5-7; 103:3; Prov. 10:3). It will lead you out of all your troubles (Job 5:20-27; Prov. 11:8; 12:13, 21). All things in life turn out for good for those who are the policy holders (Rom. 8:28). If someone came to your door and offered such a policy and you had faith in the company, it would be the easiest policy in the world to sell (Acts 2:40).

This policy gives you wisdom just for the asking, spiritual power just for the asking, and answered prayer, when in accordance with the will of the policy (James 1:5; 1 John 3:22; John 9:31; 15:7, 16; 16:24; Matt. 21:22). It guarantees you nice things for your home, abundance, joy, peace and love, as Abraham had (John 10:10; 17:13; Gen. 24:1; 25:8). It guarantees you obedient children who do not go astray when they are older (Prov. 22:6), when you follow the royal advice of Proverbs 29:15 and 17. It even guarantees you power to get wealth the right way—God's Way (Prov. 10:22; 13:21).

God wants you to partake in this royal insurance policy, but you must remain faithful to the premium Jesus Christ qualified you to be a policy holder regardless of your present condition, but you must not stay in your present condition. You must die to self and deny your old way of life daily (1 Cor. 15:31; Luke 9:23). Instead, you must live Christ's new Way of life (Heb. 10:20; Matt. 21:32). This is done by practicing righteousness, good deeds and good works to please and glorify the Father (1 John 2:29; Gal. 6:9; John 10:25, 32, 37-38; 14:12; Matt. 5:16). You must do all that you do and say in Christ's name as a happy slave of Christ (Col. 3:17; Eph. 6:6; Rom. 6:18-19).

Overcome your nature by doing good, being zealous, persevering in good works and keeping Christ's deeds, which are all righteous—God's righteousness (1 Peter 3:13; Rom. 12:21; 2:7; 10:3; Luke 21:19; Rev. 2:26; Prov. 19:17). You must strive until God creates in you a new nature, establishes you, and puts your nature under your heel (Luke 13:24; Prov. 22:9; 1 Peter 5:10; Heb. 10:36; Rom. 16:20).

Jesus Christ's Way is easy and pleasant (Matt. 11:30). Children would have no problem with it (Matt. 19:14; 18:4). But once you start, don't look back; just keep going straight forward into the good life, which is the godly life that God has been waiting for many to live (Luke 17:31; 1 Tim. 4:7; Eph. 5:1; 1 Cor. 11:1; Titus 1:1).

I received a letter from Earl Anderson of Longview, WA, the other day. He is Ebba Sihlberg's brother, and I did appreciate hearing from him. He was much impressed with the article, "Thru the Window," as it had brought back great memories for him. One was about the Model A roadster he had bought from Orville Germundson the salesman at Hemberg's garage for $465 with no dents, until he was teaching Ebba to drive. It had only one speed–the floor board. More came other time about that when Ebba has read the letter. Going home on the Jefferson highway, Earl would always give Hans Hegland a new supper of dust when they were milking cows on the west side of the road. I'll bet they were glad to see Ebba hit the ditch."

When The Kids Go Off To College....Times Change

"Parents have to realize that the child that leaves for college often returns a different person," states Jean Treese, director of orientation and assistant dean of students in the college of the University of Chicago.

"Grades may vary from what they were in high school, children become increasingly independent, and most of what people experience in college will challenge the prejudices, values and lifestyles they grew up with. When the students do return home, they will need to be treated differently, but they will still also need a lot of support from their parents. In order to help parents understand this, colleges must not cut them out of the transition. Parents need to be oriented toward college, too."

Treese recommends a book by Coburn and Treeger entitled "Letting Go: A Parents' Guide to Today's College Experience."

In today's social liberalism, parents concerned about their children have reason to be apprehensive when sending them off to college.

"Orientation programs (for students) have become very holistic," Treese said, noting that orientation at her university takes a full week.

"There's not much we can do to make taking tests more palatable," she said, "but we can create an inviting atmosphere when we introduce students to their academic advisers, the library, the registrar's office, the gym and the computer lab. Informing students about their community is crucial to helping them function in their new environment.

"And equally important to college success is acquainting new students with the resources offered by their college and by the city in which it's located," she said. No problem there. College students should know about the academic aspects of their school and something about the community in which it is located.

"Then when you add social issues to the program, orientation becomes an extensive and very significant introduction to college life," she adds.

That's saying a mouthful.

Treese has added to orientation workshops she had initiated on drugs and alcohol, safer sex, eating disorders, sexual harassment, gay and lesbian issues and acquaintance rape "to heighten students' awareness and support them as they begin to encounter issues that are increasing complex.

"When teenagers get to college," she explains, "they take a momentous step toward adulthood, and we hope to instill in them the responsibility that must accompany the freedoms."

Unfortunately, many young people who go off to college won't be able to handle the responsibility and the peer pressures. Those who will cope best will be those whose family values have been instilled over a lifetime and who respect themselves and others.. Orientation is too late to begin that process.

It's too bad our structure has deteriorated to the point that our social sicknesses must be taught as an introduction to college, but times have changed and the teaching is probably proper.

Chippewa National Forest To Furnish Capitol Christmas Tree

This year the Christmas tree which will be erected on the west lawn of the U.S. Capitol grounds in Washington, DC, will come from the Chippewa National Forest and Leech Lake Indian Reservation. And you don't just chop down a convenient tree and stand it up at the Capitol. This is Washington we're talking about, and there have to be procedures and protocol.

First of all, a different national forest is selected each year to supply the Capitol Christmas tree. This is the first time the Chippewa National Forest has been selected to send a tree to Washington and, with 156 national forests in the United States, it is likely to be another century and a half before the Chippewa's turn comes around again.

The tree to be cut for the Capitol is a 62-foot white spruce which a core boring indicates is between 35 and 40 years old. And it wasn't just a random choice. It was selected personally by Paul Pincus, Capitol architect, from among six nominees "because it is full and bushy, fitting the popular notion of a traditional Christmas tree," according to Minnesota's Tree to D.C. publicity committee.

It is scheduled to be cut Monday, November 23, with ceremonies beginning at 8 a.m. at the Deer River ranger station. Buses will depart for the tree site which is said to be a "remote location in the forest." No explanation is given as to how the buses will reach the remote location.

After forest and reservation spokesmen welcome invited dignitaries and media personnel, Leech Lake representatives will conduct a ceremony, leaving tobacco at the site in a traditional show of respect. Invited guests will make the initial cuts in the tree, using a crosscut saw.

Then Kasimier Wojakowski of Michigan—generally regarded as the nation's leading decorative tree felling expert (we didn't know there was one)—will take over with a chain saw and supervise the lowering of the tree by crane. He will also oversee the wrapping of the tree and loading it for truck transport.

A professional film crew will videotape the cutting ceremony for viewing at community celebrations Tuesday, November 24 in Cass Lake and Wednesday, November 25, in Deer River. A reception immediately following the cutting ceremony will be sponsored by the Leech Lake Indian Reservation on November 23. Videotape will be distributed to network news channels in time for that evening's national newscasts.

Arrangements for transporting the tree to Washington were coordinated by citizens in the area. People from the local communities and the Leech Lake Reservation organized Minnesota's Tree to D.C. committee to raise funds, arrange for cutting and transporting the tree and make the 10,000 ornaments needed to assure that the tree from the Chippewa will truly represent the area.

It seems like a complicated and costly process. Wouldn't it work to plant (or transplant) a tree on the west lawn and just decorate it each year as it grows? That would probably be too simple for the national government.

Corps considers programmatic EIS for two states

To discuss the possibility of producing a programmatic environmental impact statement (EIS) for the Red River Basin the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers held a meeting September 15 at Hector International Airport in Fargo, ND.

A programmatic EIS would look at the cumulative environmental impacts of multiple floodwater retention impoundments in the area, whereas a standard EIS looks at the environmental impacts of a single impoundment.

Cost of the programmatic EIS is estimated at $300,000, with the cost to be paid by the states of North Dakota and Minnesota and by the Red River Watershed Management Board and North Dakota Joint Water Resource Board. If either state would not participate, only half of the study would be done. If neither state elected to participate, the programmatic EIS could not be done and the Corps would have to do standard EIS reports on individual impoundments.

If the Corps decides to do the programmatic EIS, all permits for flood control impoundments in the basin would be put on hold until the study is complete—a period of two or more years. These would include the Winger Dam project by the Sand Hill River Watershed district, Donley Project #9 by the Buffalo-Red River Watershed district and Marsh Creek Project #11, site #6, by the Wild Rice Watershed district.

The Sand Hill River Watershed district says it will consider submitting a new Winger Dam application, designating it as a dry dam without a recreation pool if it would have a better chance at approval. MPCA and Minnesota DNR representatives indicate that the project would have a much better chance at state approval if it was submitted as a dry dam.

Ben Wogat of the Corps of Engineers said that if the Winger Dam project is submitted as a dry dam, the Corps would have to reopen a public comment period and reassess Winger Dam as if it were a new project. He said the Corps will try to have an answer on the programmatic EIS by the end of the month. Final decision lies with Col. Dave Craig.

Joining in the meeting in Fargo were the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, Minnesota Pollution Control Agency, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Minnesota Board of Water and Soil Resources, North Dakota State Water Commission, Red River Watershed Management Board, North Dakota Joint Water Resource Board and the International Coalition for Land/ Water Stewardship in the Red River Basin.

IRS audit procedure explained

Internal Revenue Service audits are conducted to verify the accuracy of income, exemptions or deductions, according to Bill Knight, public affairs officer for the IRS at its district office in St. Paul.

"Most tax returns are selected for audit by an IRS computer program that scores returns for the probability of errors," Knight said. "Other methods of selection include screening claims for refund of previously paid taxes and matching information documents issued for income, such as wages paid and dividends and interest earned."

While some audits do result in increased tax liability, many cases are closed without change and sometimes an audit results in a tax refund. The IRS also makes a special effort not to keep auditing the same people over and over on the same issue.

"Only about one per cent of all returns filed are audited each year," Knight said. "Some audits are done at the taxpayer's place of business, others at an IRS office and many more through the mail. Increasingly, the IRS is looking for ways to help people get their return done right in the first place."

If you disagree with the results of an audit, you always have the right to appeal. If you are interested in learning more about the examination process, you can order the free IRS publication Examination of Returns, Appeal Rights and Claims for Refund by calling toll-free 1-800-829-3676.

Sales tax opponents pleased about delay

Opponents of the one-half per cent sales tax for the city of Thief River Falls say they are pleased the proponents have taken the issue off the general election ballot in November.

"We were surprised but pleased by the headlines in Friday's Northern Watch which said the vote on the city sales tax was being placed on hold," stated former Mayor Bob Carlson, spokesman for the opposition group and a long time objector to the sales tax proposal.

"We are glad the sales tax group has come to its senses in putting off the election," Carlson said, "but we wish it was permanent."

Carlson said the opposition was in the process of preparing a public effort against the half-cent city sales tax, feeling it was not proper for Thief River Falls to ask people from the area outside the city to help finance our projects. He said he had traveled over 2,500 miles in the past week to observe cities in the state and talk to people about city sales taxes.

"I criss-crossed the state from New Ulm to Pipestone and Worthington to Winona, into Red Wing and all around," Carlson said. "I visited more than 80 towns, drove the main streets and was shocked at the conditions I found. There are empty store buildings, cities apparently without money to fix streets and sidewalks. It was sad, especially in towns from 1,500 to 2,500 people."

Carlson said he talked to farmers whose soybean harvest was questionable by whose corn held prospects of being excellent with a little break in the weather. He said they generally took a dim view of a city sales tax, as did residents of the communities where he stopped.

"I think it would be good for Mr. Wigness (city clerk Jerry), Mr. Stewart (city planning director Don) and alderman (David) Carlson to make the same kind of trip I did. They could see for themselves the economic conditions existing in the state today."

His group believes, Carlson said, that projects for the city should stand on their own and be sold to the taxpayers on their worth to the city itself. "Projects should go to a bond referendum and let the people decide. Let the end result stand on its own; let's not alienate our trade area people with a sales tax."

Carlson said he believed the recent school bond issue vote, which passed by a narrow margin of only 202 votes, had separated the community and it wasn't necessary to do it again with a sales tax vote at this time.

He said he could understand Rep. Wally Sparby's position in carrying legislation which permitted the sales tax vote to be held with certain constraints. But he added

Sharon LaCoursiere

. . . It's a Dirty Job, But . . .

I've been doing my spring cleaning, albeit a bit late. I have the feeling that this late spring cleaning will be completed by some time next spring, or maybe even some time after that.

Actually, this spring cleaning I am doing is several years late. I have managed to avoid doing a thorough house cleaning for many years by coming up with more excuses than you can ever imagine or that I can ever remember.

Many years ago I planned to go back to school. For a long time, years, even, I used the excuse that I had no time to do spring or fall house cleaning because I was getting ready to go back to school and had to use all of my energy to get organized for that.

Once I finally got myself back into school evenings and working during the day, I used the excuse that I was going back to school and working now and couldn't possibly take the time to do a thorough house cleaning. That excuse lasted for four years, but was no longer valid after I graduated in 1989.

Since 1989, I believe I have used the excuse that I am recuperating from going back to school and have to regroup all the energy I lost while studying. When no one believed that it took me over three years to get my energy back, I told them I was working too hard at what I went to school for to do house cleaning. It took all of my energy for me to do what I went to school to do and I couldn't find time to do house cleaning. I also told everyone I was getting too old to do things like that any more.

No one was believing me. I think they though I was lazy. Also, we have no more room to store things in my house, and I found some bugs in the cupboard. I figured it was time that I do a major house cleaning—no more excuses!

Anyway, you can understand that I found my house was a disaster area. Parts of it still are disaster areas, but I am actually working on getting it cleaned up.

But I am finding so many wonderful things that I can't bear parting with...

–I found school papers from my older children. Never mind that the children are ages 30, 28 and 26—those papers are precious. Needless to say, I couldn't bear to throw them away and stuck them neatly in a clean box.

—I found some special baby clothes that all of my children wore, but I repacked them because I will never get rid of them. Both of my grandchildren have worn them and my daughter-in-law just brought them back to me. I'm saving them for future grandchildren. They are so cute.

—I found a beautiful little drawing of a swan on a tranquil lake. It was tucked in with the gift wrap (which I sorted and refolded and put in a clean box, by the way). I don't know which of the kids did it, but I think I will frame it.

—I found pictures of all of my classmates from my graduation. Yes, we did have cameras back in those days. The pictures are not colored, however, since we did not have colored graduation pictures back then. I am keeping the pictures, but I might throw away the box of announcements and cards that I found. Might.

—Speaking of school things, I am keeping the scrap book I made of Ireland in eight grade, and also the one of Julius Caesar that I made in eleventh grade. My kids might want to use them.

—I did throw some things. I packed at least twenty dozen quart jars in black bags. Then the kids said what a shame it was to throw them all away and made me leave them in back of the house for a few days in case they knew anyone who would like some jars.

While the jars sat in the back yard, I decided I should save a few, just in case I wanted to can some pickles, and I went out and brought three dozen of them back into the basement. I threw the rest, though.

—I saved all of my pint jars, and all of my good jelly jars. I plan to do some canning again some day. Maybe next year. If I plant a garden. Next year.

—I saved most of the kids' old games. We had such fun playing them and maybe we will have time to play them again if it storms this winter.

—I saved all of my old Christmas and other holiday decorations, because I can't bare to part with them. The kids made some of them. I did, however, repack them neatly. Never mind that they take up several of the storage shelves. They are too precious to part with.

—I saved all of my plant pots. When I went back to school, all of my house plants died of neglect. I have worked hard to replenish my supply of plants and coax them to flourish. I will need all of my plant pots again some day because my plants will grow larger.

—I saved many of the children's old clothes. I'm going to make quilts. Yes I am!

—I saved my books. I packed some of the kind I don't read any more in boxes, because someone else will want to read them, but I can't bear to throw books away. You never know when we might have a blizzard and I can't get to the library and I will enjoy reading them again.

Barring unforeseen incidents, I plan to continue my cleaning this week. I'm sure I will come across some more exciting things to keep. Hopefully, I will come across a few things that can be thrown away.

Dear Readers,
We have all heard the saying, "He is young for his years." This is a compliment that any senior citizen would like to hear. The young-at-heart have so many things in common. First, they keep busy. If they are retired, their job is replaced with other activities. They are receptive to change and new ideas. They cherish their friends, and are proud of their independence. Above all, they maintain a sense of humor.

Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

I did something a week or so ago which probably you too should do. I went to each of the smoke detectors in my home and tested them to see if they needed new batteries. Well the one in the basement was fine. So also were two of the remaining three smoke detectors. But, the smoke detector near the upstairs sleeping quarters did not pass the test. So, to the store for new batteries I went. But, this detector didn't need new batteries, for even with new batteries it failed the test. This smoke detector needed to be replaced.

Our family was relying on that smoke detector to alert us to a fire. If I hadn't spent the few moments testing the detectors, we would not have realized that what we relied upon was not going to be of any help to us in case of a fire.

October is fire awareness month. Check you smoke detectors. Replace the batteries if they fail the test. Replace the detectors if batteries don't help. A few moments and a few dollars spent is cheap insurance for your family's safety.

Now that you have spent a couple of minutes checking out the smoke alarms, what else can you do to eliminate the danger of fire from your house? Do you have any fire extinquishers? Are they easily accessible? Have they retained their charge? Do you need to spend a few dollars and purchase a couple of fire extinquishers? They will be a blessing when you least expect to use them.

Have you looked into the nooks and crannies of your home? Do you have an abundance of fire traps just lurking in your closets and attic and basement? Do you really need all of the junk you are saving? Go through the unnecessary items you have. Don't be afraid to throw some things away. When really was the last time you needed that old, too small dress? You don't need to donate everything to the landfill. Try giving some of your unneeded items away to a local charity. Or, have a garage sale. Just try to eliminate some of the junk in your home. A bit less junk can be a deterrent to a fire.

Well, now that you've cleaned the closets and attic and basement, and you have checked the smoke detectors and fire extinquishers, what else can you do to help prevent fires in your home? Look around your house. Do you have any appliances which are really on their last legs? Maybe you should have them repaired or replaced. Electrical fires can start from old, no longer safe, electrical wiring. Keep the safety of your family in mind. Don't take unnecessary risks with their safety.

Do you smoke? Are there any smokers in your household? Are all of you careful about where you smoke and how you extinquish your cigarette. Don't risk the safety of your family by being careless in your smoking.

Is you house more than one story high? Do you have easy escape routes in the upstairs of your home? Do you need an emergency escape ladder? Don't scrimp on your family's safety. If a ladder will aid in their safety, purchase one.

Do you have living areas in the basement of your home? Perhaps you have only a workshop and laundry facilities there. Do you have a means of escape from your basement in case of fire?

When we look around our homes, we can probably all see areas in which we could improve our home's fire safety. Don't be afraid to change things in your home to improve it's fire safety.

No matter how fire safe we try to make our homes, fires do happen. Then what only matters is getting out of your home. Do you have a plan of escape for your home? Do your family members know where to gather outside of your home in case of a fire? Tonight, review your escape plan with your family and check those smoke detectors; you family's safety may be depending on you.

Say What?!

By Karmen Lee Ortloff

Say What?!
by Karmen Lee Ortloff

It's that time of the year again.

A time when the leaves start to turn bright crimson, a time for farmers to harvest their crops, and a time when children head off to school. Now, many people incorrectly assume this season is autumn. I, however, in my infinite, 18-year-old wisdom, do not. I know better. I know that it is homecoming.

Contrary to popular belief, homecoming is not just a week long celebration, culminating with a football game on Friday.

Homecoming is a state of mind, or perhaps during this season, everyone just loses their mind, whatever.

Allow me to illustrate. Weeks before the big event, members of the opposite sex begin to scope each other out in hopes of finding that one oh-so-special person that is to be your date.

Once this is complete, there is still the task of getting that person to actually go with you. This can be accomplished in one of three ways: (1) Begging, (2) flattery, (3) payment. (Although I personally have never resorted to number three, I strongly recommend you list the expectations on paper and have it signed before payment. This will take care of any sticky situations that might arise on the big night, such as whether or not your date has to actually dance with you.)

Once you have a confirmed date, the fun really starts. You must immediately start to book appointments for tanning beds. After all, one mustn't show up without a Bermuda style tan. What do you want people to think? That you're from northern Minnesota or something?

With tanning bed appointments clearly marked on your calendar, you're now ready to move on to the next level of homecoming preparation, I.E., your clothes. "Hmmm? Should I wear my neutral black shoes that match my date's outfit, or should I go with the blue and risk the bold fashion statement I am sure to make.? This is but one of the many monumental questions that must be confronted during this crucial period.

Roughly one week before the event, experimentation begins on your hair. Practice is the key here. Are you going to wear your hair up or down, with the part to the left or to the right? Again these are crucial questions that need to be answered.

The above preparations are only for the BOY! Imagine what the girl has to go through!

Why do we put ourselves through the torment that is homecoming? Simply because our future livelihood depends upon it. Let's say that you went to Harvard law school and graduated summa cum laude. Your resume appears to be in order, but wait! You didn't go to homecoming way back in high school. (Gasp!) Therefore, this prestigious law firm decides to hire some guy who graduated one hundred tenth in a class of four from a correspondence school out in New York somewhere. The difference between you and him? In high school he went to homecoming and you didn't. This makes him not only better than you, but it also enables him to have a far better job, a better spouse and generally a better life than you even dare imagine!

That's why homecoming is so important, that's why everyone loses their mind (sometimes temporarily, sometimes not), and that's why we put ourselves through it all.

And you thought it was autumn!

Moving Day

I am now an official resident of the town of Plummer. On Saturday friends from the church and around town so very kindly gathered and moved me and my belongings into my new home.

The night before Pastor Johnson phoned and told me of their plans and they were God-sent, I'm sure.

Those who came were Pastor, Merle Jesme, Leo Eskell, Rick Lorenson, Martin Eskell, Ray Nenonen, Orvel Rosse, Goodwin and Benji Evesager, Melvin Eskel, Howard and Loren Lafayette, Byron Boston, Don Fox, Eddy Eskel, Jim DuChamp and Art Hanson. If I have missed anyone, I am sorry and have not meant to leave anyone out.

My son Richard of Cedar also came on Friday night and spent most of Saturday doing plumbing and other things. Shirley and Ray Vigstol were very good help. Alice Johnson and Bunny DuChamp came with delicious cake and Art Howard sent doughnuts so everyone had a good coffee break. The whole moving job took only two hours.

How true that many hands make light work and everyone enjoyed the "bee". Many thanks for such good friends.

My phone number remains the same and I will continue writing the news. Please phone or drop in anytime with your news items or just for coffee.

Diane Jaeger of the Cities, daughter of Jimmy Jaegers, accompanied Anne Jaeger in a ride to Plummer on Saturday and spent a week with her aunt and uncle Howard and Margaret Greenwald, and other relatives.

Mrs. Arvo Eskeli of Nashwauk and Mrs. Dan Johnson of Duluth spent from Friday to Sunday with Esther Simonson. The three of them visited at the homes of Carl Koskelas, Jean Eskeli of Crookston and Martha Walhaug of Oklee.

Roger Mattison of Warren spent Sunday with his mother, Esther Simonson.

Wavell Sorenson attended a birthday party for her niece Meren, daughter of John and Delaine Hammer of Goodridge on Sunday. Accompanying her was her grandson John Sorenson, and other guests were Eugene and Willie Prestegard, Grade and Arnold Hammer.

Wavell Sorenson visited with Orville Sorenson and Frank Krbechek who are patients in Northwest Medical Center on Sunday afternoon.

Governor proclaims violence free week

The chamber of commerce in Thief River Falls was among the many organizations asked to participate in Violence Free Minnesota week, which has been declared by Governor Arne Carlson. The week has been declared to draw attention to the causes and effects of violence in the state.

During Violence Free Minnesota Week, October 4-11, a wide range of organizations which have made strides toward a violence free Minnesota during the past year, will be recognized.

Residents of Minnesota do not have to live or work in a crime-ridden neighborhood to be affected by violence. While violence includes random street crimes, it also encompasses domestic abuse, verbal abuse, work place harassment and other more subtle forms of violence. Statistics indicate that co-workers and friends are victims and perpetrators of physical and verbal abuse. Those who have experienced fear for the safety of their children, or while walking to cars late at night are also victims of violence.

Violence is a product of violent attitudes and these attitudes are often developed at a young age. With help, attitudes can be changed at the root of these behaviors. Children can be taught mutual respect and peaceful conflict resolution.

In 1991, the Governor's Commission on Violent Crimes was established. This group was asked to study existing reports, gather public input and develop comprehensive recommendations for curbing violence in Minnesota. The commission submitted a report last year, calling for a greater public emphasis on prevention and stiffer sentencing for certain violent offenders. Most of the recommendations from this report were incorporated into the 1992 Anti-Violence Act signed into law this spring.

After the news went in last week I realized Earl Anderson was Ebba Sihlberg's cousin, and not her brother. He is a nice guy, so Ebba forgave me. He remembered that Ebba went in the ditch and raised havoc with his new Model "A" and Ebba said she was guilty as charged, but who finished the "Job"??? After a couple of days in a daze, he awake saying, "I wasn't born yesterday." And that is the end of a new "Model A."

EGF wins TRF volleyball title

[illegible] Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 15-3, 15-11 and [illegible] 15-5 in the quarterfinals and semifinals, respectively [illegible].

Marshall County Central reached the finals [illegible] Warroad 15-[illegible] and Steinbach, [illegible].

"[illegible] we had a pretty good day," said Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson. "It was a good tournament for us. I'm glad [illegible] East Side [illegible]."

Tournament matches going three games featured rally-point scoring in Game 3 – producing a point for either side on every play.

The Nordics and Green Wave were tied 13-13 in Game 3 when an errant Marshall County Central serve and an out-of-bounds hit gave East Grand Forks the final two points.

"In one way, it's kind of fun to play rally point," said Jorgenson, "but it's nerve wracking, too. It puts a lot of pressure on you. You can't make mistakes."

It was a solid team effort by the Nordics, mentioned Jorgenson. "We had two girls named all-tournament (Sara Lokstad, Jill Fosholm), and that was nice, but we had a number of other kids who came through for us, too," he said, citing Mary Rokke and Wendy Inman for their contri- [illegible] a 3-15, 16-14, 15-13 [illegible] Red Lake County [illegible] the tournament's opener [illegible] back from the semifinal [illegible] East Grand Forks with a 15-[illegible] 15-11 third place victory [illegible] Steinbach.

Strong all around play by Dawn Bachand and an outstanding day at the service line carried the Mustangs. Bachand was 36-for-37 at the line, while Farrah Brantl was 26-for-27, Lisa Larson 22-for-23, and Karlene Jolly finished 26-for-28.

It was not a great day for the host Thief River Falls squad. Steinbach beat the Prowlers 13-15, 15-11, 15-9 in the quarterfinals, and Warroad eliminated them 8-15, 15-13, 18-16 in the consolation semifinals.

"We played very inconsistent volleyball against Steinbach," explained Thief River Falls coach Helen Anderson. "Against Warroad, we got going late in the third game, and it was a battle. But when you play rally-point, mistakes are very costly."

Junior Toni Chiodo was the Prowlers' lone all-tournament pick, leading the team with 20 last-touch points and 24 kills for the day.

Sophomore Kelly Skime led the Prowlers with [illegible] points and sophomore Carrie Lawrence was named Player of the Day by the Thief River Falls coaching staff.

The two losses dropped the Prowlers to 7-7 for the year. They play at Moorhead tonight (Tuesday) and will be at Warren Thursday. Both matches have 7:30 p.m. starting times.

Marshall County Central left the tournament with a 9-4 record, Red Lake County Central 5-7 and Badger/Greenbush-Middle River 6-8. The Nordics had a Monday match at Warroad, followed by matches tonight (Tuesday) vs. Goodridge/Grygla and Thursday vs. Lake of the Woods – both in Newfolden. The Mustangs meet Warren tonight at Plummer, visit Waubun Thursday and will host their own Red Lake County Central Invitational Saturday. The Bulldogs play Lake of the Woods tonight at Badger and will face Goodridge/Grygla Thursday at Grygla.

Thief River Falls boys placed seventh, while the Prowlers' girls wound up sixth. There were nine complete teams in both races.

Freshman Leah Helgenset led the Thief River Falls girls with a top-ten finish – a tenth place 13:15 two-mile effort. Senior John Gunstad was the top finisher among the Thief River Falls boys with a 24th place 17:46 three-mile run.

It was the lone home appearance of the year for the Prowlers, who will run at Warroad Invitational Thursday beginning at 4:15 p.m.

Pioneers face UMC in MCCC volleyball

Northland Community College volleyball team returns to Minnesota Community College Conference play Wednesday when the Pioneers host rival University of Minnesota-Crookston in a 6:30 p.m. Northwest Division match.

It'll be the only outing of the week for the Pioneers, who came back from Anoka-Ramsey empty-handed after losing five matches in a Friday triangular and Saturday round-robin tournament hosted by the Rams.

Friday, North Hennepin beat Northland 15-8, 15-7 and Anoka-Ramsey swept the Pioneers 15-4, 15-2.

Saturday losses came at the hands of Fergus Falls 15-8, 15-12; Anoka-Ramsey 15-5, 17-15; and Worthington 15-10, 15-9.

"The competition was very good," pointed out Northland coach Deb Jacobson. "We played really well at times. The problem was, we gave people too many big leads."

Northland lost the services of Middle River freshman Holly Gram, their top blocker, to an ankle injury Saturday.

The Pioneers are 5-13 overall.

Park Rapids picks up yards, first downs; Thief River Falls does the scoring...

Prowlers beat Panthers 42-6

On the Saturday morning scoreboard it looked like wipe-out: Thief River Falls 42, Park Rapids Area 6. But a look at the statistics would leave you scratching your head. The Panthers out-gained the Prowlers 337-325 in total yards, finished with an 18-10 advantage in first downs, and never punted the ball all night.

Yet, Park Rapids wound up losing the Section 8A high school football match-up by 36 points. Go figure.

"Park Rapids has a nice football team," pointed out Thief River Falls coach Jeff Mumm. "They move the ball well. They had some long sustained drives, but our defensive philosophy is that we really don't care how many yards and how many first downs we give up; we only care about the scoreboard."

It was the fourth straight Thief River Falls victory after a season-opening loss to unbeaten defending Section 8A champion Detroit Lakes, and it was the third consecutive scoreboard blow-out for the Prowlers, who took care of Wadena-Deer Creek 55-0 and Staples Area 41-13 the two previous weeks.

Thief River Falls spotted Park Rapids an early 6-0 lead, but even though the Panthers continued to move the ball, the Prowlers wound up scoring six unanswered touchdowns. They were up 21-6 at halftime, and doubled that by the end of the third quarter.

"Things have been going so well for us lately that when we fell behind, and even when we were up at halftime, the kids were a little nervous," noted Mumm. "They were moving the ball on us. But we kept our composure, and we got the job done."

It was a big night for Thief River Falls runningback Kevin Johnson, a 170-pound senior who rushed for 117 yards and scored three touchdowns – on just seven carries.

"Kevin is running very well for us," mentioned Mumm. "He's as quick as anybody we have, and he's strong. He had a nice game."

Rest of the Prowlers' 244 rushing yards were spread among 11 backs, with Marc Haugen netting 47 yards on seven carries.

Park Rapids had a 100-yard rusher, too, in 160-pound senior Dan Shields, who gained 104 yards on 14 carries. Sophomore Cory Bowman finished with 78 yards on eight tries, and junior quarterback Danny May wound up with 63 yards on 15 attempts.

After stopping the first Thief River Falls possession of the night in four plays – something Wadena-Deer Creek and Staples Area never did – the Panthers promptly marched 48 yards in seven plays and took a 6-0 lead on a head-down blast through the left side by Rocky Wright from four yards out 5:02 into the game.

The yards kept coming, but thanks in part to four fumbles and two interceptions, that was the last the Panthers saw of the end zone.

Thief River Falls quickly answered the Park Rapids score with a 7-play, 67-yard drive of its own. Back-to-back runs of 10 and 17 yards by Haugen were followed by a 20-yard touchdown pass from Jason Svir to a wide-open Carter Rogalla down the right side. Barry Rhineberger came on to begin what would be a perfect 6-for-6 night in the kicking department for a 7-6 edge with 7:55 gone.

After stopping a fourth down snap from the Thief River Falls 24 with a quarterback sack by Adam Jacobson, the Prowlers put together another 67-yard touchdown drive, this one covering 12 plays, to take a 14-6 lead. A 21-yard Haugen halfback option pass to a leaping Rogalla over the middle was the big play on the march that ended with Johnson scoring from the six. He tried the middle on the touchdown run, but when that was plugged, he slipped to the outside and went in standing up with 7:35 remaining in the first half.

Park Rapids again moved the ball on the ensuing possession, reaching the Thief River Falls 7-yard line, but was stopped when May was intercepted by Haugen at the 6. He returned it all the way to the Park Rapids 32, and six plays later Johnson, catching his balance in the backfield, burst through a nice hole on the left side for a 4-yard touchdown run and a 21-6 cushion with just 1:15 left in the half.

First play of the second half was a Park Rapids fumble that was recovered by Thief River Falls linebacker Brad Kragness at the Panthers' 27. Seven plays later Svir picked his way through the left side on a keeper that made it 28-6 with just 2:27 elapsed.

And it took just 41 seconds to become 35-6 when Haugen again intercepted May, this time returning it 35 yards for a touchdown.

Typical of the way the night was going, Park Rapids put together a 14-play drive that reached the Thief River Falls 9 before being stopped. Johnson promptly took a second down hand-off 78 yards for a touchdown, breaking away from a tackle in the middle and using his speed down the left side. Rhineberger's kick finished the scoring with 50 seconds left in the third quarter.

Thief River Falls offensive regulars, played a little over a quarter in both the Wadena-Deer Creek and Staples Area games, went three quarters against Park Rapids before retiring.

Pioneers down Mesabi 15-7; face Itasca for homecoming

Defense was the name of the game Saturday as Northland got by Mesabi 15-7 in a Minnesota Community College Conference Northern Division football game at Virginia.

The Pioneers gave the Norsemen just eight first downs and 160 total yards. The Mesabi ground game netted only 29 yards on 24 tries.

"Week in and week out, our defense has been playing well," said Northland coach Gene Klinke, "but this time they really put it all together. Kids like Blue Olson, Brandon Baker, John Hardy, Jay Cooper, Shane Wilkens, Mike Quinn, Brian Lambert, and Rich Bachelor – heck just take our roster and look at everyone listed on defense. They all did a great job."

The Northland defense even got into the scoring column on a turn of events that might have been the key to the outcome of the game, according to Klinke.

Threatening to break a 7-7 tie with a third quarter drive, Northland came up just short of the goal line on third and fourth down tries from the Mesabi 1-yard line.

However, the Mesabi enthusiasm established by the goal line stand quickly abated when Hardy broke through for a first-down safety against the Norsemen.

The 9-7 Northland lead turned into the 15-7 final when the Pioneers took the ensuing free kick and put together a drive that ended on a 5-yard Sheldon Hinton touchdown run.

"We put together a couple of nice drives when we really needed it," noted Klinke. "The offense sucked it up and got the job done." Northland's ball-control offense was at its best in the fourth quarter when the Pioneers ran 30 plays against the frustrated Mesabi defense.

Hinton, coming off an ankle injury that has limited his playing time in recent weeks, also scored the first Northland touchdown on a 1-yard run in the second quarter.

Hinton finished with 92 yards on 20 carries, but the big yards in the Northland backfield once again came from Shawn Campbell, who had 146 yards on 33 carries. He had a 32-carry, 365-yard game in a 31-22 win at Hibbing the week before.

Leniton Bryant also contributed to the Pioneers' 320-yard game on the ground with 51 yards on 8 carries.

Northland, 3-1 for the year and 2-1 in the Northern Division, will host Itasca Thursday in a 7 p.m. homecoming game at Prowler Field. It'll be just the second home appearance of the year for the Pioneers, whose only loss came at home – 26-8 in Week 2 at the hands of unbeaten Vermilion.

"We're all looking forward to playing a home game," acknowledged Klinke. "We're all a little saddle-sore. After playing three of our first four games on the road – two of them on the Iron Range – the kids flinch every time they see a Greyhound (bus). We played our worst game of the year against a good team the last time we were at home. The people who were there never saw the real Pioneer football team. The kids are looking forward to the chance to show them we have a very good football team."

Itasca is 1-3 for the year, owning a 28-0 win over the Bemidji State University junior varsity, while losing to the Bethel junior varsity 10-0, Brainerd 24-7 and University of Minnesota-Crookston 3-0 last week on a 28-yard fourth quarter field goal by the Trojans' Shane Koski.

Vermilion remained unbeaten in the playoff race that will send the top two regular season Northern Division finishers into post season play with a 27-6 win over Brainerd Saturday.

"We had hoped to be 2-2 coming off these road games," said Klinke. "Being 3-1, and with three conference games coming up at home, we're a definite playoff contender. This football team controls its own destiny. If we keep winning they can't keep us out of the playoffs."

The final four Northland games will all be Thursday night affairs. The Pioneers will play an Oct. 15 nonconference game at Mayville State University (against the Comets' junior varsity), then finish the regular season with Northern Division match ups at Prowler Field Oct. 22 vs. UMC and Oct. 29 vs. Brainerd.

International Falls claims title at OSA soccer invitational

International Falls broke a 2-2 tie with a pair of late goals Saturday to beat Our Saviour's Christian Academy 4-2 in the finals of the Crusaders' four-team soccer tournament in Thief River Falls.

Karlstad shut out Roseau 6-0 in the third place match.

In first round semifinals, Our Saviour's Christian Academy edged Karlstad 4-3 and International Falls stopped Roseau 8-0.

A senior-led, all-boys International Falls team had the edge over teams like the Crusaders, who have a younger boys/girls line-up, pointed out Our Saviour's Christian Academy coach Kelly McIntosh.

"Our kids did a nice job," said McIntosh. "Our defense played great, and our forwards played well, too."

The Crusaders were scheduled to play a 1:30 p.m. match at Karlstad today (Tuesday). They will host Roseau Friday at 3 p.m.

Nordics, Bulldogs will be on the road for Friday contests

Marshall County Central will be looking for its first win of the 1992 high school football season Friday when the Nordics visit Kittson Central.

Tri-County stopped Marshall County Central 23-0 Friday, dropping the Nordics to 0-5 for the year.

Elsewhere, Badger/Greenbush-Middle River, coming off a 20-9 win over Fertile-Beltrami, will be at Hawley Friday. The Bulldogs are 3-2.

Swimmers compete at Fergus Falls Invitational...

Depth limits TRF scoring

Depth spelled the difference for the Thief River Falls girls Saturday in a fifth place finish at the eight-team Fergus Falls Invitational high school swim meet.

Brainerd/Motley/Pillager won team honors with 303 points, followed by Melrose with 282, Moorhead 246, Fergus Falls 209, Thief River Falls 170, Crookston 95, Park Rapids Area 61, and Sauk Centre 29.

"We had as much quality as anybody out there, but not as much quantity," said Thief River Falls coach Ryan Lokken.

The Prowlers' 500-yard swimmers – Sanna Torgerson, Sarah Hager, Maja Turenne and Alicia Bakken – turned in "spectacular" efforts, according to Lokken, and the Prowlers' 400 freestyle relay team turned in its best pre-taper time ever, he pointed out.

Senior Amy Adams won the 50 and 100 freestyle to led the Prowlers. Sophomore Theresa Giauque placed second in the 200 individual medley and third in the 100 butterfly, while freshman Jennifer Olin turned in a sixth place effort in diving.

The Prowlers also won the 200 freestyle relay with Adams, Giauque, senior Ingrid Morken, and junior Lisa Ulrich, and wound up second in the 400 freestyle relay with Adams, senior Sanna Torgerson, Giauque, and Ulrich.

Thief River Falls will be at Moorhead for a 6 p.m. dual Thursday. The Prowlers will be at the Grand Forks Invitational Saturday beginning at 1 p.m.

INSURANCE Update

by Ron Hanson

THE SEVEN YEAR PITCH

Car owners often increase their deductibles as a means of holding down the cost of their automobile insurance premiums. The same cost saving strategy may be used by homeowners. An estimated 92% of all homeowner's policies now carry $250 deductibles. This dollar amount represents the cost that a homeowner is willing to absorb for damage repair, before he or she goes to the insurance company for collection. By raising the deductible, homeowners raise the cost to themselves in the event of a loss. But, how big is this risk? As a general rule, the average homeowner experiences a loss every seven years. In most cases, the amount of premium saved by raising the deductible over the seven year period, most often offsets the difference between the lower deductible and the higher one.

Mustangs lose 51-26 game

Kelliher/Northome scored on its first offensive snap of the night Friday and went on to beat Red Lake County Central 51-26 in a North Tri-County Conference high school football game at Kelliher.

A 61-yard touchdown pass from Corey Pink to Chad Eggen jump-started the Kelliher/Northome offense, and moments later a 20-yard pass interception return for a touchdown by Tim Logger made it 12-0.

Red Lake County Central never recovered. It was 18-6 at the end of the first quarter and 38-6 at halftime. "They got us early with a couple of quick ones," acknowledged Red Lake County Central coach Gary Brand. "And in the second quarter, we had some turnovers and did a poor job of tackling."

It was 44-6 before Red Lake County Central finally came alive offensively in the fourth quarter on a 67-yard Scott Lorenson touchdown pass to Shannon Willett, along with a pair of short touchdown runs by Adam Lundeen and Brad Mosenstad.

It was the second straight setback for the Mustangs after a promising 3-0 start. "We're a little disappointed," admitted Brand. "We showed so much promise and played with so much intensity the first couple of games. We just haven't reached that level the last two weeks. We've taken steps backwards."

Red Lake County Central netted 169 yards on 47 rushing plays, with Willett getting 50 of those yards on 8 carries, while Lundeen picked up 45 yards on seven tries. Lorenson was 6 for 21 passing for 101 yards and two touchdowns, but he was also intercepted four times. Jacob Melby caught three passes for 27 yards, Willett caught two for 69 yards.

Defensively, Jacob Melby led the Mustangs with 8 tackles and 10 assists. Lunden, Shawn McMullen, Joe Lallier, and Ryan Wichterman also had their moments on defense, mentioned Brand.

Red Lake County Central has a tough assignment Friday when the Mustangs take on unbeaten North Tri-County Conference leader Clearbrook/Gonvick in a 7 p.m. game at Plummer.

Eagles rally knocks off Blue Devils

Goodridge/Grygla watched an early 14-0 lead disappear Friday afternoon in a 23-20 Top of the State Conference high school football loss to East Grand Forks Sacred Heart. The Blue Devils' 1992 homecoming game was played at Grygla.

Jason Grandstrand turned the Blue Devils' first play from scrimmage into a 28-yard touchdown run, and Scott Rindahl added a 3-yard scoring run for the 14-0 first quarter lead.

But Sacred Heart narrowed the gap to 14-12 at halftime on a 2-yard run by Luke Meyer and 1-yard run by Mark DeMers. And the Eagles' countered a 41-yard Grandstrand run with another 1-yard touchdown by DeMers that was followed by a Meyer two-point conversion to tie it 20-20 in the third quarter.

Winning points came on a 25-yard field goal by Meyer with about five minutes left in the game.

It was the second straight close setback for the defending Section 8 Nine-Man champion Blue Devils, who dropped a 21-20 decision at Argyle the week before.

"We had a good start, but we had times during the game where we seemed to let up," noted Goodridge/Grygla coach Darwin Hagen.

The Blue Devils' defense was hit by injuries to linebackers Aaron Miller and Ben Saurdiff, along with tackle Glen Limesand. "I don't want to make excuses," said Hagen, "but we had trouble stopping their running game after those kids got hurt. The rest of kids weren't able to pick it up and get the job done."

All the yards came on the ground as Goodridge/Grygla edged Sacred Heart 217-214 in total offense. Grandstrand netted 161 yards on 21 carries.

"It's a game we should have won," admitted Hagen. "Sacred Heart played a good football game. They played very consistent."

Prowlers meet Belcourt in homecoming contest

Only non-Section 8A team on the 1992 Thief River Falls football schedule – Belcourt, ND – will be the Lincoln High School homecoming opponent Friday. An earlier-than usual 6 p.m. kickoff is planned.

It'll be just the second home appearance of the year for the Prowlers, who played four of their first five games on the road. But they will finish the regular season with three home games – Belcourt Friday, followed by a Thursday, Oct. 15, match-up with Fergus Falls and a Wednesday, Oct. 21, contest with East Grand Forks.

Belcourt is winless, losing to Bismarck Century 53-0, Valley City 36-8, Williston 48-0 and Wahpeton 41-6 last week following a bye after the Williston game.

Week 5 results left defending champion Detroit Lakes as the lone unbeaten team in Section 8A as the Lakers shut out Fergus Falls 10-0 to go 5-0. It was the Otters' first loss.

Also tasting defeat for the first time was Central Lakes Conference leader Little Falls, beaten by Rocori 20-8, while Thief River Falls matched the Otters and Flyers at 4-1 with a 42-6 win over Park Rapids Area.

Elsewhere, East Grand Forks blanked Crookston 20-0, Wadena-Deer Creek lost to Crosby-Ironton 41-0, Staples Area fell to Aitkin 43-20, and Perham dropped a 21-20 decision to Agassiz Valley.

The Green Wave is just a step behind the Section 8A leaders at 3-1, while Park Rapids Area is 2-3, Crookston and Perham are both 1-4, while Staples Area and Wadena-Deer Creek each have an 0-5 mark.

Eight of the ten Section 8A teams will be involved in post-season play. A point system, awarding 120 points for a win over a Class AA team, 100 points for a victory over a Class A foe and 80 points for a decision over a Class B or Class C team, will determine the playoff match-ups.

It wasn't a pretty win, admitted Marshall County Central coach Mark Jorgenson, but it was nevertheless a victory Monday as the Nordics got by host Warroad 15-10, 16-18, 15-11, 15-11 in high school volleyball.

"They (Warroad) played really well," pointed out Jorgenson. "We hammered some balls at them, and they kept coming up with the ball. Defensively they really played us tough. We had a hard time finding any holes."

Sara Lokstad turned in a solid all-around performance and setter Jill Fosholm came up with 35 ace assists for the Nordics, reported Jorgenson.

Marshall County Central improved its record to 10-4 with the win. The Nordics host Goodridge/Grygla tonight (Tuesday) and will entertain Lake of the Woods Thursday.

Kittson County North.....3
Goodridge/Grygla...........1

What started out on a promising note turned into a frustrating loss Monday as Goodridge/Grygla dropped a 3-1 decision to Kittson County North at Lancaster.

The Cougars won 7-15, 15-8, 15-6, 15-6.

"First game, we put a bunch of serves together and played pretty well," said Goodridge/Grygla coach Tim Mostrom. "Then all of a sudden we quit serving and quit talking. We had a shot to win one and let it slip away. It was a little frustrating."

The loss dropped the Wolverines to 0-13 for the year.

Area residents compete in Twin Cities marathon

Janice Puttbrese of Thief River Falls said she was pleased with her [illegible] 4:08:33. Puttbrese said, however, that she should have pushed a little harder.

Anita Hendrickson of Thief River Falls finished her first marathon in 5:19:45. She couldn't be reached on Tuesday, but Clark Hendrickson, her husband, said she ran real strong until about mile 13. He saw her again at mile 21 and she looked pretty sore, but she didn't give up. She actually ran the last five miles faster than she ran the distance between mile 13 and mile 21, Clark said.

David Hill of Thief River Falls finished the race in 3:13:09, a personal record. Hill was pleased with the personal record, but felt he could have finished with a faster time. Hill had to pull over to the side of the road after about 17.5 miles because of a knee injury. He was running at about a 3-hour pace when he had to pull over.

"Everything went very, very smoothly," she said in a St. Paul Pioneer Press article. "We had a lot of spectators out on the course and the course was just beautiful. When you looked over the bridge down along the river and the leaves were turning, it was beautiful. It was a little hazy and cool, a very comfortable day for the run."

Among the unusual events in an unusual event, Barb Fletcher and Bob Dahl ran the first 19 miles of [illegible] was 2:45.

Top finishers of the race in the men's division were as follows: 1) David Mungai, Laramie, WY, 2:15:33; 2) Joseph Nzau, Laramie, WY, 2:16:12; 3) R. S. Pierce, Conifer, CO, 2:16:13.

Top finishers in the women's division were as follows: 1) Janis Klecker, Minnetonka, 2:36:50; 2) Tatiana Zueva, Tampa, FL, 2:38:41; 3) Gabrielle O'Rourke, New Zealand, 2:39:54.

The winners in the men's and women's open divisions each won $20,000. The men's and women's winners in the masters division each won $5,000. The men's and women's winners in the wheelchair division each won $750.

The winning time of 2:15:33 was the slowest winning time in the history of the race. Mungai is from Kenya but trains in Laramie, Wyoming.

The following is a list of all of the area runners, that The Times is aware of, who competed in the race. The runners are listed by name, time, age, hometown, overall place in the men's or women's division, and age group placing:

*David Hill, 3:13:09, 32, Thief River Falls, 631, 164;

Randy Cedergren, 3:27:20, 43, Lancaster, 1147, 204;

Ninth grade volleyball team hosts Crookston tonight in the Lincoln gym while the junior varsity and varsity are on the road at Moorhead. The ninth grade football team plays at home against Bemidji after school while the sophomore football team travels to Warroad.

Parade float decoration will also begin Tuesday evening from 6 to 10 p.m. in the Huck Olson Memorial Civic Center and continue Wednesday and Thursday evenings during the same hours. All four class floats will be built in the civic center.

On Thursday all Prowler teams in action will be away from home. The ninth grade football team and ninth grade volleyball team travel to Grand Forks, the junior varsity and varsity volleyball teams are at Warren, the girls swimming team at Moorhead and the cross country team at Warroad.

Homecoming is sponsored by the Lincoln high school student council.

Academy sets its marathon October 10th

Our Saviour's Christian Academy in Thief River Falls has set its annual clean-up marathon for Saturday, October 10, when students will clean ditches along highway 59 South and Sorteberg Drive.

National Marathon for Nonpublic Education is being observed October 3, but the academy has delayed its participation due to a conflict in schedule, according to Delores Kading, principal.

October 4-10 is Public Power week in Minnesota

Gov. Arne Carlson has proclaimed October 4-10 as Public Power week in Minnesota. Public power refers to the 132 municipally-owned electric and gas utilities in Minnesota.

The first municipal electric utility in Minnesota began operating in Ada in 1876. A number of other municipals in the state have celebrated their centennials, and three others join that group this year — Ely, Luverne and Brainerd.

Municipal utilities are the only utilities in the state subject to the open meeting law, the data practices act, the public bidding law, and other provisions designed to ensure citizen control. These public power utilities are also trendsetters in such areas as energy conservation and alternative energy sources.

This claim is backed up by a state Department of Public Service report issued February 14, 1992. This report, based on data pertaining to the state conservation improvement program law, shows municipals with the highest percentages of spending on conservation projects. State law requires up to one per cent of gross annual revenues be spent on conservation by 1995; the highest municipal investment in conservation in 1992 was 33.99 per cent by Janesville Municipal Utilities.

Municipals, such as Marshall Municipal Utilities, have led the way in such notable alternative energy projects as the Minnesota Windpower windfarm in Marshall. This is the largest commercial windfarm between California and Denmark.

The competition provided by these municipal utilities helps keep rates down for all electric consumers. Among the benefits of municipal power are:

- Efficient, reliable service,
- Local control of an essential service,
- Commitment to conservation and the environment,
- Lower rates, on average,
- Economic development
- Competition.

The benefits of public power are known throughout America. More than 35 million Americans in every state but Hawaii receive electricity from the more than 2,000 non-profit, community-owned public power utilities. Across the nation, 13.6 per cent of all electric customers are served by these utilities. Many of these utilities have celebrations planned during Public Power week.

October "Child Health" month

Governor Arne Carlson designated October as Child Health Month in Minnesota.

Public health officials will use the event to highlight the importance of immunizing young children against disease.

The Minnesota Department of Health developed a plan outlining strategies for immunizing children against common vaccine-preventable diseases.

The goal is to start immunizing children during infancy and make sure they stay on schedule, so at least 90 per cent of all children are immunized at the recommended age for each particular type of vaccine.

State Health Commissioner Marlene Marschall said most children in Minnesota are adequately protected by the time they enter kindergarten. "Unfortunately, we haven't been as successful at protecting all of our younger children, or at immunizing them against the whole range of vaccine preventable diseases."

Surveys show that immunization rates among Minnesota preschoolers can vary widely depending on where a child lives, and which diseases the child is protected against.

For example, only 67 per cent of children born in 1986 living in Minneapolis or St. Paul were immunized against measles, mumps and rubella by age two.

In Twin Cities suburbs, over 87 per cent of children born in 1986 were immunized against those diseases by age two. Statewide the figure was 83 per cent.

Low immunization levels represent a potential health threat. Minnesota experienced a major measles

Like a huge plow this piece of equipment, which is used to bury power cables, was dragged across the Thief Lake River at the Golf course in Thief River Falls last Thursday. Construction of an additional nine holes is underway at the golf course and part of the plans called for power cables to be buried underground. North-Holt Electric of East Grand Forks performed the work.

Historical society holds meeting

The Marshall County Historical Society holds its annual meeting Thursday, October 15 at 7:30 p.m. at Settler's Square in Warren. County residents are invited to attend.

MCHS closed for the winter season on September 30.

Visitors this summer came from 29 states, Washington, D.C., five Canadian provinces, England, Zaire, Ecuador and Sweden.

The society received memorials from Neil and Marilyn Mattson in memory of Russell Flaten, Medard Yutrzenka, Anna Ahlm, Lowell Knutson, Hazel Hurst, Harold Bustrack, Lydia Swanson and Imogene Mattson Nuoci; the Ted Voytilla family in memory of Mabel Voytilla, Sandra Bucche Batzli in memory of Gudrun Idstrup Fitch and Linda Donnelly in memory of K.J. BIBLE STUDY

What is the reward of the righteous?

After you read through this Bible study, go back and look up the Scriptures and highlight them in your Bible.

If all the rewards for being righteous were known, we would have many more people who would want to be disciples of Jesus Christ. "Who is the Almighty that we should serve Him?" (Job 21:15). What would we gain if we did? Is there any pleasure to the Almighty if you are righteous, or profit if you make your ways perfect (Job 22:3; Matt. 5:48)? You bet there is! The following are just a few examples.

1. God hears your prayers and delivers you from trouble (Psalm 34:17, James 5:16, Prov. 11:8).
2. The Lord will not allow the righteous to hunger in times of famine (Prov. 10:3).
3. You will be delivered from death (Prov. 11:4).
4. You will be rewarded with prosperity (Prov. 13:21).
5. You will be protected from harm (Prov. 12:21).
6. You are guaranteed answered prayer (Prov. 15:29, John 9:31).
7. You will be protected from a whole list of woes (Job 5:20-27).
8. God will save you from sickness (James 5:14; Psalm 41:3).

The list goes on and on, but how can we be righteous in God's eyes (Psalm 145:17-18)? The word of God says those who practice righteousness for God are righteous, even as God is righteous (1 John 3:7). It also says those who practice righteousness are truly born of Him (1 John 2:29). The righteous give and do not hold back (Prov. 21:26, Luke 6:38, Acts 20:35, Matt. 6:2). The righteous are concerned for the poor (Prov. 29:7).

Compare Ezekiel 18:14, 16, 17, Job 29:12-16, and Job 31:16-23 with Matthew 25:35-36. God never changes. Compare Job 22:7 with Matthew 25:42-43.

Yes, there is a Way of righteousness (Matt. 21:32). It's the Way all who love God live. We prove our love for God by the way we live (John 15:8). Now is the time to live like God by living for God, as Jesus Christ did, showing us His pure and simple Way (Eph. 5:1, John 6:38; 2 Cor. 11:3).

Norman Johnson

Johnson named to fifth term on housing board

Norman Johnson of St. Hilaire has been appointed to his fifth consecutive five-year term on the Northwest Minnesota Multi County Housing and Redevelopment board by the Pennington county board of commissioners.

Johnson assisted in organizing the housing authority to eventually include seven counties—the first such multi-county authority in the United States. He has been instrumental in providing for the housing needs of moderate and low income elderly and families over the 20 years since his first appointment in September of 1972.

outbreak in 1990, centered primarily in St. Paul and other parts of the Twin City area, with 462 cases and three deaths reported statewide. Only 29 per cent of those who became ill and were old enough to be vaccinated had been properly immunized.

The health department recommends that parents should bring their children to a doctor or clinic whenever they need vaccinations.

Parents should also keep an immunization record card for each child and have the record card updated at each doctor or clinic visit.

If parents have questions about what immunizations their child needs, they should talk to their doctor or health department. They can get a convenient wallet-sized record card by calling MDH at (612) 623-5237.

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK
OCTOBER 4-10, 1992

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK WAS INSPIRED BY ONE OF THE WORST FIRES IN THE NATION'S HISTORY! THE GREAT CHICAGO FIRE OF 1871, WHICH TOOK 250 LIVES AND DESTROYED 17,430 BUILDINGS.

Place Detectors Properly

[illegible]

In homes with stairways that have no doors at the top or bottom, position smoke detectors anywhere in the path that smoke would follow moving up the stairs. If there is a door at the top of the stairway, as with most stairways leading to basements, position smoke detectors at the bottom of the stairway. If a detector is placed at the top of such a stairway, dead air trapped near the door could prevent smoke from reaching the detector.

Keep detectors away from windows, doors, or forced-air registers where drafts could interfere with the detector's operation.

Follow Installation Instructions

Most battery-powered and plug-in detectors can be installed with just a drill and a screwdriver following the manufacturer's installation instructions. Plug-in detectors must have restraining devices so that their plugs cannot be accidentally pulled from their outlets. Detectors can also be hard-wired into the electrical system. But never connect a detector to a circuit that can be turned off at a wall switch.

Test Your Detector!

[illegible] What better present can you give your family than the protection of a fully functioning smoke detector!

Please: Never disable your smoke detector by "borrowing" its batteries for other uses. A moment's convenience is not worth losing the life-saving protection of your smoke detector.

Clean your smoke detectors according to manufacturer's instructions. Dust and cobwebs can reduce their sensitivity to smoke. Never paint a smoke detector; the paint could prevent smoke from reaching the sensor.

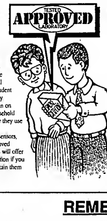
Be Ready When the Alarm Sounds!

Smoke detectors give you precious time to escape from a fire. To make the best use of their warning, you need to develop and practice an escape plan with your entire family. See the last page of this flyer for details on how you can plan and practice to escape.

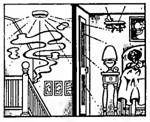
Smoke Detectors:

Get All the Protection You Need!

Look for the "Laboratory-Approved" Label



When you shop for smoke detectors in your local hardware, department, or discount store, be sure that the smoke detectors you buy bear the label of approval from an independent testing laboratory. Whether they run on batteries or household current, whether they use "ionization" or "photoelectric" sensors, laboratory-approved smoke detectors will offer adequate protection if you install and maintain them properly.



How Many Does Your Home Need?

According to the Standard on Household Fire Warning Equipment (NFPA 74), minimum protection requires a smoke detector outside each sleeping area and on every level of the home, including the basement. On floors without bedrooms, detectors should be installed in or near living areas such as dens, living rooms, or family rooms.

For extra protection, NFPA suggests installing smoke detectors in dining rooms, furnace rooms, utility rooms, and hallways, but not in kitchens, bathrooms, garages, or unheated spaces, because cooking fumes, steam or exhaust can affect detection.

Can everyone in your home hear your smoke detector alarms, even with bedroom doors closed? If not, or if any residents are hearing-impaired, install additional detectors inside bedrooms. For the hearing-impaired, you can buy special smoke detectors which are wired to a high-intensity strobe.

REMEMBER

IF THERE IS A FIRE, GET OUT IMMEDIATELY AND CALL 911 FROM A NEIGHBOR'S PHONE. ASK YOUR FIRE DEPARTMENT FOR INFORMATION AND HELP WITH FIRE SAFETY IN THE HOME.

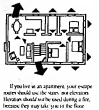
Plan and Practice to Escape

The smoke detector is your first line of defense, to wake you up in time to escape. In case a fire does start, everyone in your home should have an escape plan because escape may not be as easy as walking out the door. The following four steps will help you develop an escape plan.

1 Plan Two Ways Out

Plan at least two exits from every room of your home, especially bedrooms. The more escape routes you have, the better. Draw a diagram of your home, showing every door and every window.

Walk through each of your escape routes to see that everyone in your family can unlock all locks and open all windows and doors quickly — even in the dark. If you must escape from a second story window, be sure you have a safe way to reach the ground.



If you live in an apartment, your escape routes should use the stairs, not elevators. Elevators should not be used during a fire, because they may take you to the floor where the fire is burning.

Make special arrangements for small children and people with disabilities.

2 Agree on a Meeting Place Outside

Agree on one place outside where all the members of your family will meet after escaping. Ideally, this should be in front of your home, where the fire department will arrive. Make sure everyone knows they should never go back into the building. Once you are out, stay out, no matter what! Have someone call the fire department from a neighbor's phone.

3 Practice Your Escape

Every time you and your family have a fire drill, you increase the likelihood that you will react correctly in a real fire. Practice your escape routes at least once every six months. Appoint someone as the monitor to sound the alarm and make sure everyone practices all escape routes.

The majority of fatal fires occur when people are sleeping. So to start the drill, have each person go to his or her bedroom, close the door and wait for the monitor to sound the alarm.

Make your exit drill as realistic as possible. Practice both escape routes. Pretend that certain exits are blocked by fire, that there are no lights, and that the hallways are filling with smoke.

4 Prepare for the Unexpected

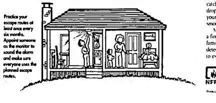
In a real fire, flames and smoke may block your escape. Both heat and smoke are deadly dangers.

Test Every Door Before Opening. Kneel or crouch at the door, reach high, and put the back of your hand against the door, the doorknob, and the crack between the door and the door frame. If the door is hot, do not open it. Use your second way out instead. Even if the door is cool, open it slowly, ready to slam it shut if heat and smoke come in.

Crawl Low Under Smoke. Smoke contains deadly gases. Should you encounter smoke, use another way out if at all possible. If your only way out is through smoke, get down on your hands and knees and crawl quickly to the exit. Because smoke is hot, it will fill the room from the top down, and the best air will be several inches off the floor.

Stop, Drop, and Roll. If your clothes catch fire, do not run. Stop where you are, drop to the ground, cover your face with your hands, and roll over and over to smother the flames.

Many fires can be prevented. But in case a fire does break out, make sure your family will be awakened by smoke detectors and that they have practiced how to escape.



Practice your escape routes at least once every six months. Appoint someone as the monitor to sound the alarm and make sure everyone uses the planned escape routes.

Differing Viewpoints On Columbus Day

Five hundred years after his arrival on the coast of North America, Christopher Columbus is being portrayed by some as a villain instead of a hero. These people would like to have the national observance of Columbus Day (October 12), established in 1934, repealed.

Writing in the "At Issue" column of the Minnesota Education Association's "Advocate" publication, Linda Krug, an assistant professor of communication at the University of Minnesota—Duluth, gives her views on why she believes we should no longer continue to celebrate Columbus Day.

She notes that the day was declared by President Franklin Roosevelt as the nation struggled to recover from the 1929 stock market crash.

"While Columbus Day may have soothed our agitated economic souls," she writes, "I believe it sent two very wrong messages to the people of this nation. By holding up Columbus as a symbol of the American spirit, we gave ourselves permission to (1) set national policies according to the bottom line and (2) to be intolerant of other cultures.

"According to all I have read, Columbus' voyages to the New World opened the floodgates of commercialism, materialism and market domination—values that our modern-day America holds so dear. It is no secret that in this country we celebrate and defend those things that affect the profit margin. Consider that Martin Luther King Day—a day set aside for a civil rights visionary—is still not official in all 50 states....

"...Perhaps more significantly," Krug continues, "celebrating Columbus Day does nothing to help a country struggling with issues of racism and diversity. Columbus may have been gutsy in challenging the oceans, but he was narrow-minded when it came to the natives be encountered. He writes in his voyage logs that the natives 'are a very gently, but inferior people.' He is shocked to find out that their habits differ significantly from his and notes that they have 'no clothes, no arms, no possessions, no iron, no religion and no speech.'

"As a result, Columbus concludes that these people will make good servants. 'These natives are fit to be ordered about and made to work, to sow and do everything else that may be needed.' Thus, besides giving us an obsession with gold and possessions, Columbus endowed us with a hefty dose of European xenophobia—fear of other cultures."

Morton A. Kaplan, editor and publisher of "The World & I," a publication of the Washington Times Corporation, has a differing viewpoint. "We celebrate Columbus as the discoverer of America because his voyages, and discovery, led to the waves of immigration that produced the United States of America," Kaplan writes

"The claim is also made that Columbus had faults. And so it is argued that if we want to celebrate his discovery, we must apologize for his faults. But King David, Charlemagne, Winston Churchill and Isaac Newton also had faults. Even Albert Einstein can be attacked for unlocking the key to nuclear weapons. No one in his right mind, however, would deny their greatness or the propriety of celebrating their contributions to mankind.

"Columbus, apart from his individual faults, was a child of his time, not a prescient saint, who could anticipate the values of posterity. He was certainly not the Tojo, let alone Hitler or Stalin of the fifteenth century. Nor were the Indians of the New World saints," Kaplan continues.

"When we celebrate Martin Luther King Day we celebrate his leadership of the civil rights movement, not his marital infidelities. When we celebrate Abraham Lincoln, we celebrate his preservation of the union and the Emancipation Proclamation, not his suspension of habeas corpus.

"Americans have a special reason for pride related to Columbus' discovery. What intelligent and moral person would want to live in a world in which the New World had never been settled by Europeans?....One can recognize and deeply regret that avoidable crimes were committed against the Indians—even that severe damage to Indian life was inevitable if the United States was to emerge—without denigrating the great importance to the world of this nation."

Krug says that "Columbus Day is an insult to an enlightened nation....So this year, on October 12, let's do something for diversity and morality: let's teach our students not only about Christopher Columbus, but about the consequences of his voyage. And then, let's work to get that holiday repealed."

"Columbus made a discovery that led to a world in which the United States was possible," Kaplan counters. "Of course, he did not anticipate this. We do not celebrate Columbus the man on Columbus Day. We celebrate the nation that emerged from his discovery....Any effort to devalue the symbolism of Columbus' discovery constitutes an attack on the glue that holds us together as a nation and on the elan that supports our values. Hooray for Columbus!"

Most Americans, we believe, have a considerably less emphatic viewpoint on observance of the Columbus Day holiday. Most young students have a private view of Columbus as an adventurer and they see sailing ships instead of political or economic ramifications. Older students may be more attuned to their teachers' interpretations of what is good or bad about the evolvement of America from the day of Columbus' discovery.

We tend to think that rather than abolish the holiday we should emphasize the positive without ignoring the negative. Too often Americans have been willing lately to look for the black cloud instead of the silver lining.

To The Editor:

Supporters of abortion "rights" just won't quit.

We have all heard of the "Freedom of Choice Act" or FOCA. They are working very hard to get a bill passed that would have no restrictions whatsoever—abortion any time during the whole nine months of pregnancy, no exceptions on time, no exceptions on waiting periods, no parental notification (a girl can't get her ears pierced without parental consent).

They even attached a bill that bars administration from imposing the "gag rule" on abortion counseling at federally funded clinics to bills like disaster aid, appropriation bill for unemployment and veterans' benefits and bans on non-union construction workers from construction projects.

So you see they try to slip this in under the table any way they can. Congress can bring this up for a vote any time.

We must see to it that we are informed voters and make sure we have senators and congressmen in our government who have strong values for life and protect the unborn.

A person on a talk show was asked if she would have an abortion if she knew the baby had a hearing problem and the person said "yes." She was told "you just killed Bach." There you have it, no restrictions whatsoever. We must stop this holocaust of innocent life.

Please join us at Prolife and give the babies a choice—let's pass laws of respect for life. Life is detected 12-18 days after conception—let's respect life!

Sincerely,
Dorothy Pederson

"Let us try a change. Ever since the state of Minnesota was organized the Republican party has been in charge. All bad laws, all failures to pass good laws and all the outrages that capitol has imposed on the people can honestly be charges to the Republican party. Let us have a change. Let us elect Donnelly governor. He certainly cannot make matters any worse for the farmer, and it is certain that the railroads, elevators and national banks are not subscribing to his campaign fund, which cannot be truthfully said of some other candidates. We say again, let us try a change."

Railroad News

"The steel was laid to Thief River Falls last Saturday and the entire crew are now surfacing and ballasting the track. It is thought that they will be done in about ten days after which the railroad company will inspect the work and, if acceptable, commence running regular trains."

To Whom It May Concern:

Notice is hereby given that the City Council of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, will meet at 7:00 p.m. on October 13, 1992, in the basement meeting room at the City Auditorium to pass upon the proposed assessment for the 1992 Street and Sidewalk Improvement Project, Project No. 25792.00, against properties outlined on Exhibit A and A-1.

The proposed assessment roll is on file for public inspection at the City Clerk's Office. The total amount of the proposed assessment is $148,779.60. Written or oral objections will be considered at the meeting. However, no appeal may be taken as to the amount of an assessment unless a signed, written objection is filed with the City Clerk prior to the hearing or presented to the presiding officer at the hearing. The Council may upon such notice consider any objection to the amount of a proposed individual assessment at an adjourned meeting upon such further notice to the affected property owners as it deems advisable.

If an assessment is contested or there is an adjourned hearing, the following procedure will be followed:

1. The City will present its case first by calling witnesses who may testify by narrative or by examination, and by the introduction of exhibits. After each witness has testified, the contesting party will be allowed to ask questions. This procedure will be repeated with each witness until neither side has further questions.

2. After the City has presented all its evidence, the objector may call witnesses or present such testimony as the objector desires. The same procedure for questioning of the City's witnesses will be followed with the objector's witnesses.

3. The objector may be represented by counsel.

4. Minnesota rules of evidence will not be strictly applied, however, they may be considered and argued to the Council as to the weight of items of evidence or testimony presented to the Council.

5. The entire proceedings will be tape recorded.

6. At the close of presentation of evidence, the objector may make a final presentation to the Council based on the evidence and the law. No new evidence may be presented at this point.

An owner may appeal an assessment to District Court pursuant to Minnesota Statutes Section 429.081 by serving notice of the appeal upon the Mayor or Clerk of the City within 30 days after the adoption of the assessment and filing such notice with the District Court within ten days after service upon the Mayor or Clerk. The City has not adopted any deferment ordinance or resolution.

FDA warns of Halloween make-up use

The Food and Drug Administration provides tips to consumers on how to get the best use from Halloween makeup kits and to reduce the risks of children suffering skin or eye irritation or some other adverse effect.

In years past FDA has received a number of complaints of adverse effects from the use of Halloween makeup kits.

FDA advises parents to carefully supervise their children's use of Halloween makeup kits and especially follow label directions in applying and removing the makeup.

Halloween makeup kits contain items such as waxy sticks of makeup, small tins of greasepaint or appliques such as beards and mustaches to be applied with adhesives.

Many kits warn against their use by children under certain ages. The reason for these warnings is that children's skin is more sensitive than adults'.

FDA recommends that consumers be especially conscientious about following label directions for removal of makeup. Some makeup should be removed with cold cream, others with soap and water. Use of the proper agent can reduce the potential for skin irritation. Makeup should never be removed with a dry cloth or paper towel since this can cause harmful irritation.

It is especially important to take care in applying makeup around the eyes. Some kits contain ingredients that are not safe for use in this sensitive area.

Some ingredients in kits contain spirit gum adhesive, which is flammable. Care should be taken to keep the kit away from an open flame. Spray on hair colors from aerosol containers are also flammable and should not be used near fire or flame. Cover the child's face to avoid spraying in the eyes.

Some kits may be marked "FDA Approved" or "FDA Tested." FDA cautions that it does not authorize such statements, and does not approve any individual kits. The agency's legal authority over cosmetics is restricted to taking action against those products that are harmful.

If a child suffers an adverse effect requiring the attention of a physician, the parent should bring along the kit to help the physician identify the ingredient that caused the reaction. All cosmetics are required by FDA to list ingredients.

FDA urges consumers who suffer adverse reactions to report their experience to the manufacturer as well as to FDA. Name and address of the manufacturer can be found on the label along with any warnings or cautions that should be observed in using the product. Complaints can be filed with the FDA Complaint Coordinator at 240 Hennepin Avenue, Minneapolis, MN 55401. For further information, please contact Consumer Affairs at the address above.

National Guard's open house Sun.

Displays, demonstrations and activities will be involved when Company B of the 2nd Battalion, 136th Infantry, conducts an open house Sunday, October 18, from 12 noon to 4 p.m. at the National Guard Armory in Thief River Falls.

The public is invited to attend the open house, view equipment on display, watch demonstrations and participate in some of the activities. Refreshments will be served throughout the day.

"This will be an excellent opportunity for people to see what the Minnesota Army National Guard has to offer," states Capt. Richard L. Westlund, commanding officer of the unit.

"Numerous weapons, vehicles and other items of equipment will be on display. There will also be many events for those interested to either participate in or simply observe.

"The role of the National Guard in the national defense pictured is not at all like it has been in the past," he added. "As citizen soldiers, we are now counted on to play a major role in the defense of this country.

"The Thief River Falls Guard unit has members from not only Thief River Falls but many other towns around the area. We are interested in creating a greater awareness of the National Guard among the general public and this open house is a part of that effort."

Weapons to be on display range from the 9mm pistol used as a personal weapon by some personnel to the 50 caliber machine gun and anti-tank weapons.

Newest addition to the mechanized unit, the Bradley Fighting Vehicle, will be on display. Also to be shown will be night vision equipment, communications equipment set up for demonstration use and chemical defense equipment.

Rides will be given on tactical vehicles and a compass course will be available for those wanting to try their hand at going through. There will also be demonstrations of an assault squad exercise.

Dorn explores Russian business opportunities

by David Hill
Associate Editor

One phone call for Thief River Falls resident, Tony Dorn Jr., began an amazing adventure to a community half way around the world.

"We really had no idea what to expect," said Dorn.

Dorn was one of four men to make the trip to Ishim, Russia between September 9 and 24. His other companions included Bob Wood of Grand Forks, who is a county commissioner and real estate agent for Greenburg Realty, Buzz Marvin of Marvin Windows and Doors in Warroad, and Rob Vollrath, an insurance broker in Grand Forks.

Dorn said for him the trip began with a 10 p.m. phone call on the closing night of the Summer Olympics. The city council of Grand Forks was on the phone with representatives of the city council in Ishim, its sister city, a city of between 65,000 and 70,000 located about 1,500 miles east of Moscow. There has been three cultural exchanges between the communities. The phone call that night resulted in a quickly put together business trip.

The purpose of the trip was to learn more about how to do business in Russia and about the business opportunities that might exist. But Dorn said they had no idea what to expect. At one meeting they had a real unexpected in-depth discussion about privatization with a packed room. They learned during that discussion that Russians had no concept of hourly wages, insurance and profit sharing — all things taken for granted as part of doing business in the United States, he said.

Dorn said the Russians pay their employees by the month. The average monthly salary, by the way, is the equivalent of $13. In defense of that, Dorn said, their cost of liv-

Construction ends, Highway 32 open

Construction barriers on Highway 32 through Thief River Falls should be down by the end of the working day on Tuesday.

Bernie Stinson, Minnesota Department of Transportation, said the highway should be open by noon on Tuesday. Because of another week of good weather the construction crews were able to put down the final wearing course on the north end of the project. It was anticipated that the final wearing course would be part of the project that would have to be carried over to the next construction season.

Centerline crews have been putting down striping and by Wednesday around 5 or 6 p.m. the signal lights on First, Second and Third street should be operational.

What's left and will be carried over to the next construction season will be some landscaping and a few sidewalk connections. Plans had called for major construction to be extended into the next construction season, but much to the surprise of just about everyone, the crews completed the majority of the project in one construction season.

Even though the streets are open, residents and visitors to Thief River Falls are urged to use caution when driving on Highway 32 in downtown Thief River Falls. There will be construction crews still on
